On Russian Tour:

Dr. W. E. Reed Of A & T To Address Raleigh Seminar At State College Sept. 26

GREENSBORO — The active interest of the American public in Russian affairs has been demonstrated in the thousands of checking engagements of Dr. W. E. Reed, dean of the School of Agriculture at A & T College, who recently visited the country. Dr. Reed, a member of a 12-man American farm group, spent nearly 20 days in the U. S. S. R. visiting every section covering a total of over 17,000 miles in the tour. He returned and since that time has been to the States three weeks ago busy answering requests for speaking engagements. He has already made two television appearances, spoke at a public mass meeting in Greensboro, sponsored by the Greensboro Citizen Committee, the 1954 Committee ad-

Lawn Rites Unites Pair In Alamance

In an impressive double ring ceremony on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Thelma Lee Compton and Raymond Eugene B. Horton exchanged marital vows recently.

REV. AND MRS. I. B. HORTON of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Compton, Sr., of Burlington. The bridegroom is the youngest son of Rev. and Mrs. Avery Horton of Raleigh. The groom's father officiated, and Mr. Clarence Compton, Jr., brother of the bride, presented readings of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waist-length gown of egg-shell lace with a portrait neckline and fitted bodice over white satin made by Miss Theresa Morton of Oxford. Her shoes and gloves were also of matching lace. The bride's shoulder length veil of matching lace, designed by Mrs. Lena Gates of Durham, was attached to a half crown pointed cap of lace and pearl beads. She carried a white Etoile covered with natural orchid and lily of the valley with fern and satin ribbons.

Miss Mary Campfoot, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of rose antique taffeta fashioned like the bride's.

The Rev. William Hill of Raleigh served as best man.

The groom's mother chose a navy and pink dress of net and lace over taffeta, with a pink hat.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a navy and light blue antique taffeta dress with a navy hat. Both cor-

BY MRS. MAY L. BROADIE It was the Savior who urged that our faith in Him be childlike for He said "Except ye be converted and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven."

At First Baptist Church 1387 Sunday the morning message was brought by the pastor, Dr. O. S. Bullock, accompanied by the Misses Jones Christ and the Tots Choir, under the direction of Mrs. E. M. M. Kelly and Mrs. Helen Williams.

The sermon was full of spiritual food. Soloist was Miss Ernestine Laws. Many visitors were present to enjoy the services.

Next Sunday the morning sermon, which is Woman's Day, will begin promptly at 10:45 a. m.

The Booker T. Washington Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Solie Gray, Sunday at 4 p. m. There will be a brief Homecoming program. All members and friends are urged to be present. Mr. John Chavis is president.

Mr. George Wall of Buffalo, N. Y. was the house guest of Mrs. Henry Thompson, Jr. over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lashon Woods of New York City, have returned home after spending a few days in the city. While here they were the sages worn by the mothers were of white chrysanthemums with pink ribbon and net.

Madames Lessie Byrd, Lucille Teal and Ann Goode assisted in serving the one-hundred and five guests present. Madames Ester Taylor and Ruth Harris greeted the guests in the gift room.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception given at the home. The couple left later for a short trip.

The bride, a graduate of the North Carolina Sanatorium School of Nursing, is presently employed at the Veterans Hospital in Durham. The groom received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Shaw University and is now a student in the School of Religion there.
