Picture-Story Of The Year

J. B. Harren, CAROLINIAN writer, was on hand at Atlanta last week to "cover" the annual Elks convention for readers of this newspaper. His complete coverage is to be found on page 9, along with one of the most spectacular photographs ever published in a modern-day newspaper.

Her Dying Wish Comes True

HER DYING WISH—Staff Sgt. Webster L. Johnson of Annapolis, Md., a freed POW, kisses his mother, Mrs. Bertha R. Johnson, on his arrival at Andrews air force base in Washington. Johnson, who spent 22 months in Red captivity, was rushed home from Korea when informed that his mother, stricken with cancer, has only about two more weeks to live. Airport officials were on the verge of tears after the reunion. (Newspress Photo.)

CAR KILLS FATHER AND BABY

Father 25, Baby Daughter Victims In Road Tragedy

RED SPRINGS—A 25-year-old father and his nine-months-old daughter were killed as result of injuries sustained when they were struck by an automobile near here Saturday night.

The father, holding the child in his arms, when the accident occurred, was identified as Jesse James Hennegan. The tiny victim was named Patricia.

Hennegan died early Sunday morning at Robeson Memorial Hospital from head injuries; his daughter died Sunday night of a fractured skull.

They were struck by Joseph Henry Hayes of Lumberton, who told investigating officers that he saw the two, but was unable to stop his vehicle in time. The baby was in the arms of her father at the time of impact.

The official report stated that Hayes was meeting another car when he saw the pedestrians and immediately applied brakes. Father and child were carried on hood of the car for a distance of fifty feet before being hurled to the shoulder of the highway. The Hayes car came to a stop 30 feet from the side of the road.

The pair was struck almost four feet from the shoulder of the highway on the side of the highway which the Hayes car was traveling.

At present no indication had been given as to what action—if any—would be taken in the case.

D. H. Keck Assumes High Post At Shaw University

RALEIGH—Shaw University's president, Dr. William R. Strasser, this week announced the appointment of D. H. Keck of Raleigh as his administrative assistant.

Keck, a native of Greensboro, is a Shaw University graduate with the B. S. degree and received the M. A. degree at the University of Michigan.

He had had teaching experiences as an instructor in the Nash County Training School, Nashville; Wake Forest High School, Wake Forest; and as principal at Jacksonville. He was also instructor of Economics at the Fayetteville State Teachers College during the 1937 summer session.

MR. KECK

He is a charter member of the Board of Management of the Bloodworth Street YMCA, and served as treasurer. He was teller and later appointed assistant cashier of the Mechanics and Farmers Bank in Raleigh where he served for fifteen years.

Currently he is secretary-treasurer of the Piedmont Board of Officials; Treasurer of the Saint Monica's School Parent Teachers Association; and treasurer of the Widow Sons Lodge of Masons.

Mr. Keck is a member of the Eta Sigma Chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity; a 32 degree Mason and a Shriner; a member of the Davie Street Presbyterian

Correction And Apology Concerning Patrolman Greenburg

On December 20, 1952, The Carolinian published a story from Fuquay Springs, NC concerning violence which had followed certain men who were testified in an abortion case against a Fuquay Springs doctor.

In that article there was a statement that Patrolman Greenburg was run out of town for attacking a Negro girl. The Carolinian now learns from Patrolman Greenburg and from other sources that he left Fuquay voluntarily.

In justice to Patrolman Greenburg, this newspaper corrects the mistaken report. Patrolman Greenburg was not run out of town for attacking a Negro girl.

This correction is made in line with the policy of this newspaper to correct any mistakes in its publication and it is glad to make this correction in the interest of truth and accuracy.

Possibility Of TV-ing Race Grid Games Studied

RALEIGH—There is definitely a chance—though now an "outside" one... that supporters of college football teams in the area will have a chance to see their teams in action on television before long—maybe during this season.

