Sarah Virgo's PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK

MISS BUGG

Well known and thought of in the community for the name she has made for herself civically, socially, and scholastically, Miss Margaret Bugg can be listed among Raleigh's most respected citizens.

A native of Lynchburg, Va., Miss Bugg first came to Raleigh about thirty-five years ago to spend a vacation from school with her mother, who at that time was matron at Shaw University. One of four children, her original plans were to follow in her father's footsteps and become a doctor. However, after receiving her A. B. degree from Howard University, her health at the time would not permit further study—in medicine therefor, after doing graduate work at the Catholic University in Washington, she accepted a position teaching at Johnston County Training School.

It was while Miss Bugg was teaching at Johnston County Training School in Smithfield that she was offered a position at the newly-built Washington High School in Raleigh—some nine years ago. It was over the period of these many years that she became so well thought of by the many students who had studied Latin under her. Chairman of her local voting precinct, Miss Bugg has done much to aid the community civically. It was through her efforts along with other members of the College Women's Club that Negroes were allowed to use the front door of the Memorial Auditorium when it first opened instead of the side door as had been the original plan.

She also worked with a neighborhood group who protested against the truck weigh station that was to be located in one of the Negro residential sections and which could have proved a hazard to the local school children.

A woman firm in her convictions, Miss Bugg is always willing and determined to do whatever she can when she feels it's being done for the good of those involved, and she usually accomplishes that which she sets out to do. As she mentioned, there's no reason why a person should sit still and say nothing when an issue arises on which they have an opinion.

Treasurer of Washington High School, National Circulation Secretary of the College Women's Club, member of the Howard Club, the N. C. Teachers Association and the Delta Sorority, Miss Bugg still finds time to instruct a class in pre-theological students in Greek at St. Augustine's College in the evenings; and also indulge in her favorite pastimes, raising roses and reading.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

The GOLD IN THEM THAR HILLS

THE RESERVES OF IRON ORE, THE OIL UNDER GROUND, THE TIMBER IN THE FORESTS, THE FERTILITY OF THE SOIL, THE POWER IN THE STREAMS—AMERICA HAS ALWAYS BEEN RICH IN NATURAL RESOURCES, BUT IT IS THE PEOPLE WHO HAVE CONVERTED THESE INTO NATIONAL WEALTH.

THE LASTING VALUE OF NATURAL RESOURCES DEPENDS ON HOW WELL THEY ARE USED AND CONSERVED, AND THIS IN TURN DEPENDS ON THE INVENTIVENESS, SKILLS AND THRIFT OF THE PEOPLE.

IT IS WHAT MEN AND MACHINES ADD TO OUR NATURAL RESOURCES THAT MAKES UP THE BIGGEST PORTION OF OUR NATIONAL WEALTH. THRIFT HAS A PART IN THIS TOO, BECAUSE THE MONEY PEOPLE PUT INTO LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS HELPS PROVIDE THE TOOLS OF PRODUCTION.

HE'S COOL on the hottest, muggiest day in this soft, porous all-wool tropical worsted suit. It keeps its shape through long wear, and complimentary natural lines and flap pockets accent his well-dressed look. The Wool Bureau points out: Worn with it are a white broadcloth shirt with spread collar, a striped summer tie and a narrow brim straw hat with two-color band.

THIS AND THAT

(Continued from page 4) HE HAS BEEN ROCKED in the cradle of complacency and lulled to sleep by the false lullaby of both black and white demagogues who have been chanting over and over again the lie that everything will come out all right if you will just sit still and not rock the boat. Mr. Umstead beat Mr. Olive by twenty-five thousand votes. Negroes in Wake County alone could have easily made up that deficit had they cared enough about their futures and their children's futures to register and vote.

Complacency and lazy indifference of Negroes as regards voting has reached the point where half-way liberal whites are afraid to announce themselves as favoring any change in the status quo. These candidates have studied the voting habits of Negroes and have learned they cannot depend upon Negroes to carry them to victory. They know they will be deserted when they need help. In short they have learned that the Negro cannot be depended upon himself to say nothing of helping some one else. We wish we could see a turn for the better in this deplorable situation but although we have scanned the skies for a break in the clouds of indifference, no such break is apparent.

WEST SOUTHERN PINES SCHOOL IN COMMENCEMENT

BY GEADUP FAISON

The West Southern Pines school commencement exercises. The baccalaureate service was held Sunday afternoon, May 25, 1952, with Bishop Wyoming Wells of Greensboro, pastor of Southern Pines Church of God in Christ as speaker. To the seniors Bishop Wells offered counsel, never to forget your parents who made this event possible, find your place in life. The school chorus sang four selections and Miss Ruth Marie Hill sang a solo "O Lord Be Merciful," scripture reading and prayer by Reverend C. T. Martin.

Monday night was senior class night. Wednesday night, Graduation with Mr. Philip J. Weaver of Greensboro, former superintendent of this city as speaker. He opened his address with a tribute to Dr. S. G. Herr, school board chairman for the past twenty years, who is now retiring from that office. To the seniors Mrs. Weaver gave a message based on four statements: I am — I know — I ought — I will. On these he said a man or woman can build a fine and useful life.

He challenged them to "Stand up for what you know is right, not looking for the easy way out and not dying without having first served your fellow man." Mr. Weaver was presented by J. W. Moore, principal. Supt. A. C. Dawthis newspaper this week revealed that five Negroes lost their lives through violence in the state during the long Memorial Day weekend.

The victims were: MARION MARSHALL, 27, of Winston-Salem, who were killed when a car driven by Marshall skidded off the pavement plunged down an embankment and hit a tree near Winston-Salem.

HELPING TO BUILD A Finer Carolina

Here is a picture of a truly "Finer Carolina." These graduates are our stakes in the future. They are the future leaders and builders of our state and our nation. Their mental and physical training should be the very best that can be provided in every town and city. Many towns entered in the "Finer Carolina" program have selected to build better schools . . . lunchrooms . . . playgrounds and other similar projects, designed to make their town a better place for young people.

All of these towns are working to win one of the cash prizes offered by the Carolina Power & Light Company in the contest. Actually, by improving school facilities, they are winning a far greater award . . . the knowledge that their children are receiving the best in every way, the best with which to develop their talents and possibilities. Your town can be a better town if you work toward such a project. Your town can be "Carolina's Finest" . . . not just for this contest, but for the future!
