Local Baha'i Join National Group In Appeals To Iran

WILMETTE, Ill. — Appeals have been made to the Shah and the Prime Minister of Iran by hundreds of local Baha'i groups throughout the United States, supplementing the appeals made by the National Baha'i Administrative Body.

"Appeals are pointing in on the Iranian government from many countries, calling for justice and protection of the persecuted faith in that land," the announcement states.

"This persecution is no mere domestic matter, but has produced worldwide concern."

"The sacred writings of the faith were given out by its founder, Bahaullah, after his exile from Iran, birth place of the new world religion and scene of the martyrdom of thousands of devoted followers."

"Statesmen and scholars of other lands have studied its teachings and lauded its principles which have become the basis for much current thinking," the Assembly explained.

"The study of Baha'i teachings outside Iran was noted by Arnold Toynbee in his famous work, 'A Study of History'.

"It is already apparent that this bitter expression of persecution and expatriation has served the infant religion in good stead, for it has thereby been driven into looking beyond the Mediterranean and the Atlantic for new words to conquer."
