76th Meeting Of Teachers At Charlotte

CHARLOTTE — Several outstanding educators are scheduled to participate in the 76th annual convention of the North Carolina Teachers Association which opened here on Wednesday and will continue through Saturday.

The first public session will be held in the auditorium of Charlotte's Northwest Junior High School. A band concert will precede the general program. Music for all the convention sessions will be rendered by groups representing schools and colleges in Charlotte.

The guest speaker for the session on Thursday evening, April 11, will be Dr. Martin W. Essex, Superintendent of Akron, Ohio schools. Dr. Essex served as chairman of the NEA Committee on Tenure and Academic Freedom during the time when the sponsoring Defense Commission published reports such as "It Happened in Pasadena" and "Mars Hill North Carolina." Dr. Essex is among the nation's leading authorities in the area of teacher personnel policies and academic freedom. His address will follow the president's annual message to the convention by Dr. S. D. Williams, NCTA president.

The public session on Friday evening, April 12, will also be preceded by a band concert. This session will be held in Charlotte's Owens Auditorium. The featured speaker will be Dr. W. J. L. Wallace, president, West Virginia State

ATTORNEY STRESSES POINT

Raleigh lawyer Herman L. Taylor, right, is shown as he addressed over 75 ministers at an organizational meeting held at the Martin Street Baptist Church last Wednesday. The ministers, who came from throughout the state to participate in a state workshop on civil rights, initiated a long-range program designed to wipe out Jim Crow in every aspect of American life. The Rev. S. F. Daly, president of the group, looks on at left. Conrad Pearson, Durham attorney, also spoke to the clergymen. (STAFF PHOTO BY CHAS. E. JONES.)

Shot Through Door Kills Anson Hubby

WADESBORO — Mrs. Lanie Cason was arrested here Monday and held on a murder charge as the result of the fatal shooting of her husband, Willie B. Cason, 35, Saturday night.

Sheriff Hubert Rayfield, in disclosing the arrest, said that he was informed that Cason had gone to the home, about a mile south of Lileville, late Saturday night and argued with his wife about having left their children at a neighbor's that afternoon. Cason left then returned and allegedly threatened the woman, who refused to admit him to the house.

Police said she then took a small rifle and fired through a

Carolinian Food Show Sets Record

All of the housewives who attended the 5th annual CAROLINIAN Home and Food Show, along with the participating merchants were high in their praise of the affair. It opened Thursday at 2 p.m. and the final session ended about 12:30 Saturday morning. The Raleigh Memorial Auditorium was the scene of all the activities.

The famed "Jabberwock" sponsored by the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority was the high point of the two-day show and was not only highly inspirational, but proved to be exceedingly educational. The skits showed that they had been well-planned and the persons who took part performed like seasoned troopers.

The demonstrations were handled by Mrs. Allene Mints and Miss Nancy Rothrock, Home Service representatives for the Carolina Power & Light Company. The appliances for the kitchen were furnished by Thompson & Lynch, local Philco dealers.

Walker Free; Appeals To State Court

JACKSON — Attorney James R. Walker, Jr., waked out of the Northampton County jail here Monday after he had made a bond in the sum of $750 for assault upon a female to wit words that scared her.

The case has been batted back and forth for some time, with Walker having been jailed twice as the result of his refusal to pay a fine imposed on him by Judge Henry L. Stevens when the case was tried in the local Superior Court. Walker, through his attorney, Samuel Mitchell, noted an appeal from this sentence. The North Carolina Supreme court refused to hear the case, noting that the appeal had not been properly effected.

It was then that trouble started all over for Walker. He was ordered to pay the money and when he refused he was placed in jail. He was released, but found himself again behind the bars when he it is alleged that he was told by an attorney that if he acted like a good n-----, he would get bail. Walker is alleged to have told the man that he was not going to act like the thing that he wanted.

Eyes Wet As Pastor Of 40 Years Resigns

DR. WILSON

BY ALEXANDER BARNES

CONCORD — Tearful eyes and saddened hearts were in evidence here Sunday night when members and friends of Westminster Presbyterian Church turned out to hear what has been termed as the farewell sermon of Dr. H. Wilson, who has pastored the church for 40 years.

Sobbing women and emotional men could not help give vent to their feelings as the service began. Dr. Wilson showed no sign of emotion and acted as if he no longer would proclaim the gospel truths from the pulpit that he has so long expounded from.

4 Dead At Roseboro As Tornado Strikes

ROSEBORO — Tornadoes lashed across the flat sandy Carolina border country Monday night taking at least six lives and leaving nearly 200 injured.

Hundreds were homeless in the wake of the Savage Spring Storms that pelted across the South's "Tornado Alley" of upper Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia before boring up the Carolina's country.

A huge funnel-shaped twister swept over rural farming communities near Maxton and John Station, N. C., near Laurinburg, and splintered 25 homes and a dozen business establishments in the Indian town of Pombeoke, injuring 200.

ODDS-ENDS

BY ROBERT G. SHEPARD

LIQUOR AND THE LAW: Having only a layman's knowledge of the law, we hasten to admit our ignorance of its ramifications and extent. However, once upon a time, someone who was supposed to know, told us that the interpretation of all laws was based on common sense. If that be true, we pick to be enlightened about the verdict rendered in Raleigh's City Court last week in a case involving the alleged selling of whiskey in a

WE WENT AS LONG AS WE COULD

Due to the increase in overall cost and the enlargement of THE CAROLINIAN, it is necessary that its single copy price be raised to 12c in the state and 15c out of North Carolina.

This increase is in effect with this issue. Presently there will be no increase for yearly subscriptions.

JABBERWOCK QUEEN — Miss Wilma Carter, President of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, is shown crowning Miss Denise Perry, Queen of the Jabberwock, which was held at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium in connection with the Carolinian Home and Food Show last week.
