

College Student Council Lists Ambitious Program

FAYETTEVILLE — The student council for February 23, and plans Council at the Fayetteville State University for the local campus Teachers College, under the leadership of Wilson, has launched a program of activities for the coming months of the school year. The Council has been quite effective throughout the year. In addition to sitting with the faculty on given occasions to discuss matters of campus-wide interest and lending support to many aspects of the school program, the council has sponsored all year a "clean campus" effort which it plans to continue.

Another project to which the council has pledged its support is that of assisting in providing athletic scholarships for worthy students who happen to be athletes. In one way and another, says Mr. Lew, "we alone with other interested groups have lent our support to this worthy cause. We shall continue to do so." The annual all-student dance sponsored by the council is scheduled for the 22nd of the month.

Democracy Marks Inaugural Parade

BY JUSTICE A. DUNNIGAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democracy in action was portrayed during the inaugural parade Tuesday when thousands of integrated Negroes participated in the parade.

The only obvious indication of segregation was shown in the District of Columbia high school bands. When Division I (white) paraded in front with its band, and was followed by Division II (colored) with its band.

FIRST OF 3 FLOWER CLINICS HELD AT A & T

GREENSBORO, N. C. — More than 100 flower growers, chiefly housewives, attended the first of the Flower Clinic held at A & T College last week. The project, sponsored by the Horticulture department of the college under the direction of A. C. Madry, is designed to acquaint flower lovers and growers with the latest methods and techniques in care and maintenance.

The program, held last Thursday evening, featured Mr. Madry in a lecture on "Use and Care of Foliage Plants" and demonstrations in the making of large and small floral center pieces. M. S. Sanders, of Henderson Institute, Henderson, presided over the initial session.

TEXAS COLLEGE TEAM HONORED

HOUSTON, Texas — The victorious Texas Southern University Tigers were feted with a special banquet January 19 at which time tributes were paid them by a cross section of the Houston community. The team which did not taste defeat during a 11-game schedule had thick steaks and trimmings and had their sweethearts to enjoy it with them. Following the banquet the team danced to the tunes of Carl Owens and his trio.

participation in the parade, many Negroes played up on a separate role. In school bands representing the city, South Negroes took the part they were expected to be integrated.

School bands from other sections where integration is the accepted policy, and a few Negro representatives. Both West Point Military Academy and Naval Academy at Annapolis had a representative band. One of the outstanding features of the parade was the marching of the 10th Division of the parade. It was dark and most of the spectators had departed to their homes.

One of the early features of the parade was the life of President Eisenhower portrayed by 10 floats about midway the line of march. The first showed his birthplace in Texas, the second his boyhood in Kansas, the third his army experience, the fourth his world tour, the fifth his wedding to Mamie in Ohio, the sixth his service in Europe, the seventh his NATO activities, the eighth his Presidency at Columbia, the ninth

MUSIC COMPANY HOME IS RAZED, FOBBLE — The home offices of the Dave Music Company on E. Cabarrus Street, Raleigh were early last week razed by fire following a robbery in which an overall loss of $1,400 was realized. The above photos show how interior and exterior of the company looked following fire. Arthur Dave, owner of the company which recently moved into grand new quarters just across the street from the home site, revealed that several mechanical photograph walls were missing and that flames had destroyed a huge number of recordings. In addition, it was revealed, water and fire caused an untold amount of damage to phonograph machines and other equipment being housed in the company's original home. Luckily, it was pointed out, little cash was on hand when the store was entered and many of the company's machines were either on location or were stored in the new building. —SHIRLEY STAFFOTOS

204 Negro Newspapers Now Published in US

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Negro journalism in America is now a long way since the first newspaper was founded by John B. Rawls in 1828. Today there are about 204 commercial Negro newspapers operating in the United States. Two of these are dailies, three bi-weeklies, and 195 weeklies, according to the Lincoln University School of Journalism.

The "J" school at Lincoln here keeps a week-by-week check on colored newspaper activity annually polls the country for information on newly established, expanded and existing organs, and publishes a title list.

Alabama leads the 33 states and the District of Columbia with 19 organs, with Ohio second with 16, Florida third with 12 and California and Texas following with 11 each.

The 15 states without any Negro newspaper are: Arizona, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Texas.
