RICE. TRADITIONAL FOR WEDDINGS

The throwing of rice and old shoes is the traditional way of wishing happiness and long life to the bride. Just as traditional is the wedding breakfast or buffet, a gay, colorful affair with food, family and friends—everyone entering into the happiness of the bride and groom.

The wedding breakfast is traditionally served until one o'clock for a wedding solemnized before noon. As the day progresses, the occasion becomes more formal and after one o'clock, the reception is the fashionable way to toast the bride and groom. Usually less food is served for a reception than for breakfast.

Here you see a breakfast buffet table. On a separate table, the wedding cake and punch bowl of a Chicken Salad with rice is substantial yet will still appeal to hot-weather appetites. A large tray of individual Strawberry-Grapefruit Salads will add a bright note of color to the bridal table, and can be prepared in advance.

—No small consideration when there are so many other last-minute details with which to cope—dresses, jewelry and the bride and groom are off on a happy honeymoon.

EASY DOES IT
BY HELEN HALL

MAKE FOODS FOR THE season beautiful with the colors which are available. They'll be much more attractive and palatable.

Cannot cling peaches can be filled with blueberries and served on a lettuce cup. A soured cream dressing is perfect for this fruit and berry combination.

Here's a good tall drink for slipping: mix equal parts of apricot whole fruit nectar and pineapple juice, and then add an equal amount of ginger ale. Serve over ice cubes.

A tasty addition to any fruit salad are pitted cherries which are stuffed with cream cheese and a piece of walnut. The cherries can easily be pitted with new pitters now available.

Avocado halves make a pretty salad when they're sprinkled with lemon juice to keep them from darkening. Fill with fresh pineapple cubes and whole bright strawberries which have been hulled. Pass French dressing and tiny baking powder biscuits.

Here's a delightful dessert: make a graham cracker shell, bake and cool. Fill with hard ice cream, cover with butterscotch sauce and sprinkle with chopped walnuts.

Here's a good sandwich to serve with fruit salads for hot weather luncheons: soften cream cheese with orange juice to spreading consistency, then stir in 1/4 cup chopped, roasted almonds and spread on thick slices of fruit not bread.

RECIPES OF THE WEEK
Economized Baked Beans (Serves 4)
8 slices bacon
1/2 cup molasses
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 1/2-pound can baked beans

Place bacon slices in a cold frying pan over low heat. Cook bacon slowly, about 8 to 10 minutes; turn once during cooking. Drain on absorbent paper; keep warm. Pour off bacon fat; return 2 tablespoons of fat to skillet; blend in molasses, vinegar and mustard. Add beans; simmer 5 minutes. Serve with hot bacon slices.

Combine pre-cooked rice, water and salt in saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring

MORALE IS A WOMAN'S BUSINESS

Morale—at the national, community and home levels—is a woman's business, according to Charles Revson who has been studying feminine fancies on five continents over the past 20 years. It isn't only how women feel, talk and act but how other people feel about them that strengthens or weakens the country's morale and Mr. Revson whose Revlon Products Corporation is the world's largest company in the cosmetic field believes that now is the time when it is so important for women to be at their best so their morale-influence is high.

For a woman, beauty products finish the job where nature left off and the final luxurious bit is the aura of fragrance around her. When Mr. Revson decided to add a fragrance mist to the company's line, his research chemists experimented with many scents and then after long experiments they perfected a bouquet that is like a lovely garden with dew still on the buds. They called it Aquamarine Mist and women everywhere accepted it immediately. Some splash it on after a shower, others spray it over them before they slip on their dresses and there are those who whisk it on with fingertips after they are dressed. While it has the lingering loveliness of a treasured perfume because it is concentrated, it can be used lavishly because of its inexpensiveness.

ACCESSORIES FOR SUMMER COIFFURES

Wearing your hair short or long with a wardrobe of ribbons, it's a simple matter to tie back a pony-tail or tie up your curls with a fresh one to suit any costume.

Ribbons and gay bows should be peppy for each wearing, as neat and cool-looking as your hair. Do wash them frequently through lukewarm soapsuds and rinse. You don't even have to iron them. Instead, wind the damp ribbons tightly around the hot water pipe in bathroom or kitchen. They'll dry quickly without wrinkles, ready to be worn again.

