Sarah Virgo's PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK

W. L. GREENE

EDITORS NOTE: James H. Boykins of the Carolinian staff this week pinch-hits for Miss Virgo interviewing our "Personality". Mixed marriage is the key to the solution of the so-called racial question in the United States. W. L. Greene, executive secretary of the North Carolina Teachers Association and second February Personality of the Week, told The CAROLINIAN last week.

He said that in 29 states there are laws dealing with human relations, which are contrary to the provisions of the United States Constitution, and in different degrees all of these laws have the import of declaring Afro-Americans to be second class citizens.

MARRIAGE RESTRICTION SETS PACE

Quoting the Constitution of the United States, specifically Article IV, Section 2, he explained: "The citizens of each state shall be entitled to ALL privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states" and added that the laws of 29 states prohibit other American from marrying Afro-Americans, and this sets the base for a prejudicial attitude against these citizens throughout the nation.

"I predict," he said in a carefully-worded statement, "that we will not get rid of segregation as an American principle and practice as long as we keep these laws."

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION DOOMED

When Aycock and Joyner weeded the first sizeable appropriation from a North Carolina legislature for so-called Negro education Mr. Green explained they gave the Legislature the assurance that the money would be used to compete with and freeze out the missionary schools which were teaching Negroes to aspire to equality and replaces them with schools and teachers who would teach them to keep their places. Familiarity with this background would leave little cause for wonder about the acquittal of Newton Harris in Craven county, denial of the ballot to Negroes on mass in plantation areas, and light jail sentences for confessed rapists in any county. Until by education the legal status of the Afro-American is changed from that of a second class to a potential first class citizen it is vain to hope for a generally better situation.

NATIVE OF FRANKLIN

A native of Franklin County Mr. Green, received his early education in the Franklin and Wake County public school system, and his high school education first at St. Augustine's School, now St. Augustine's College, and the Shaw University Academy. He was awarded the B. S. degree by Shaw University in 1925, and the A. M. by Cornell University in 1929, and has done further graduate study at Cornell.

TO UNC. AND RALEIGH AUD—Tally Beatty, producer-director of the famed Tropicana Revue, takes his group to the University of North Carolina before coming to Raleigh for an appearance at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium on Thursday evening February 21. The Beatty troupe has received vigorous plaudits wherever it has appeared during its current American tour.

How "big" should government be?

Lincoln was President at a time when the federal government had to take away from its citizens more rights and responsibilities than ever before.

But he didn't like it. He believed, with the writers of the Constitution and the Declaration, that our government should protect people's independence, not push people around.

"In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere," Lincoln once said.

Lincoln never let Americans forget that. He kept reminding the nation that the government's vast wartime powers must be only temporary.

He made powerful enemies. For there are always those who want to see government run things — to run people — permanently.

We have them today. They think up all kinds of reasons why the federal government should take over this or that business, industry or service. They never say they want socialism. Maybe they don't even realize it. But that's actually what they propose.

Most Americans don't want socialism any more than you do. The job is to recognize it — and halt it — no matter what disguise it wears.

The people who plan and work for a socialistic U.S.A. know that permanent control of a few key industries and services will give government the power to take over just about everything. One of the key industries that they're trying to take over is electric light and power. That's why we bring this warning to you.
