

CATHOLIC SCHOOL INTEGRATION CITED HERE

MISS BARBARA MORGAN

Miss Morgan Featured By A Magazine

Can school integration in the South work? The governors of Arkansas and Virginia say it won't, but the students of Cathedral Latin High School, Raleigh, prove that it does, according to a national Catholic magazine.

Barbara Morgan, 16, of Raleigh, and one of the 22 Negro students at Cathedral Latin High School, was calmly integrated into the student body of 120 students, four years ago. Barbara was "seated" when she started school but soon felt accepted when she was befriended by a white girl.

Just a few months following the Supreme Court's momentous decision in May, 1954, Bishop Vincent S. Waters of Raleigh ordered the

Seawell In Defense Of Court Stand

Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell made an impromptu defense of his stand on the Supreme Court's desegregation decision Friday night before the State Bar Association.

Seawell told the attorneys they "should have no doubt as to what the law of the land is."

He said that the Supreme Court decision is the law and "we in North Carolina are confronted with facts not with figures at this time."

Dr. I. Beverly Lake, former assistant attorney general in the principal speech, said that the decision is the law of the land "only in the sense of the false doctrine that the judges do in fact."

He urged the lawyers to join him in "unflinching determination" to oppose the theory that the desegregation decision is the law of the land.

New Catholic Pope Son Of Farm Parents

VATICAN CITY — An Italian, skilled in Vatican diplomacy, Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, was elected Pope Tuesday night.

He has chosen to reign under the name Pope John XXIII.

St. Peter's church bells and bells of 500 other Roman churches rang out a carol of triumph. Pope John succeeds Pope Pius XII who died recently.

Hundreds of thousands of people in St. Peter's Square roared an ovation at the Patriarch of Venice became Pope at the age of 76.

His election ended three days of intense suspense, centering around a deadlocked conclave, gathered to choose a successor to Pope Pius.

The new Pope has been described as a jovial prelate, but has never hesitated to make his views known, even when they might be unpopular.

He is the son of a modest farm

Parents Sue Va. Governor Ike Ignores Youth

Plays Golf As Students Seek Talks

WASHINGTON — Leaders of a "youth march for integrated schools" failed Saturday in an attempt to get through the White House gates to deliver a statement to President Eisenhower. The group, which included singer Harry Belafonte, went to the White House as students from the fourth grade through college marched down Constitution Avenue to the Lincoln Memorial. A spokesman said about 6,000 students had been scheduled to participate.

Those who appeared at the White House were barred by White House police as a large crowd gathered. Harlan Joyce, a white college student from Orangeburg, S. C., first asked the police that he be taken to the Chief Executive.

When the police politely declined the request, Joyce asked that he and the others be taken to the

Long Terms Ordered In Halifax Case

HALIFAX — Two men were sentenced Friday to 25-30 years in prison for robbing and beating a 73-year-old Hobgood farmer this summer.

Walter Smith, 35, and William Ogburn, 33, both of the Scotland Neck area were convicted of second-degree burglary and larceny. They received 12-year sentences on the larceny charges to run concurrently with the burglary sentences.

Both gave notice of appeal after their sentences were announced at the end of a four-day trial in Halifax County Superior Court. Both men had pleaded innocent.

They had originally been charged with first-degree burglary in the beating and theft of $136 from C. C. Tynes on the night of Aug. 25. Judge J. Paul Frizzelle fixed appeal bond at $30,000 each. They were unable to raise that amount.

Witnesses testified that the two men forced their way into Tynes' home after shouting that another person was in distress on a nearby highway. Tynes said Smith held a shotgun on him while Ogburn hit him with his fists and later with a blackjack.

Dr. King Honored Upon Return To Montgomery

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Integration leaders honored a mending Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., Monday night with a "tangible expression of our love."

King, recovering from a stab wound inflicted by a woman in a Harlem department store Sept. 13, arrived here by plane Friday to be welcomed by some 100 Negroes amid cheers and tears.

Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, pastor of the First Baptist Church, headed the welcoming delegation and promised "tangible expression of our love will come later."

Abernathy, one of King's lieutenants in their integration fight, told the group "we are thankful for God sparing the life of Rev. King. Your return will give us additional strength to continue our struggle."

