Religious Emphasis Week At Shaw U Huge Success

RALEIGH — A very impressive week of Religious Emphasis was concluded last week at Shaw University. The observance was led by the Shaw University Christian Mission Team composed of the following members: Dr. Shelby Rooks, Minister, St. James Presbyterian Church, New York City; Miss Rosalie V. Oakes, National Student Secretary, YWCA, Southern Region, Atlanta, Georgia; Dr. Charles E. Couber, Professor of Old Testament, Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga.; and Dr. Edwin McMill Poter, Minister, Pullen Memorial Baptist Church, Raleigh.

The Campus Committee on the University Christian Mission had for its theme: "Is There A Way Out of the Confusion of Our Time?"

Dr. Rooks was the speaker for the Sunday vesper service on the campus, and the program continued Monday thru Thursday evening with a series of activities and projects; breakfast and retreat; class visitation by members of the Mission Team in order to relate the Christian Faith to the subject matter of courses; private meditation, seminars, evening worship; an exhibition of Christian Art; organized house meetings; faculty conference; evaluation period; and closed with a Communion and consecration service in the University Church Thursday evening.

Dr. Poter's Topics for the morning service and evening devotionals were: "The Meaning of Transfiguration," and "The Significance of the Cross." Doctor Couber spoke on "Science and the Christian Faith," and "What is Man?" Dr. Rooks' messages on Tuesday were on the subjects: "The Condition of Brotherhood in America," and "Youth," and the Christian Fellowship.

Miss Oakes spoke at the Wednesday morning assembly on the subject "Christian Freedom and Education," and her topic for Thursday evening worship was "Christian Brotherhood — An Atonement." Leading devotional services throughout the week were the following students: Monday, Jean Harrison, sophomore of Gastonia; Lucius Walker, Jr., a junior of Roselle, N. C.; Hattie Nunn, senior of Raleigh; and Judith Combs, a senior of Clarendon, representing the Women's Personnel Council and Men's Personnel Council, and Miss Oakes, L.H. Scientific Society, respectively. Tuesday, Randolph Thompson, a junior of Raleigh; and Henry Long, a senior of Norfolk, Va., representing the Sunday School Council and Theological Fraternity, Ernest Fields, a senior of Kitterly, and Loring Harris, a senior of "Whitakers" representing the Sociology Club, Wednesday, Ann L. Shaw, a senior of Smilley, Oliver, and "Youth," and the Christian Fellowship, Thursday, Frederick Terry, a sophomore of Ellerbe, and Harold Nevedes, a senior of Elizabeth City, and Nabaniel Gaylord of the School of Religion, representing the Brotherhood — An Atonement Student Union.

New Minister Comes To Historic Oberlin Church

By Carolinian Staff Writer
RALEIGH — The Rev. Mr. Calvin Eugene Gidney has assumed the full-time pastorate of historic Wilson Temple here, succeeding the Reverend James M. Whaley who resigned that post in order to return to school.

Rev. Mr. Gidney brings to his new charge a wealth of experience in both preaching and teaching. For the past nine years, he has been the minister of St. Stephen Methodist Church in Lexington, N. C. before that he pastored the Epworth Methodist Church in Gastonia for four years. In all, Rev. Gidney has given over 20 years to the Methodist ministry in this state while also teaching in the N. C. public schools for 15 years.

A graduate of Middle University, now Johnson C. Smith University, and Gammon Theological Seminary, Rev. Mr. Gidney is well prepared to follow in the footsteps of his many illustrious predecessors who have ministered to the spiritual needs of the Wilson Temple congregation.

The Reverend Gidney is married to the former Miss Gertrude Parks of Atlanta, Ga., for many years a public school teacher here, and is the father of four children, two girls and two boys; they are Mrs. Marian Marshall of Virginia, Miss Gwendolyn L. Gidney, director of music for the public schools of Burlington, N. C., Calvin Lewy, Jr., a Fisk University graduate and a student at Meharry Medical College before being inducted into the Army, and Charles LeRoy, a student in the School of Pharmacy of Howard University.

In addition to his theological and literary pursuits, Rev. Gidney has for many years taken a keen interest in music, both vocal and instrumental and his presence here will add immeasurably to the musical life of the community. Not professing any particular hobbies, Rev. Gidney said outside of his pastoral duties, and music his next interests are recreation, boy scout work and general community activities. —BFC

Wake Consumers Elect A. C. Parrish President

By Carolinian Staff Writer
RALEIGH — Mr. Andrew C. Parrish of Method has been chosen as the new president of the Wake Consumers Mutual Association, Raleigh's only Negro owned and operated Super Market. Mr. Parrish succeeds the Rev. G. E. Chesnut who served the organization as its president since its beginning back in 1915.

Mr. Parrish is not a newcomer to the organization. He has been a member of its board of directors for the past seven years and is a charter member of the Association. He brings to the position of president many years of administrative experience in religious, civic and business organizations.

Presiding over his first stockholders meeting, the new president promised to keep the Association members informed and up to date concerning all the affairs of their business enterprise. Mr. Parrish deplored the loose talk and "destructive criticism" that many members of the Association have been guilty of and reminded of the Association have been guilty of and reminded those guilty of such practices that it was their business they were trying to kill. He pointed out that the Negroes who have been chosen to lead others were deficient in their leadership, when those leaders lead their people away from an enterprise dedicated to the betterment and advancement of the race.

Dr. O. S. Bullock, a charter board member of the Association, was very caustic in his remarks about the so-called "big Negroes." Dr. Bullock said there was not a successful Negro in Raleigh who did not owe his success to other Negroes, particularly the so-called "little" people. He wanted to know why those who have risen to a less and properly could not or would not realize that their continued success was dependent upon the men and women further down the ladder.

Dr. Bullock pointed out that the teachers, doctors, lawyers and other professional groups would patronize the Wake Consumers Mutual organization would become a link of strength for them and they would also be showing their appreciation for the blessing they have been privileged to enjoy.

Mr. Leonidas Frazier told the gathering that the Wake Consumers super market was located in practically an all-Negro business area, and that the Negroes of Raleigh could make that area virtually a shopping district. If they would do this, Mr. Frazier said, they would be providing opportunities and jobs for our youth. "Unless this is done," said Mr. Frazier, "we are educating our young people to become loafers and bums."

On a motion made by Mr. Frazier the Association authorized its executive committee to study the possibility of organizing the new business enterprises and the launching of an extensive advertising campaign of education and promotion.

Mr. Parrish stressed the need for additional capital to meet the needs created by a deficit incurred at the beginning of the Association's operation. A committee headed by Mr. D. M. Jarrison was set up for the purpose of collecting the unpaid pledges, outstanding on the Association's books. Association shares are $100 each and may be purchased at the Association's office, 421 S. Bloodworth St.

SOCIAL CALENDAR SET FOR TEACHERS

RALEIGH — A full schedule of events is in store for persons attending the annual N.C. Teachers Association meetings here during the weekend of March 26 through 29 at The Lounge, the management of the new site spot revealed this week.

The Lounge, located on Bloodworth Street is the newest and most intimate addition to the local cafe society scene and will be open daily and nightly for the convenience of the visiting dignitaries, it was announced.

LIKELY TO SUCCEED — The man considered most likely to succeed in gaining a top federal post under the Republican administration is Judge Francis Elie Rivers of the City court of New York. It is believed in high circles that President Eisenhower will appoint Judge Rivers to the federal bench some years back. Judge Rivers was an assistant district attorney to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey when the governor was district attorney. Also an assistant D. A. at that time was Herbert Brownell, now attorney general under President Eisenhower. (ANF)