Negotiations are already underway in larger urban areas for the presentation of Negro college football teams to television audiences, and reports have it, TV big-wigs in this area are doing a bit of considering on the possibilities of colored college football TVing.

First indication that the new industry "had eyes" for race college performers was given recently when the National Collegiate Athletic Association was asked to relax its television code for the coming season.

The Association (NCAA) is to be asked this week if it will give the General Artists Corporation permission to go ahead on a scheme to televise a line-up of nine Negro college football games.

The Artists group contends that the televising of Negro games does not cut into the gate of NCAA games. The group also feels that the potential audience for Negro football doesn't patronize non-Negro games to any marked degree.

Negro games, the GAC notes, are played in small stadiums and would be sell-outs regardless of TV coverage.

The proponents of race football TV are expressly concerned with what can be done in making up a package for television which would put games played by Lincoln (Pa.) University; Howard University and Morgan State College on the air. All three of these colleges, it is pointed out, are members of the NCAA as well as the leading Negro conference, the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (C. I. A. A.).

It has been said that though these schools wish to retain their "good standing" with the NCAA, their officials are enthusiastic about televising of the games. College officials feel that revenue gained from the TV shows would considerably better the plight of their respective institutions. The General Artist Corporation has already said that it would include interviews of the presidents of the participating colleges and plugs for the United Negro College Fund in its program format.

As now set up, General Motors is sponsoring the NCAA-sanctioned package. The same firm, ostensibly sponsorship of race games also, would have prior rights to it.

In this area, A&T College and NC College hold participating membership in the NCAA. The general makeup of the locale,

Equals Record

HITS THREE HOMERS—Jim Pendleton, rookie outfielder with the Milwaukee Braves, equaled a record set by his teammate, Home Run King Eddie Mathews, by blasting out three home runs during the first game of a doubleheader between the Milwaukee team and the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday. Mathews set the three-homers-in-a-game title for rookies last season. Pendleton was traded to the Braves by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

200 Greensboro Residents Help Solve Housing Needs Problem For A & T Staff

GREENSBORO—Some 200 residents of Greensboro quickly came to the rescue of A. and T. College officials last week when it seemed that lack of dormitory space would cause the school to have to turn away almost 400 prospective students.

William H. Gamble, dean of men at the college, said Monday that almost 200 Greensboro families have replied to a hurried request that they provide accommodations for male students.

"We feel confident that we shall be able to easily care for the present applicants in comfortable homes when they begin arriving for registration next Monday," Dean Gamble said.

College officials contend that the acute housing situation which is being faced now will be reduced by the next school year. Construction on a new men's dormitory to accommodate more than 400 students is expected to begin early this fall and it will be ready for occupancy next September.

Reports indicate that close to 1,000 Freshmen will register at A. and T. next week when the college marks the opening of its 64th year.

A five-day orientation program will conclude on Friday, Sept. 18, and classes are scheduled to begin on September 21.

Pair Vows To Shoot If Pledge Is Broken; She Breaks It, He Shoots

WILMINGTON—A young woman allegedly forgot a vow "to be true" she made to her lover and paid for her forgetfulness with her life here this week.

According to reports, Miss Doris Scott, young local resident, promised Clarence Newkirk a year ago that she would not go out with any one else. In making the promise, Miss Scott reportedly agreed with Newkirk that if either she or he broke the pact, the violation would be considered grounds for shooting.

Early Sunday night, sheriff's deputies received a phone call from Newkirk advising them "I've shot my woman and I am going back to my house to wait for you, Meet me there."

When officers arrived at Newkirk's residence on Gordon Road, they found him waiting, with Miss Scott lying nearby dying.

Newkirk reportedly told officers that when he found that Miss Scott has allegedly been out with someone else he told her "well, I'm keeping my part of the agreement," before shooting her.

Miss Scott died about an hour after Newkirk "kept his part" of the fatal pledge. The man is being held here now on a charge of murder.

