Enfield Flower Garden Club Holds Yearly Show

By J. B. HARRIS
ENFIELD — Members of the Enfield Flower Garden Club held their annual flower show recently with a display of several varieties of plants in the chapel of the Co-field Funeral Parlor, Mrs. H. L. Dixon is club president and Mrs. L. S. Vaughn was chairman of the show.

A member of the state garden club group, the local club has cooperated with the Brick School Flower Club in previous years, both having been coached by Prof. Simms, a horticulturist of note, of Hampton Va. Other members taking part included Mesdames Anna Rogers, Wila Johnson, Martina Harvey, Marie Coffield, Eullia Francis, E. B. Ashley, Margaret Scott and Miss R. D. Whitworth.

BRICK HONORS MRS. McLEAN
Franklynton Center (formerly Brick Rural Life School), directed by the Rev. Sanderson, bid an official adieu to the Nell A. McLean family which has been at the school, founded by the late T. S. Inborden, since 1893. Specifically, the "good bye party" was for Mrs. Iva J. McLean and the children who are expected to depart ere long for their spacious farm home up the James River near Cappahosic, Va., near the ancestral home of the late Dr. Robert R. Moten of Tuskegee Institute fame. Mr. McLean, Sr., will remain at Bricks, where he has been engaged in teaching in the public school since relinquishing control of Brick to Sanderson—the first white man to head the institution during its sixty-year history.

Words of tribute were paid the McLeans, whose elder son, Nell A. Jr., is a Hampton Institute student. Mrs. McLean served for many years as postmistress at Bricks, as well as secretary of the

NEW YORK (GLOBAL) — Contests, and still more contests. Miss Transit, Miss Harlem, Miss Press, Photographer, Miss Fifth Avenue, Miss Subway. They all add up to make us conscious of beauty, but few people realize that a home winner has to be more than just pretty and shapely. Just as Julius J. Adams reported last week in his "Harlem Confidential" appearing in the Age Defender, there are some girls who aspire to be models and who are most lovely until they open their mouths and spoil the whole picture with their bad grammar. Wonder why more of us don't like some of the special lessons in grammar, speech and public speaking that can be had for a "song" these days. One can hardly pick up a magazine without finding some reference made to the importance of correct speech in our everyday lives.

