sent its seventh anniversary program Sunday night at 7:30 at the Lucille Hunter School Auditorium. Shown kneeling, left in right, are Edward Hall, 2nd lead-

"Sensational Evening Five" Quintet Plans 7th Anniversary Program Here

The "Sensational Evening Five" Quintet of Raleigh will observe their 7th anniversary Sunday night, Nov. 4, with a program at the Lucille Hunter School in which eleven other groups are scheduled to participate. The doors will open at 6:30 p. m. and singing will begin promptly at 7:30.

Ed Hall, leader of the group, told the CAROLINIAN that ticket sales indicate an overflow audience will be in attendance at the affair.

Members of the Evening Five are Ed Hall, Eugene Brown, William Giles, William Scarborough, William Banks, Jr. and Cecil Harris.

Other groups who will appear on this program are the Mighty Five Rising Stars of Creedwood, the Harmonizing Four of WVCC in Wilson, Fields Sisters, Durham, Gospel Jubilees of Raleigh, The Great Silver Echoes, Garner, The Interns, Durham; the Capital City Five, Raleigh; Southerners, Raleigh; Maple Temple Chorus, Sister Gary's New All-Girls Chorus, the Harmonettes of Wake County, and many others.

Prizes will be awarded to the tallest man and shortest woman, the best dressed quartet (excluding the Evening Five), and the person sitting in the lucky seat.

Masters of ceremony will be J. D. Lewis of WRAT, Raleigh; Jimmy Byrd of WSRB, Durham, and Sam Harris, WFVG, Fuquay, where the Evening Five broadcasts each Sunday morning at 7:30.

Approximately 1,000 persons are expected to jam the auditorium of the Lucille Hunter School to observe the Evening Five, rated as one of this state's best and best-dressed quartets, climax seven years of singing in Raleigh, the state and other adjoining states. Indications are that many Raleighites and others plan to present their favorite members of this group with presents and other tokens of love and esteem.

ODDS & ENDS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) he feels he can expect from these candidates that will help to alleviate his wretched condition and obtain for him the freedom and privileges so freely accorded all the other citizens of this country.

Negro migration from the South has carried millions of black folk northward but the great bulk of the Negro population still is here in the South. It is in the South that the Negro faces his hardest battle for freedom, civil rights so-called. It is in the South where the Democratic party, grown fat and arrogant by its long, unchallenged reign, has stubbornly resisted the Negro plea and has carved into resistance into open defiance of even the U. S. Supreme Court. Of all the unhappy consequences of this terrible situation, is the fact that the Congress of the United States is dominated and controlled by these intolerant southern Democrats.

Now to get back to the presidential candidate, President Eisenhower, candidate to succeed himself might merit reelection on the overall record he has achieved during his present tenure, but as we have already said, the Negro voter must look beyond what is best for the country and think in terms of himself.

Mr. Eisenhower has by his action on some occasions, shown himself as favoring the anti-segregation edict of the U. S. Supreme Court. There is nothing to indicate his disapproval of that ruling. There is nothing to indicate that the National Republican Party which Mr. Eisenhower represents, and heads, is opposed to this ruling by the Court. On the other hand, even though the Democratic presidential nominee, as we believe, fully qualified to administer the duties of office of president, it is strange to us and a many thousand thinking Negroes that Mr. Stevenson, the Democratic standard bearer, has received the wholehearted endorsement of such known race-baiters as Gov. Hodges, Senator Erwin, Judge Rodman, Pearsall, Larken, Worthington and other white supremacists in this state to say nothing of the support and endorsement of the group of hate mongers in the other Southern states.

The mere fact that all of these rabid apostles of intolerance are so enthusiastic in their support of Mr. Stevenson lends credence to the statement of a leading South Carolina racist who last week said that the South was supporting Mr. Stevenson because he (Mr. Stevenson) had given the South some assurance he would do nothing that would offend the South if he were elected president.

With this type of evidence before him, it is hard to believe that the Negro voter can or will cast a vote for Mr. Stevenson or for any other candidate of the Democratic Party.

On the state level, there is not a single Negro in this state who has not been shocked at the brazen way the Democratic office holders have insulted and run roughshod over their legal rights, closed (and locked every door to their economic freedom, stand accused

Dr. Johnson served his nation in many capacities. He was a member of the international commission of the League of Nations to investigate slavery and forced labor in Liberia. After World War II, he was appointed to the commission charged with reorganizing the educational system of Japan along democratic lines. He was American delegate to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, and last year was elected president of UNESCO conference on race and race relations. He also served on several presidential commissions.

He was also a director of the Julius Rosewald Fund, a past president of the Southern Sociological Society, a member of the executive committee of the American Sociological Society, in name but a few of the many posts of high responsibility which he held. President Johnson was awarded honorary doctorates by Virginia Union University, his alma mater, Howard University, Harvard University, the University of Glasgow, Scotland and Lincoln University of Pennsylvania.

