METHOD NEWS NOTES

BY MISS DORA D. STROUD

METHOD -- Sunday before last was a very inclement day so Rev. Harvey Haywood failed to have as large an audience as he usually does.

Those who defied the rain and came out were greatly benefited by his golden words of wisdom from God's word, "Let us begin to go to church service, though bad weather like we go to our jobs."

The harvest to be reaped from looking after the things of God is so much greater than the material side of life. We must have both, but let us remember to give Him our best service through rain and sunshine.

Sunday afternoon, Feb. 9, Rev. L. S. Penn and his choir from St. Paul A.M.E. Church, Raleigh, rendered services at St. James A.M.E. Church here. All friends and members of St. James were urged to attend this service.

The missionary circle of St. James met at the home Sunday afternoon.

OUR SICK

Mrs. Dicy Alston has been confined to her home with influenza for the past week. She is much improved in this writing. We hope she is recovering.

ON THE JOB IN D. C.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Deborah Jean Sorrell celebrated her 6th birthday recently. Many of her little friends were present to make the event an enjoyable one for the little Miss.

Cake, ice cream, candies, punch and nuts were served.

Deborah, many more happy birthdays. Mr. and Mrs. John Sorrell are the parents of Deborah Jean.

Rev. Warren filled his appointment at Oak City Baptist Church as he always does on the 2nd Sunday in each month. The Community Junior Choir served with delightful music each 2nd Sunday.

At 5:30 p. m. Rev. L. S. Penn, his choir and some of his members of Raleigh, rendered service

Teachers, Leaders Training Meeting Set

Thirty 4-H Club leaders from throughout Jones County attended the first teacher leaders training meeting of the year at Jones County Training School in Pottersville recently.

The meeting was arranged through the cooperation of the Agriculture Extension Service and the county school officials.

J. A. Spaulding, Southeastern district Agent was the principal speaker. He pointed out very clearly the purposes and objectives of the 4-H club in the Nation, State and county.

Spaulding said that "teacher leaders are engaged in the tremendous job of building a program. Others cooperate on the program." He said that the program was for L. E. Thurman, former President of the Jones County Board of Education, and Mr. A. H. Bryant, Principal of Trenton Elementary School.

VAIN TRY -- Unnerved by the nearness of three top basketball "tough boys," Boston Celtics star, Bill Sharman, scored this lay-up shot. Converging at left is New York Knickerbocker, Carl Braun, to be joined by teammate Gene Shue. (9) and Pat "overseer" Clifton (8). With the trio's help, the Knicks rolled over the Celtics in a recent game at the 68th Regiment Armory in New York. (Newspress Photo)
