Refuse Charge That Minister Is "Love-Thief"

TO ENTER UNC NEXT TERM
—These four North Carolina College Law School students were plaintiffs in a case that sought to obtain admission of the quarter to the University of North Carolina's Law School. The NCC students charged they were refused admission to UNC because of their race. They argued further that NCC's 10-year-old Law School was inferior to 80-year-old Chapel Hill institution. After losing initial action in Middle District Federal Court last Fall, the four won an appeal in the Circuit Court in Richmond, Va., on March 15. The State of North Carolina appealed to the US Supreme Court refused to review the State's petition. Action is expected to be set in motion to admit the Negro students to the all-white UNC Law School.

100-Bed Capacity Future Proposal For 'St. Agnes'

RALEIGH—A new, modern hospital facility is projected for Wake County citizens instead of antiquated, overcrowded Saint Agnes Hospital in view of a proposal this week that a bond issue be voted to finance expansions of both the Saint Agnes facility and the Rex Hospital here.

boards petitioned the Wake County Board of Commissioners and received endorsement in a July meeting. The Wake Board is expected to formally approve the issue and list mechanics of the actual vote which is scheduled to be held in mid or late August.

COST TO BE SHARED
According to the hospital boards, a cost of some $3,450,000 is to be encountered in improvement plans for the two hospitals. Of that amount, the county will be asked to provide $2,000,000 and the Federal government the balance.

For Saint Agnes improvements, the Federal Medical Care Commission would supply $807,200 of the needed funds and Wake County citizens, through the bond issue, would bear $772,800 of the costs.

NEED IS GREAT
The trustee groups of both hospitals admit that the need of improvement is great at both sites. (Continued on page 8)

HEMORRHAGE OF LUNGS WAS DEATH CAUSE

GREENSBORO, N. C.—(Special to THE CAROLINIAN Newspapers)—What seemed a case of death inflicted by the consumption of "dope" or some other form of narcotics boomeranged on police and Federal Bureau of Investigation officials when after an autopsy over the A & T. College student believed a "needle victim" it was found that the kid was victim instead of a hemorrhage of the lungs.

The youth died in L. Richard Memorial Hospital here Saturday, June 2, suffering from an attack which seized him in an East Market Street grill before he was taken to the clinic.

SAID HE HAD A NEEDLE
According to officers who came to the scene of the mysterious internal attack, the college youth, name yet unascertained, was quoted as saying, "I have had a needle."

This was the statement which caused both police and FBI probes to believe the boy was a victim of "dope," since the Greensboro and Fayetteville areas are legion in (Continued on page 8)

TOT RESCUED AFTER FALLING INTO DEEP WELL

LOUISBURG — A 17-month-old child was pulled to safety Saturday an hour after he toppled into an uncovered, abandoned well.

Neal Archie Brown, a member of the Youngsville Fire Department, rescued the child, James Thomas Fowler, after working his way through eight to 10 feet of brush in the well.

Firemen said the brush apparently kept the child from dropping to the bottom of the 35-foot well which contained no water. The child suffered minor hurts. The accident occurred near Youngsville in southwestern Franklin County.

High Courts Say Education Unequal — Decry System

CHARLESTON, S. C.—(ANP)—A three-member Federal court, Memorial Day, completed hearings on an NAACP suit demanding the end of segregated schools for Negroes and whites in the south.

They took the case under advisement, but did not indicate when they would make their decision. Both sides in the case hinted they would appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

ASK END OF SCHOOL BIAS
Specifically, the suit technically involves parents of 67 school children in Clarendon county of South Carolina and the county school board and trustees. The Negroes are asking for the end of jimcrow schools on the basis that no separate school can be equal. This is a direct attack on the "separate but equal" doctrine expressed by most southern states in relation to educational facilities.

SIX-POINT CONCLUSION
After three days of hearings, these points were brought out:

1. The plaintiffs believe the mere act of segregation psychologically produces a feeling of inferiority into Negro children.
2. The plaintiffs feel that the state of South Carolina and Clarendon county are not sincerely intent to establish "equal" schools for Negroes.
3. The plaintiffs want segregation ended immediately. (Continued on page 8)

Pastor, Ex-Wife Of Barber Deny Improper Acts

WINSTON-SALEM—A Forsyth County Superior Court jury Tuesday June 5, refuse to brand the Rev. E. M. Pitts, pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church, a love-thief.

The minister was defendant in a $15,000 alienation of affection suit brought by Johnnie C. Gladden, operator of local barber shop, who charged that Pitts had stole the love of Gladden's wife, Sallie.

REFUSE CHARGES
Gladden further charged that the Rev. Pitts and the former's wife engaged in illicit sexual relations and asked damages totaling $15,000.

It was brought out during two days of testimony that Mrs. Gladden, the mother of a grown daughter and an office employee at the Fourteenth Street School, was formerly clerk of the church and secretary to the pastor.

SERIOUS CHARGES MADE
Gladden charged that the Rev. Pitts, a married man and the father of six children, showed considerable interest in his wife during 1949 and 1950, a period during which the woman, the barber said, grew cold toward her husband.

The Rev. Pitts it was alleged (Continued on page 8)

DR. RALPH J. BUNCHE TIMELY IN THRUST AGAINST RACE HATE

Internationally ranked as one of the world's foremost statesmen, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche is a Christian way, not by ballots or bullets... the world-significant Palestinian dispute.

It is timely to devote some space and attention to the quality of statesman Dr. Bunche happens to be. He has proved to be the No. 1 diplomat to emerge from the leadership ranks of the United Nations.

He is one of the few Negroes who ever was recognized universally for statesmanship. He is one of the coveted Spingarn Medal and the Nobel Peace Prize as a living symbol of the ideal of lasting world peace.

While A-Bomb talk was global propaganda and bombs were falling all over the universe and combat planes were speeding across the sky-lines... while the military world was in an abyssal war of chaos and disunity... Dr. Bunche, behind the scenes, was concocting Christian, lawful, and peaceful ways of attaining the same type of objective that the key capitalist, imperialistic, and colonialistic militarists were trying to settle with bombs and bullets.

There is more stress today on war... mass murder... than on longevity of world civilization itself. The trend of global warfare in recent years reveals clearly that if war hysteria continues to keep its same velocity... or gains more momentum... we will soon be in World War III and that—like what happened when World War I and World War II were technically ended—may be the motivated build up for World War IV.

Dr. Bunche made the challenge, in the commencement address at A. and T. College, Greensboro, Monday, May 28, that unless the people of the world (Continued on page 8)

North Carolina U. Must Accept Negro Qualified Students

GREENSBORO, N. C.—(SPECIAL)—A petition which sought to effect a review of the case of the University of North Carolina and our colored law school students was denied by the United States Supreme Court Monday, June 4.

Major L. P. McLendon, a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina and one of the legal representatives of the State in the case, received the notification of the result of the case and his remark, after receiving the copy of the decision, was "The University has no further recourse, the case now comes back to Judge Johnson Hayes, and he'll have to enter an order directing the University to open its doors to the colored law students seeking admission into the State institution of higher learning, providing these colored youths meet the regular requirements for admission."

The Supreme Court denied the writ of certiorari filed by William D. Carmichael, Jr., former acting president of the University, against Floyd B. McKissick, Solicitor General, James Lassiter, and J. Kenneth Lee.

These four youths are presently studying in the North Carolina College Law School in Durham. The entire four, all residents of Durham, seek to transfer to the University of North Carolina Law School in Chapel Hill.
