TO LIVE LONGER Farmers' cost of living in 1952 will be at least as high as in 1951. The income probably will be lower than in any year of the last decade except 1950.

Farms having heavy dense foliage are most likely to be infested with the regular armyworm, say entomology specialists at State College. Corn or other crops near grain fields should be watched for orange juice by early April for invasion of the worms. Grass in fence rows and along the roadways is often stripped when the possibility that chemical sprays will replace the mower for controlling weeds in permanent pasture has been strengthened by recent research findings of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Cigarette consumption in the first quarter of 1952 was nearly equal to the record set a year ago.

The output of frozen concentrated orange juice by early April was twice the volume of a year earlier.

The possibility that chemical

Finals Held At Teacher's College; 119 Graduates

FAYETTEVILLE — The seventy-fifth annual commencement exercises were held at the Fayetteville State Teachers College on Tuesday, June 3, at 11:30 o'clock in the Auditorium with the noted educator Dr. Andrew Carnegie serving as the guest speaker. Currently, Dr. Carnegie is the Assistant to the Commissioner, the United States Office of Education, Washington, D. C. His stimulating address to the graduating class was warmly received.

The 119 candidates for the Bachelor's degree, 15 of whom make their homes in Fayetteville, were presented for the degree by Dr. Joseph H. Daugherty, Dean of the College. Included in the number of persons so honored were many teachers in service who met all requirements for graduation at the conclusion of the past summer quarter. The degrees were awarded by Dr. James W. Seabrook, president of the college.

An inspiring baccalaureate address was given on Sunday, June 1, by the Reverend George D. Heaton, Ministers of the Myers Park Baptist Church, in Charlotte, N. C. For both occasions the college choir performed beautifully under the direction of Miss Mary E. Terry of the Department of Music.

HONOR GRADUATES

Fayetteville's Ruth V. Henderson was the top-ranking student in the class of '52, and Biddle Davis of Henderson, N. C. was graduated with second honor. The six others to graduate with honors were Alice M. Boone, Garysburg; Daisy L. Brown, Bryant, Wilmington; Mary W. Hickman, Byrdin; Ella M. Rhem, New Bern; Violette R. J. Simpson, Bladenboro; and Georgia B. Williams, Monroe, Liberia.
