Ga. U. Chancellor Would Drop Bars

ATLANTA—Harmon W. Caldwell, chancellor of the University System of Georgia testified in federal court Tuesday that it would be his policy in the future to rule that qualified Negroes would be eligible to enter white Georgia colleges.

Testifying in the second day of Horace Ward's suit to gain admission to the law school of the University of Georgia, Caldwell said that he would base such qualifications to the State Board of Regents and say:

"In my opinion, this person is eligible for admission and you can take it from there." Caldwell's testimony further brought out the state's position that there is no constitutional provision in Georgia that Negroes cannot go to white institutions of higher learning.

He said that there is a constitutional provision regarding public schools but that, contrary to his previous understanding, he had learned in recent years that the law did not extend to colleges and universities.

Could Cut Off Aid He added, however, that there

Jail NAACP Man 2 Hours

ATLANTA—The Atlanta branch president of the NAACP agreed to open records of the local chapter to the state after spending more than two hours in jail.

John H. Calhoun consented to the move after Judge Durwood T. Pyle of Fulton Superior Court ordered him held without bond in jail until he produced financial records of the organization for state revenue agents.

Calhoun was released into the custody of a deputy sheriff and accompanied revenue agents to NAACP headquarters. Investigators immediately began making a listing of all material.

William Shickland, who headed revenue agents seeking to inspect NAACP records for tax-levying purposes, said a detailed audit would be impossible in one evening.

In court a few hours before this development Pyle levied a fine of $25,000 on the NAACP and gave
