Says Older Brother Beat Him

FAYETTEVILLE — Police are holding Arthur Lee Singleton, 15, on a charge of murder after his brother Joseph, 22, died of a shotgun wound in the chest Saturday night.

The youth reportedly admitted firing the blast which killed his older brother, city police say. According to them, the boy told them that he fired on his brother after a fight at their home about 10 p.m. Saturday. They say he told them that his brother had been Orchids this week to the staff of "The Tattler," student publication of the J. W. Ligon Jr.-Sr. High School for its excellence in winning an award showing it to be the second best printed junior-senior high school newspaper in a contest sponsored by Columbia University of New York. The award to the Ligon student paper has national significance because student publications from over the country were entered in this contest.

Prof. Carl Devane, head of the Dept. of Social Sciences at Shaw University, has recently returned from a meeting of the Southeastern Regional Conference of the NAACP. Commenting on his impressions of this meeting which was held in Charleston, S. C., Mr. Devane said that it was plainly evident from the expressions and actions of the delegates there that a "new Negro" has arisen in the

TORNADO DAMAGE SCENES — A CAROLINIAN cameraman visited the Garner area early this week and recorded the above scenes of a tornado's destruction. The storm struck

Sunday. In the top photo is the residence of Wilbur Leach. The roof was blown from the building and Leach's mother, Mrs. Ophelia Leach, received minor injuries. The bottom photo shows the "500 Club," a Garner night spot, located next to the Leach home which was also damaged severely by the storm. The "500 Club" was not insured. STAFF PHOTOS BY CHAS. R. JONES.

Garner 'Twister' Also Hits Homes

GARNER—The "500 Club," a night spot, owned by C. I. (Joe) Hinton, was wrecked by a tornado last Sunday afternoon, while numerous private dwellings suffered tremendous damages.

The residence of Wilbur Leach, located next door to the "500 Club" was perhaps the hardest hit private dwelling. The roof of the structure blew away and landed in a field near the house.

The tornado, one of four which visited Eastern North Carolina, struck about 3:30 p.m. and Leach's mother, Mrs. Ophelia Leach, reported receiving minor injuries when the roof was torn away. She did not require hospitalization, however.

Leach said, "We were watching television when a bolt of lightning hit nearby. I turned off the set, grabbed my two kids, ages 2 and 5, and rushed into the bedroom. My mother followed us there.

There was an awful noise, following close behind the trembling of the house. The roof was suddenly taken off and the pres-

Methodist Majority For Desegregation

CHICAGO—More than half of the Methodists questioned in a nationwide poll believe that there should be no segregation in their churches.

The Christian Advocate, official news organ of the denomination, published the results in a recent issue. The poll was conducted by Dr. Murray H. Leifer of Evanston, Ill., director of social and religious research at the Garrett Biblical Institute.

When the church's General Conference meets in Minneapolis, April 25 to May 9, the question of "ECONOMIC SQUEEZE" VICTIMS GET AID — SUMMERTON, S. C. — Three truckloads of food and clothing have been sent here to aid Negroes affected by "economic pressures," the Rev. E. E. Richburg announced on Friday.

The food and clothing which have been distributed among eight local families, came from the Clarendon County Emergency Clubs of Philadelphia and New York.

to local residents by city officials last week.

The course was ordered open to all citizens a month ago, but since that time, many players, some from as far away as Danville, Va. have been using the facility, according to W. B. Stronach, parks director. This, he said, added an unusually "heavy burden."

START PRIVATE SCHOOL MOVE, NOW LAKE URGES — HILLSBORO—Speaking before a meeting of the Orange County Chapter of Patriots of North Carolina, Park golf course was restricted ollina, Inc., former assistant attorney general I. Beverly Lake said that Gov. Hodges should call an immediate special session of the legislature to set up a procedure for private schools.

"Since we must vote on an amendment abolishing public schools before we can adopt private ones," he said, "we should have a special session immediately. The vote must be taken during a general election, so we must act quickly in order to vote on it this fall."

Convict White Woman For Death Of Airman

ANCHORAGE, Alaska—A federal court jury of seven men and five women has convicted Mrs. Helen Virginia Smith, 30-year-old white housewife, of manslaughter in the fatal stabbing of Specialist 3-C Charles A. Hart, 26, after he had asked her for a dance in a local bar on Dec. 3.

Mrs. Smith, along with Airman 3-C Charles Hinton, had been charged with second degree murder in the death of Hart, a native of Clinton, S. C. The jury acquitted Hinton. It had deliberated for more than two days after a 12-day trial.

The government alleged that Hart died of one stab wound in the heart and five in the back, contending that the woman followed him from the bar and inflicted additional wounds. Hart was found dead in an alley outside.

U. S. Attorney William Plummer told the jury: "Everyone heard her say 'I killed him.' Plummer said that Mrs. Smith was quoted as having said she would dance with Hart and that she then stabbed him as she brought her arm around him in a dancing position.

Entertainment, Free Food Baskets, Other Prizes To Be Featured At Gala 2-Day Event

The management of the CAROLINIAN announced this week that plans are almost complete for the showing of the biggest array of home appliances and the most complete demonstration of food preparation ever witnessed in Raleigh, when the 4th annual Food Show and Homemakers Exposition gets underway at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium, Thursday, March 29.

The two-day gala affair begins at 11 a.m., when Home Economic classes from high schools, within 60 miles of Raleigh, will be guests of the show. The morning shows are especially designed for high school classes and their teachers. These shows are scheduled to prove highly helpful to the several classes that are expected to attend.

The second show will open daily at 2 P.M. At this time all of the housewives who do not work and any other interested persons are invited to be present. The evening show will start at 8 P.M. The management has added a new feature this year, in that some of the most outstanding singing groups in the state will match their talents in a songfest. They will be vying for $100.00 worth of prizes. The elimination session will be held on Thursday night, when the four best groups will be determined by popular acclaim with the audience making the decisions. The winners will then meet in the battle of the year, on

Teachers Open 3-Day Session

DR. IRA De A. REID

RALEIGH—The Diamond Jubilee Anniversary Convention of the North Carolina Teachers Association meeting here March 22, 23, and 24, will be featured by citations to past presidents and outstanding leaders in a program feature worked out by a special committee of which C. L. Blake, principal, West Charlotte Senior High School, is chairman.

This will be a feature of the public session Friday evening, March 23rd.

The Convention theme, "Education for the Rights and Responsibilities of American Citizenship" will be reflected in outstanding addresses at two public sessions in the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium. On Thursday evening, March 22, Dr. Mark C. Schinnerer, Superintendent of Schools, Cleveland, Ohio, will use the subject, "The Responsibility of the Teacher in Public Relations."

Winning Public Support — Dr. Schinnerer has made notable achievement in this area and those who hear him may expect to get a new idea of the teacher's role in winning public support for improvements in public education.

An orchestra group representing Raleigh City Schools under the direction of Mrs. Josephine Boulware will present a concert feature beginning at 7:30 P. M. preceding the Thursday evening session. This session will also feature the president's annual message by Mrs. Ida H. Duncan, NCTA president.

The general session on Friday evening, March 23, will feature Dr. Ira De A. Reid in an address