Nursing School Closed After 24 Years' Service

GREENSBORO—Commencement exercises held Monday night in which 16 nurses were graduated marked "finis" to the 24-year-long tenure of service given the nursing profession in the state by the L. Richardson Memorial Hospital School of Nursing here.

Hence, student nurses will pursue courses at the school of nursing which is being established at A&T College here and which will begin operations this year.

Miss Louise Alexander, associate professor of political science at Women's College, gave the commencement address. The exercises were in the Little Theater at Bennett College.

Andrew Joyner, chairman of the hospital's board of trustees, presided at the graduation. Joyner also introduced Miss Alexander. Mrs. Esther Barnes, a member of the board of trustees, presented the diplomas. School pins were presented by Mrs. T. Credit Cobb, director of nurses at the hospital.

Miss M. T. Croon presented awards to the graduates.

Sunday the class members attended a baccalaureate service at the St. James Presbyterian Church. Rev. J. T. Douglas, pastor of the church, preached the baccalaureate sermon.

Those graduating were Misses Christine Colwell of Clinton, Mildred Lee Cummings of Sedalia, Alice Yvonne Downing of Portsmouth, Va., Irma Brown Matchett of Mooresville, Gloria Brown Mounzon of Charleston, S. C., Ethel Grace Rich of Clinton, Pessie Jean Simon of Newton and Hazeline Spencer of Greensboro.

Also, Misses Helen Naomi Smith of Angulus, S. C., Lula Maryland Smith of Albemarle, Catherine Meadows Thompson of Greensboro, Mamie Marie Villines of Eudora Mills, Callie Elneda Wil-

Last Rites For Dr. Ranson

OXFORD—Funeral services for Dr. Eugene Theopolis Ranson, noted pharmacist, Legionaire and Shriner, were held from First Baptist Church here on Sunday afternoon, August 30, with the Rev. T. E. Parker delivering the eulogy.

A native of Franklinton, Dr. Ranson was a graduate of the school of pharmacy of Shaw University and a veteran of World War I.

He was a member of the Staff of the State Health Department for a number of years, a member of the American Legion, a member of Blooming Star Lodge No. 53, a member of Henderson Consistory No. 195, Past Potentate, Imran Temple No. 168, chairman of the Trustee Board, First Baptist Church and chairman of the Sick Committee of the First Baptist Church.

FWB Church Sessions Set

MOUNT OLIVE—The first educational rally for 1953 of the original Free Will Baptist Eastern Conference is scheduled to be held at the Union Star FWB Church, Clinton, on Labor Day, Monday, September 7.

Officers of the conference include the Rev. W. W. Askew, general moderator; Rev. T. T. Platt, annual moderator; Rev. A. B. Parker, secretary; Mrs. Mary D. Kornegay, educational chairman; Mrs. Pearl Felix, secretary; and Mrs. Mary Tyson, assistant secretary.

Body Is Identified

WINSTON-SALEM—The badly decomposed body of a man found in a woods near the intersection of U.S. 311 and Mickey Mill Road Sunday morning has been identified as William Singleton.

The elderly man, who resided with a son, William Singleton Jr., of C-80 Carver Road, disappeared from the home six days ago. Members of the family said that he frequently took walks in the woods with several dogs.

Dr. W. N. Dalton, Forsyth County Coroner, said that there was no evidence of foul play. Death, he said apparently was due to a heart attack.

Singleton was a native of Charleston, S. C., but had resided in Winston-Salem some 40 years.

Nurse School Head Named

GREENSBORO—Dr. F. D. Bluford, president of A. and T. College announced Monday that Mrs. Willetta S. Jones of Deep River, Conn., has been named director of the college's new school of nursing.

Mrs. Jones, who has been an instructor at Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and New York City, arrived in Greensboro Monday to go over plans with Dr. Bluford for the inauguration of the new instructional program at A. and T.

She will officially begin her duties as director September 14 when the fall term begins at the college.
