hospital service it was capable of giving everyone knows that quate or sufficient. We feel that even the people of St. Agnes will attest to that fact. Because of that fact, for a number of years, there has been agitation here for improvement of hospital facilities for the Negro demand for an entirely new hospital. Because it is a recognized fact that the duty to provide adequate hospital service rests with the County Commissioners, Negroes have petitioned the Wake County Commissioners to erect a new hospital here for all people. A general county hospital, providing nurse training for Negro girls, an integrated staff of physicians, nurses, technicians and assistants. This proposed hospital, built and maintained by public funds, would of course be under the supervision of a public board Whether this board was all-Nogro, all-white or intermed, would be of small consequence inasmuch as it would be a publie board, its actions would be subject to the wishes of the pub-

The private, self perpenuating board of St. Agnes hospital ha dazzled before the County Com missioners, a very likely story in its attempt to gain the approval of the Commissioners to build a new hospital for Ne-croes, at St. Agnes. The Commissioners have been told that at St. Agnes is a modern nurses home, a new heating plant they will give all of this to the my, provided the County will creet at St. Agnes a new tal then sive this new crosspital and all the other facilities eack to them under a 99-year lease. There would be no change? the treent operation policy. The private, biased board would have a brend new hospital, built with money, you and your children's children would have to repay, so they could continue to do as they might see fit to do. This board, possibly claims it is afraid that unless it be allowed to supervise the hospital facilities for Negroes in this men, Negroes will lose the chance to occupy top level hospital positions. It ignores the outstanding fact, that although completely competent, emmently qualified Negro hospital administrators, were available, it stubborn refused to consider one to head St. Agnes, pointing out that ONE Negro had fallen down on that job there (at

When you go to the polls on November 4 you're going to vote for a few things in addition to your favorite candidate. You are going to vote also for the protection and continuation of your rights as en American Citizen. You're going to vote for the right to gather with others in free assembly, the right to work at your chosen job, the right to read any newspaper you want to, the right to listen to any radio program you want to, the right to worship where you want to. You're going to vote for the right to engage in a corner conversation and tell your friends you wouldn't have Candidate Joe Blow on a Christmas Tree.

 You've had the right to do these things for so many years that, if anybody would say it would be taken away from you, you'd get fighting mad. But, if you and enough of your fellow-citizens stay away from the polls too many times some strong group or clever clique may think you don't care. That may make the time ripe for a Hitler to step in. THEN you'll vote and vote like you're told, or there'll be a party stalwart around waiting to know the reason why.

This is the last week to register. If you registered for the primary elections, such as those held last spring you don't have to register again. If you registered, but have moved from your precinct, get a transfer from your registrar. If you are not sure, check with your precinct registrar - this week!

• In fact it's so easy that, in the 1948 elections, nearly half of America's eligible voters stayed home. Do vou think that's bad? Here's North Carolina's record: In the same elections 62% of the state's voters stayed home. In the 1950 senatorial race 77% of the voters stayed home. Don't you think we've taken it too easy too long?

• When you go to the polls November 4 remember that nobody's looking over your shoulder, nobody's going to come around the next day and ask questions. Whom you vote for is your own business, and your vote counts for as much as the next fellow's. The point is -VOTE! For right there where you and every other American citizen puts his X is where freedom begins ... not only for yourself, but for those special little future citizens you fight life's bat-