For mothers who like to see the lights through clean car windows, it's wise to stash a mason jar full of soap suds into the glove compartment for on-the-road clean-ups. Tiny hands and the family pet can really smudge these panes. After a quick swipe with a sudsy cloth—it's clear sailing.

It goes without saying that white jewelry, just like white collars, needs frequent freshening with soapsuds. Dust and grime settle on white jewelry, and when it isn't shining what it loses all its snowy luster. Powder and body oil also rub off on earrings, necklaces, and bracelets, so don't forget to wipe them carefully with a soapy cloth after every wearing.

You might like to know about plastic playing cards designed to be washed off with soap and water. No old thumb prints or sticky marks to apologize for when somebody unexpectedly suggests a hand of bridge.

Wood furniture should be sanded and polished periodically. The light colors of wood such as bleached mahogany and bleached oak in so-called Primavera shades, benefit especially from an occasional wiping with a sudsy cloth. To speed up dishwashing, choose sturdy glass table ware. Because of non-porous construction, it washes quickly and easily in hot soapsuds.

CHARM

NEW YORK (GLOBAL)—What are you wearing this Summer? Nylon, Orlon, Organdy, Crepe, Sersucker, Silk or just plain gingham and cotton? No matter what you wear please be sure to keep in fresh, clean and always ready for wear, even those undies and that foundation, or there just won't be any charm. Wrinkled, spotted and soiled things do more harm to mildly than anything else.

Even though you are free from 'BO' there must be special care given to keeping your wardrobe fresh and clean. So every time you wear a garment of any kind do take a little time to check it for all the necessary cleanliness angles. Many women are going in for Nylon because it can be washed out so quickly and does not need ironing... or does it? In some cases a slight press makes a nylon garment look better. Use your judgment, but be sure to look fresh every time you step out because charm requires that.

Wear the pastel shades as often as you can, because they are so lovely and in keeping with the Spring and Summer seasons. Then, you will not have to wonder how soiled your clothes are because you can easily see. Some folks are a little careless when it comes to checking black, blue, or the darker shades after each wearing for freshness and cleanliness. Darker clothes should be washed as often as lighter ones, as all colors get soiled after one wearing.

Charm means cleanliness—take it from Lou.

READERS DIGEST — In his article, "Boom goes the Congo!" Holman Harvey, in Readers Digest Magazine, the Belgian Congo is referred to as having the "world's most dazzling boom," where exports have tripled and imports quadrupled in the past five years. Racial hatred, persecutions and bloodshed have not spread through the colony he says, as in other colonial countries, due to use of enlightened colonization: i.e. native police forces, ban on forced labor, employment of natives in most types of work, an 8-hour day, free schools and medical care, minimum wages set by law and other measures. But—more than 9,000,000 of the 12,000,000 Congolese live in bush villages governed by 1,000 chiefs under provincial governors; and between sunset and sunrise the boundary between white and native sections must not be crossed by either race.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING — satisfactory test to predict the sex of an unborn child may be developed. In testing the urine of pregnant women, says Good Housekeeping Magazine, recent tests showed that the saliva was positive in women six to seven months pregnant, who later gave birth to boys, and negative in those who later gave birth to girls.

SEE—Writing on "How to Elect a Republican President in 1952," Harold E. Stassen, ex-governor, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, outlines in See Magazine, what Republicans must take to win the election, but nowhere does he mention civil rights or FEPC legislation.

SEVENTEEN — Violet King Negro member of Detroit Art Students League, accumulates art awards the way other people accumulate cluttered desks, says Seventeen Magazine. She has taken two major prizes in state-wide poster contests: won a gold key and a certificate in Scholastic Art competition. She hopes to be a magazine illustrator.

DOWN BEAT — The entire song catalog of the late Bessie Smith, nationally known Negro singer has been acquired by a new publishing enterprise which will be called Erny Music, says Down Beat Magazine. The singer's song-writing efforts total well over 100 compositions. The songs were acquired through her estate, which is in the hands of her widower, Jack Cole.