Charm

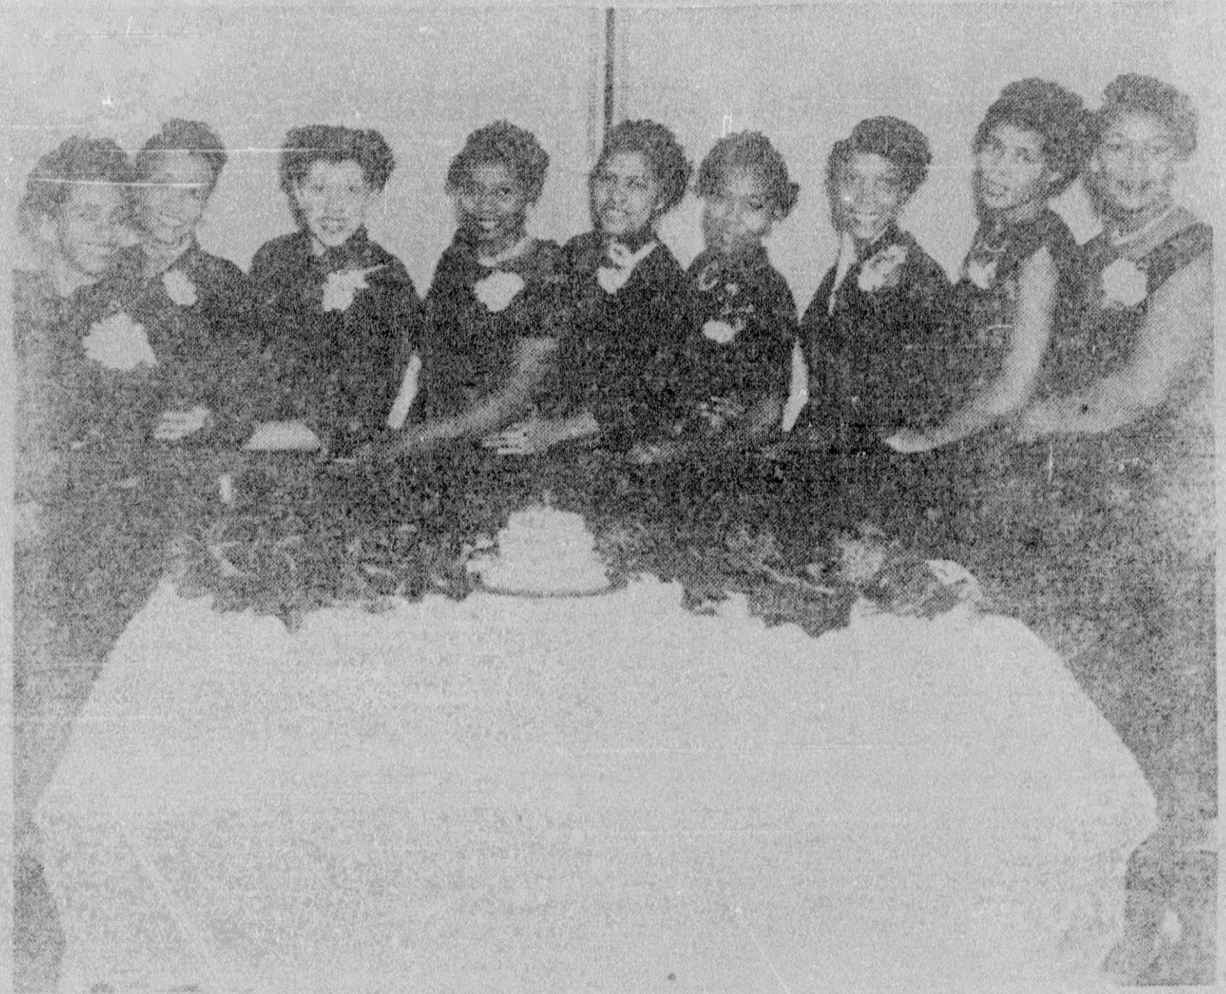

NEW YORK (GLOBAL) — The shampoo comb is hair beauty magic. Infants profit by the use of the fine-tooth comb, not only lady, each night the hair should be combed with the regular size comb and brushed with a hundred or more strokes. The shampoo comb should be used next to clear out the deposited dirt, oil, and dust, whose removal could not be accomplished by the finger two processes. If the hair is then oiled lightly and put up in ring curls, it can be groomed very prettily the next morning.

QUESTION: Why is it best to transplant perennial flowers in early autumn?
ANSWER: Soon after leaf fall in autumn there is a period of active growth which continues until the ground freezes. If this root growth can take place just after the plants are dug and replanted, the plants will suffer less setback and give better performance next spring and summer.

QUESTION: How can I keep my subfloor timbers from decaying?
ANSWER: Roll roofing or other effective moisture barrier, and on the soil beneath a basementless building, has proved to be a cheap, effective and practical means of reducing crawl-space dampness which frequently leads to decay of subfloor timbers.

QUESTION: Should sink-eye garbage disposal units be installed in suburban and farm homes equipped with septic tanks?
ANSWER: Only if the septic tank has sufficient capacity to handle the extra load. If a garbage disposal unit is attached to a system the capacity should be about one-half more than is needed normally.

VALEDAS OBSERVE 3d BIRTHDAY — The Valeda Society held its third anniversary celebration November 8 at the Chavis Heights Center. An informal dinner followed business discussions, at the home of Mrs. Glauys Pemberton of Chavis Way. The Valeda Social Club has made numerous contributions to the United Fund and are planning to give a bas-

The Family Roundtable

NEW YORK (GLOBAL) — Dear Miss Bell:
My husband died last April. We had been married 25 years. I had never published about my business because I trusted him. I even gave him the rent, which was mine in form. When I found out my name had been on the lease, I was shocked. Now I had to add the house and rebuild it, and left my name off of the deed. Also, I find that he left the house to his niece and I cannot get anything out of it. The house from the house is to be the house. He never showed me any money, but gave it to his niece. I cannot get anything out of it. Everything is his niece's.
What can be done? Please try to help me in some way.
