CAROLINIAN Messenger Injured In Bike Mishap

RALEIGH — Samuel T. (Burky) Gibson, Jr., 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Gibson of 112 E. Martin St., and messenger attached to the Raleigh offices of THE CAROLINIAN, suffered painful but not serious injuries here Wednesday afternoon when his bicycle crashed into the rear of an automobile driven by an unidentified person in the vicinity of the local Union Bus Terminal.

Young Gibson, on a mission for THE CAROLINIAN, was thrown from his bicycle following the impact, and sustained superficial bruises, temporary dislocation of a shoulder and was held for observation overnight at the local Saint Agnes Hospital previous to X-ray examination.

IS TRUE "NEWSMAN"? Knocked unconscious in the accident, the youth was rushed to the hospital and immediately regained consciousness, showed his overwhelming interest in THE CAROLINIAN at the bedside what had happened at the scene and what had happened to engraving plates he was delivering for the paper.

WASHINGTON, MAY 19.—The Nation has not yet solved the problem of a public school system which is "consistent with basic democratic principles," a Maryland educator said yesterday.

Virgil A. Clift, head of the department of education of Morgan State College asserted that Americans don't seem ready "to give our public schools an opportunity to propagandize for democratic actions and practices."

He spoke at a conference on the integration of the Negro in American society sponsored by the division of social sciences of Howard University.

A full school system, Clift said, "by its very nature condones and practices segregation, discrimination, injustices and inequality, which certainly conflicts with democratic principles."

INDIANS First Baseman Easter now hitting a husky .423 Outfielder Larry Doby, whose .326 led all Cleveland hitters last season, made him fourth ranking batter in the league. Rookie Simpson who last year led the Pacific Coast League in runs batted in (1966), in total bases (493) and ranked top 33 home runs for the San Diego Padres.

WHITE SOX Outfielder Orestes Minozo, who was traded by Cleveland last week in the year's biggest baseball shuffle, became the first Negro to play on a Chicago major league team. As a team mate of Simpson's last season, Minozo batted .329, hit 20 home runs, and is currently hitting .333.

RAVERS Outfielder Sam Jethroe (Time, March 26, 1950) the National League's "Cookie-of-the-Year" and leading base stealer (.55), Rookie Luis Marquez, 25, Puerto Rican-born outfielder who hit .311 for Portland last year, led the Pacific Coast League in stolen bases (30).

Baseball's color line is still firmly unbroken in the major leagues' Southernmost cities (Washington, Miami).

However, he added, "measured by the distance which it still has to go, integration of the Negro in higher education in the South has made little progress."
