E. E. Smith Bulls Take Win Over Goldsboro 11

BY W. H. MINOR
FAYETTEVILLE — The E. E. Smith "Bulls" last Friday night declared "open season" on their first opponents, the Dillard High "Tigers" of Goldsboro, by defeating them 25-6. The game was played in the Goldsboro Municipal Stadium.

The "Bulls" determined not to keep their opponents in the dark too long as to their ability to master a gridiron situation, scored two touchdowns and completed one conversion for the extra point in the second period of the game. The first touchdown was made by Curman Walker, a veteran player, who took a hand-off from quarterback Frank Brylboy on the 50 yard line raced through left tackle for a touchdown. Brylboy's kick was good for the extra point. The second score was made by Bernard Anderson when he intercepted a pass by Goldsboro's quarterback and ran unimpeded across the goal line. The half ended with the Tigers trailing the Bulls 13 points.

During the first half of the game, it soon became evident to those who witnessed Friday night's game that the cunning nature of the "Tigers" was not withstanding the powerful kick of the Smith "Bulls".

The Tigers re-entered from their den in the third quarter and scored the only touchdown they were able to make during the game. Kenneth Smith, quarterback, kicked a field goal from 40 yards.

The Tigers applied their program of taking the racial discrimination issue directly to all congressmen, senators and would-be congressmen and senators in every state in the Union.

At the same time they again reiterated their one-hundred per cent opposition to discriminatory practices in the Post Office Department, the refusal of Postmaster General E. W. Clegg to appoint Negroes to high level policy-making posts in the Department, and the consistent inaction given them in taking definite action in these matters.

The New Orleans decision came in a case before the Civil Service Fair Employment Board of Ap-

THE REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL ALLIANCE OF POSTAL EMPLOYEES

WASHINGTON — Heartened anew by the decision last week that racial discrimination had been practiced against Negro postmen in the New Orleans, La. post office and orders that the practice be ended, officials of the National Alliance of Postal Employees went into high gear this week.

They amplified their program of taking the racial discrimination issue directly to all congressmen, senators and would-be congressmen and senators in every state in the Union.

At the same time they again reiterated their one-hundred per cent opposition to discriminatory practices in the Post Office Department, the refusal of Postmaster General E. W. Clegg to appoint Negroes to high level policy-making posts in the Department, and the consistent inaction given them in taking definite action in these matters.

The New Orleans decision came in a case before the Civil Service Fair Employment Board of Appeal and was presented for the NAPE by Dr. William C. Jason Jr., national welfare director. The "discriminations in New Orleans were a matter of long standing, going back several years. They involved refusal to grant properly deserved promotions, and other practices designed to keep Negro postmen from advancing or securing improvements in working conditions.

It was admitted that these practices had existed, but claimed that they had been modified and some corrected in recent years. They were all ordered halted.

In its campaign to take its case to the elected representatives of the people, the NAPE is urging every senator, congressman and candidate for these jobs a copy of the statement prepared by the NAPE Executive Board here Sept. 1 and released for publication that week.

The NAPE has stressed that it will conduct its activity within the purview of the Hatch Act as it applies to postal employees. However, no ground will be yielded to secure complete equality in the Post Office Department in every respect. NAPE President Ashby B. Carter declared in Chicago.

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" Ways to Conquer Worry

JESS WILKES, New Brockton, Alabama, says that he has found that plenty of wholesome exercise, reading habits, and religious worship will help to conquer fear and worry. In 1943 his father died, leaving his mother, a small baby sister, a 19 year old brother named Jack, and himself, and he was in the armed forces.

His brother Jack was left to operate a 560-acre farm. In January of 1944 he visited the draft board to see about a deferment, but in February of 1944, he was drafted into the armed forces, leaving his broken-hearted mother to operate the farm. She had no knowledge of running a big farm since all she had ever done was to take care of her home and rear her family. In 1944 he and his brother were on the high seas at the same time for an overseas assignment. On top of all this, he was leaving his wife expecting their first child.

In China he was so worried over the conditions existing back home that he lost a great deal of weight. Finally his commanding officer asked why he was not getting the work out of his men. He hesitated to tell his troubles at first, but finally he broke down. Then he learned his commanding officer knew fear and worry. He told Jess of his divorce and of losing a son whom he had loved so much. Then he said he would help Jess iron out his problems.

That evening, he came by for Jess. They went to the largest library in downtown Shanghai. They sat at the same table and studied the life of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, which was most interesting. After three hours, they went to an indoors swimming pool for an hour. After this they had dinner and returned to their home base. This was the first night's rest Jess had had since being in the far east. On the following Sunday they went to a pagoda and worshipped with the Buddhists. They continued a similar program throughout his stay in China.

After getting settled, he realized that he had to accept his father's death as a fact. He found that his mother was operating the farm probably better than his brother could have done. And he had a fine baby boy waiting for him at home. He realized then that he and his family were among the most fortunate people in the world.