He is survived by Marie Antoinette Burgette Johnson, his wife, three sons, one daughter, three sisters and five grandchildren.

According to the testimony, Smith, after agreeing to reimburse Davis for the money which the latter had spent for whiskey, sought to run off. Davis was quoted as saying that he caught up with Smith, lunged at him and struck him over the head with his fist.

The blow felled Smith, knocking him unconscious. He was taken to his home and later to L. Richardson Hospital where he died five days later of a skull fracture. Officers said that Davis at first claimed that he found Smith lying in a ditch, beaten. He later changed his story, the officers testified, and the second story was corroborated by other witnesses.

The Army reply, dated Oct. 16, showed segregated courses by the University of Georgia were dropped at Fort Benning, Ga., last summer and resumed in downtown Columbus, Ga. At Fort Jackson, S. C., and Fort Gordon, Ga., classes were discontinued and the Army indicated no action to resume them, either off the post or on.

Non-segregated classes are conducted at Fort Rucker, Ala., Fort Campbell, Ky., and Fort Bragg, N. C., the Army said. It reported no on-post classes are conducted at three other Southern installations — Fort McClellan, Ala., Fort McPherson, Ga., and Fort Seward, Ga. Sen. Lehman said that he hoped the Air Force would take similar action. He said that he received a complaint 10 months ago that Negroes at Donaldson Air Force Base at Greenville, S. C., were unable to take courses conducted on the base by the University of South Carolina.

Mrs. Thomas, who lives at 213 Beauty Ave., on the edge of Joe Louis Park, described her daughter as a "God-fearing child," and as a member of the junior choir at Young's Chapel CME Church. The mother is the director of this choir.

Alice Joy, a ninth grade student at Ligon, reportedly went off to school as usual on the day of her disappearance, with her sister, Maxine, 14. She was last seen by Maxine standing at her locker in the hall at Ligon conversing with a boy of ill repute. No one has seen her since.

"My girl is very quiet and very nervous. She must be scared to death wherever she is," Mrs. Thomas told this reporter in a trembling voice.

Upon learning the identity of the boy, which was not made known to this reporter, the mother proceeded to his home to ask of his whereabouts. "His mother was very unconcerned about the whole thing," she said. "She told me she was certain that my daughter was not with her son, although she didn't know where the boy was."

Following this short visit with the boy's mother, Mrs. Thomas solicited the aid of the police. She has called constantly to find if any trace has been found of the daughter, but was informed as late as Wednesday of this week that the investigation is continuing.

"When last seen, Alice was wearing a white sweater, thin cream-colored blouse, blue shirt, yellow Bermuda socks and black loafers. She is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 117 pounds and is of olive complexion.

Anyone having information as to her whereabouts are urged to contact the local police department at once.

NO ONE AT HEARING

In Raleigh, no opposition to the proposed fare increase was voiced at the commission hearing. City Coach is asking authority to sell books of seven tickets for a dollar instead of the present fare of four tickets for 50 cents.

In his telegram, Anderson said in part: "The Negroes who must bear the brunt of such an increase, bitterly protest and demand a hearing otherwise we will organize a boycott. I promise you." Efforts to reach him later for comment were unsuccessful.

Jeffrey Grove School News

The monthly P.T.A. meeting was held Monday night, Oct. 22 with the president, Mr. Charlie King, presiding. Mrs. W. C. Davenport, W. A. K. County farm agent, spoke to the members on "Understanding the Adolescent." Both groups reassembled where a summary was given. The discussions were very timely and enjoyable.

Rev. D. H. Howard from the Occaneechee Council of Boy Scouts was present. He told the P.T.A. of the great need for volunteer workers with the Boy Scouts in our community. Club mother is Mrs. Grissom. Other volunteer workers are Mr. Leroy Rayford and Mr. Robert Rayford.

Mrs. Smith's sixth grade is very busy working on the basic skills. All members are working on our class unit, "People and Progress."

We are studying progress in travel, transportation and other modes of living.

Mary Joyce Luford was crowned "Queen of Halloween." Most of us worked very hard with our teacher in order that our class might receive this honor.

The following members belong to the "Perfect Attendance Club": Bessie Burton, Mable Jackson, Jessie Mitchell, Mingle Webster, Delores Jones, James Malone and Otis Dunn.

Drop Elevator Jim Crow After Court Victory

BIRMINGHAM — (AP) — A report says that a downtown office building has abandoned its previous "racial segregation practices" on elevators since a police court acquitted a local Baptist minister of disorderly conduct charges after he defied the Jim Crow practices.

The Rev. Mr. Nelson was arrested on the seventh floor of the building, after the elevator operator refused to carry him to the first floor.