PAGENT — Dope addiction is not as widespread as the public has been led to believe, according to Michael Bakalar in Pagent Magazine. During the past 30 years drug addiction over the nation has actually been cut in half, he says according to the Federal Bureau of Narcotics. CARE FOR CUT FLOWERS

With cut flowers lack of moisture is, of course, the main cause of wilting. Flowers are thirsty! They drink through their stems and absorb humidity from the atmosphere. To satisfy cut flowers' tremendous appetite for water, follow these suggestions, cut small pieces from each stem at a slant as soon as you get the flowers. If possible, let the flowers become saturated with moisture before arranging them in a vase. To do this, mist the entire bunch lightly with water, and wrap in moisture-proof cellophane (the kind you use for frozen foods). Close the edges of the package. Then float it in a dishpan of warm water. The cellophane will hold the humidity in the space directly around the flowers, and the entire flower is moistened thoroughly.

When you are ready to arrange the flowers, be sure the vase is perfectly clean. Fill it with cool water, and use one of the inexpensive commercial preservatives you can buy from your florist. These chemical preparations reduce bacterial action in the water which causes the stem ends to close. If you don't use one, change the water and clip the stems every day.

Give cut flowers a refresher course at night when nobody will be awake to see them anyway. Move the vase to a cool room—preferably a cool, damp section of the basement. If your whole house or apartment is heated, wrap the flowers from their vase, remove them in cellophane, and put the bundle in your refrigerator overnight.

Always keep cut flowers away from steam pipes, radiators, drafts, and direct sunlight.

Now who is the person who doesn't like to sit down to a tall, cool glass of something refreshing on these terrific days? There is a lift in just relaxing with a tall, frosty glass of some cool, refreshing drink, whether it be Iced Tea, Coke, Gingerale or what have you.

Make use of fresh fruits and their natural fruit sugars to sweeten summer beverages. The citrus fruits, peaches, pineapple, even watermelon, are all pretty, good and easy to use.

Here is a suggestion for a drink that is not only cool and luscious tasting, but so pretty. Serve this to your bridge club or just to the 'gals' who come over for a chat.

Demonstration Of Better Farming Method Is Held

RALEIGH — To measure the effect nitrogen has on small grain production fifteen farm leaders of the Fuquay Springs Community met Thursday morning at one of the result demonstrations being carried in that community by Thomas Chavis, Route 1, Holly Springs.

The demonstration consisted of three test plots in a field of three and one-half acres of Atlas 68 Wheat. Top dressing was applied March 1st at the rate of 40, 60 and 80 pounds per acre. B. T. McNeill, assistant Wake County agent, reported that the yields from these plots were: 40 pounds of nitrogen, 33 bushels per acre; 60 pounds of nitrogen, 57.5 bushels per acre; and 80 pounds of nitrogen produced an average of 69.3 bushels per acre.

MRS. FDR SEES NEGRO COLLEGES ON THE WAY OUT

BROOKLYN (ANP) — Speaking at the final rally in the Brooklyn campaign for the United Negro College Fund Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt paid high tribute to Negro colleges in America, but predicted that the day is on the way when there will be no Negro colleges as such.

The United Nation's Human Rights Commission head said successful legal assaults on racial barriers in higher education preclude the eventual end of Jim-crow colleges.

An eloquent appeal for support of the fund made by Dr. Gardner C. Taylor, honorary chairman, netted $1,394 which was expected to put the locals over the top with their quota of more than $5,000.

YOUR LIFE — The Average housewife spends nearly four years of her life washing dishes, says James J. O'Reilly in Your Life Magazine. She quarrels twice a month with her husband. Also, she threatens six times in twenty years to divorce him, but doesn't. She bakes 250 cakes before her 25th wedding anniversary, 300 of them are for her husband's favorites. She walks 1,052 miles needlessly every year in her home.

SATURDAY REVIEW — Fred Ramsey, Jr., editor and annotator of the Jazz Series being gradually issued by Folkways Records, notes that much of the New Orleans jazz was not recorded or composed there, but by its musical citizens after they had reached Chicago or New York. From the article in Saturday Review Magazine, it is learned that the "spasm band" is one featuring such informal instruments as a washboard, cowbells, kazoo, jug, and whistle. The series consists mostly of compositions and recordings by Negro musicians.

HOUSECLEANING WITH AN ARIA

There's nothing like doing your housework to music—especially if you can supply your own as does beautiful Marguerite Piazza, singing star of opera and television. Recently named the "Best Dressed Woman In Opera" by the Fashion Academy, she still finds time to be a homemaker between appearances at the Met, concerts and television. Here she breaks into song as she uses her Lewyt vacuum cleaner to clean the rug in her New York apartment. Using the Lewyt, she says, is just as easy as singing. And singing has always been the easiest thing in her life!