King told the group "we live in a time in which deeds of awful consequences have become possible. I have had time to think while recovering and I believe

Almond, Two Others Are Being Sued

NORFOLK, VA. — White parents in Norfolk filed suit in federal district court Monday asking that this port city's six integration-closed schools be returned to local control so the plaintiffs' children can be educated.

The suit, named Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, State Atty. Gen. Albert S. Harrison, Jr., Norfolk school superintendent J. J. Brewbaker and each member of the Norfolk school board as defendants.

It was the first direct action taken by white parents in Virginia for return and reopening of schools which have been closed by Virginia anti-integration laws.

The nine white couples who filed the suit, contended their children were being denied equal protection under the law by being deprived of public education.

Winston-Salem Railway Station Robbed By Two

WINSTON-SALEM — Two colored men held up the ticket agent at the Union Railway Station here Friday and escaped with $1,100 in checks and cash.

H. A. Tesh told police he was alone in the huge terminal when the two men, one of them armed, walked up to the window and asked about train fares to New York.

He said one of the men poked a gun from under a brown sweater he was holding on his arm and demanded the checks and about $700 in cash contained in a single manila envelope.

Tesh said the pair warned him to stay put, but when they walked out he cried for help and his call was answered by other railway employees who telephoned police.

Tesh, 41, and the father of three, was too badly shaken up to give an accurate description of the two bandits.

Ex-City Solicitor Defends Four In 'Booze' Case Here

BY CHARLES R. JONES

With the former solicitor of City Court as one of their defense attorneys, four Raleigh residents walked out of said court "free as birds" on liquor charges growing out of several raids on the recently-formed Press Club, 305 W. South Street.

The case was tried last Thursday before Judge Charles O'Hagen Grimes, acting judge.

Former solicitor Robert McMillan, Jr. teamed with Attorney Stanley L. Seligson to free Warnella Cody Lytell, 40, William H. Bryant, Sr., 48, William H. Bryant, Jr., 27, and Miss Henrietta Blandshaw, 28, facing some form of liquor violations.

City Patrolman Rudolph E. Perry, testifying for the prosecution, said he first visited the club on September 28, at which time he reported that he arrested Lytell for possession of tax-paid whiskey for the purpose of sale. He also charged Lytell with operating the club without a city license, for which the defendant was taxed court costs.

The defense based its approach mainly on the fact that

NAACP Head At Monroe Seeks Kids' Entry At White School

MONROE — School officials here are studying the request of a local Negro leader for transfer of his two children from a Negro school to an all-white school.

Robert Williams, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and his wife appeared before the school board at a special meeting Monday night to present the request.

Board members discussed the request with Williams at the meeting but took no action. They promised him a decision following an investigation by the school superintendent who will report to the board at its next regular meeting.

Williams is seeking transfer of his children from the third and fifth grades of the Negro school to the all-white East Elementary School. Monroe's school system still is segregated. Under North Carolina's limited integration, a few Negroes have been admitted to white schools at Charlotte, Winston-Salem and Greensboro.

TESTING SEGREGATION POLICY — In a mass test of the new segregation policy on buses at Birmingham, Alabama, Negroes are shown as they wait to board a city bus there last week. Thirteen persons were arrested and charged with breach of the peace under a law which leaves segregation seating up to the driver's discretion. The case is expected to come into a bus suit which may eventually wind up in the United States Supreme Court. (UPI TELEPHOTO.)

Kasper To 3 Cities Before Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Segregationist John Kasper said here Monday he and candidates of the "White Party" would hold rallies in Athens, Cleveland and Chattanooga Tuesday.

Kasper said he was making a round of the state with the so-called "White Party" party candidates before he went on trial Nov. 3 in Nashville for inciting to riot.

The candidates are Lee Foster, a Knoxville contractor, who is running for governor as an independent, and Tom Goode of Knoxville, who is running for state senator.

Kasper said the troupe "which includes several other boys" will

Kills Own Sister

JACKSON, N. C. — A six-year-old boy shot and killed his sister while playing with an "unloaded" shotgun Monday.

Sheriff E. Frank Outland said that Lottie Mae Robertson, 6, was killed instantly from a blast in the head. He said Nathaniel Robertson fled to a nearby cotton field where his mother was working to report the tragedy.

The mother, Mrs. Mae Clanton Robertson, told officers her son did not know the gun was loaded. The boy was released to the custody of his mother.
