Rev. Otis L. Hairston Asks Raleigh Presbyterians, Does Christianity Work?

BY STAFF WRITER

Rev. Otis L. Hairston, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and pastor of the Baptist Book Store, was the guest speaker at the 10th Annual Presbyterian Church Sunday, February 14.

Rev. Hairston's subject was "Does Christianity Work?" He said that the answer to this question is "No, it does not work." He said that the only way that Christianity can work is if it is based on love.

which prevents our pupils from developing their talents, giving the world maximum contributions."

"In race relations we need to apply love. The law cannot make us brothers. We will have to accept that ourselves. Until we look and accept the fact that God is the father of all men and consequently all men are brothers, there will be no good race relations."

"We should accept and apply the Golden Rule: Do Unto Others As You Would Have Them Do Unto You. We can't have any brotherhood until this is done."

Sister Sues Policeman Who Killed Her Brother
CHICAGO (AP)—A local woman who shot a man now has a $10,000 suit filed by the state in her name.

Mrs. Sarah E. Davis, 28-year-old sister of Henry Blackwell, 25, filed the suit in Federal court just weeks after the policeman, Lawrence Johnson, 32, recently killed her brother.

The latter was described as an innocent bystander in a tavern brawl.

According to Mrs. Davis, Blackwell protested when he was ordered to stand in line with the other men in the brawl.
