SEAGRAM FIRST TO UNC FUND

NEW YORK — The first gift to the United Negro College Fund from the recently created Liquor Industries Division was received last week from Seagram Distillers Corporation. Victor A. Fischel, president, presented his firm's check for $2,500 to Stanley C. Hope, president of Esso Standard Oil Company and chairman of the Fund's 1952 appeal in Greater New York.

RACE SOLDIERS ON NBC TV

NEW YORK CITY — The appearance of a team of Negro soldiers in an impressive drill routine, was a highlight of last week's Your Hit Parade, telecast over the National Broadcasting Company Network. Hit Parade was one of several NBC radio television programs which observed Armed Forces' Day in theme and spirit.

The soldiers represented the 8888th Central Postal Directory assigned to West Point to assist in the training of cadets at the U. S. Military Academy. This was second time a group of Negro GI's made a guest appearance on the program to execute precision drills. One of the "lucky strike artists" played on the show in honor of the day was Sousa's "American Patrol March".

Vocalists Dorothy Collins, Snooky Lanson and Eileen Barton and Raymond Scott and his orchestra appear regularly on "Your Hit Parade" on television. The radio version of the program is broadcast weekly from various military installations around the country.

Shaw University States A Stand On Athletic Setup

RALEIGH — The following New Athletic Policy at Shaw University has just been announced by President William R. Strasser:

Because of the heavy financial burden which the University has carried for the past several years in connection with athletic scholarships, and because of the urgent need to develop various areas of the University's academic program, the Board of Trustees, in its annual meeting on April 2, 1952, voted the following:

1. That the Board favors the continuance of athletics at the University.
2. That it would be unwise for the University to offer athletic scholarships, as such, for 1952-53.

3. That in the event the alumni wish to give some aid to worthy students who are athletes, funds for such purpose shall be administered by a joint alumni-faculty committee, but the University is ultimately responsible for the way in which such funds are administered.

The University offers scholarships and work aid to a number of worthy students each year. Such aid is based upon intellectual ability, fitness for college education, and financial need. Athletes who meet these qualifications will be granted such aid as is granted to other students and on the same basis. Unusual talent along various lines would be considered, including athletic ability, but the above qualifications for the granting of scholarships would be given priority in the new athletic policy.

DOES NOT mean that Shaw is discontinuing its intercollegiate athletic program, for such a program has its place in college life and activities; but it simply means that the University will not discriminate between athletes and other students in connection with scholarships or work aid. Every effort will be made to help worthy students who are athletes by providing jobs to assist them in meeting their school expenses. The policy is in line with the general trend in schools, state and private, and is in the best interest of the school and the students. We trust, therefore, that Shaw University may have the understanding and a continued support of its loyal alumni and friends.

Raleigh Area GIs Help Take The War To Enemy

HQ 61ST AIR BASE WING, JAPAN — Two Raleigh, N. C. area airmen work together as air policemen at this combat bomber base helping to protect the Far East Bomber Command Superforts which fly from here against the Korean Communists.

The two, Airman Third Class Gary F. Singleton of Raleigh and Airman First Class Joe N. Sanders of Clayton, are members of the 61st Air Base Wing Air Police. They help enforce the ring of security around this Air Force installation from which the B-29's fly their daily missions. Working closely, the two aid each other. Airman Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sanders of Clayton, directs the supply section. His job is providing other air policemen such as Airman Singleton, with the equipment needed to do their work. Airman Singleton is in the investigation section doing a job much like that of a police detective in any U. S. city.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Singleton of 15 Henderson St. in Raleigh, Airman Singleton enlisted in the Air Force in Dec. 1950. Receiving basic and on-the-job training as an air policeman at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he was transferred to the Far East upon completion of the study.

Now both work in similar jobs, helping like hundreds of "Tar Heels" with the Far East Air Forces, to carry the air war to the enemy in Korea.

"IT'S A PLEASURE"—Mrs. Josephine Bolden, member of the National Urban League Guild, presents check for $2,500 to Robert W. Dowling, new NCU president at the Hotel Commodore in New York recently. The check represented the Guild's 1952 contribution to the League of its 12th Annual Beaux Arts Ball.

Wake Cnty Older Youth Will Tour Old Dominion

RALEIGH — Historical Virginia will be the scene of the Annual Wake County Older Youth Educational Tour come June 18-19, according to J. Millard Perry, president of the County Older Youth Council.

Details for the trip were worked out recently at the regular quarterly meeting of the council held at the Bloodworth Street YMCA. The Older Youth Clubs are made up of rural young men and women cooperating with the Agricultural Extension Program.

During the two-day tour plans are to visit Williamsburg, Yorktown and Hampton, Virginia. Also Bay Shore Beach for a bit of recreation. The group will leave Wake County early the morning of June 18th and return the night of June 19th.

Previous Annual Educational Tours have taken the Older Youth group to Washington, D. C.; Skyline Drive, Virginia; Larry Caverns, Virginia; Norfolk, Virginia; and Sea View Beach.

The Older Youth Program is under the direction of the Wake County Negro Extension Agents.

DR. EDMONDS WINDS UP SPEAKING TREK
