Geoffrey Holder Dance Thrills A & T Audience

GREENSBORO — The Geoffrey Holder Dance Company thrilled a capacity audience with a dance concert last Tuesday evening at A and T College. A crowd of more than 1,800 persons filled every seat and spilled over into the aisles to see the group and showed appreciation by loudly applauding each of the eleven numbers on the program.

Holder, the star of the show, a native of Trinidad, British West Indies, and who has skyrocketed to dance fame during his six years in this country, drew the warmest reception. He opened with a novelty-comic number, "Improvisation-Improvisation" and appeared again in solo with "Yanvalou," a dance dedicated to the Haitian deity.

He teamed with his American wife, Carmen De Lavallade, a New Orleans native, and a star in her own right, in two numbers which had the audience calling for more. The duo numbers included: "Bamboula," a Haitian dance and the concluding number, "Doogla," a number of both African and East Indian derivations.

Miss De Lavallade, a premiere ballerina with the Metropolitan Opera Company, was well received as she presented two solos, "Bete," taken from a creole fete in Trinidad and "Dance For One."

Alex Cambren and Roland De Longoria, at the drums, gave splendid support to the outstanding production.

Miss Iredell Nichols Becomes Mrs. Jas. Froneberger in Rites

GASTONIA—A setting of Ivy, Calceolium and white gladioli, flanked with candelabra, set with cathedral tapers and palms on each side, formed the background for the wedding of Miss Iredell Nichols and James Norris Froneberger Saturday at 4 p. m. The Reverend George J. Leake, pastor of the bride, officiated in the impressive double-ring ceremony at Pleasant Ridge A.M.E. Zion Church of Gastonia.

ger and the late Chive Froneberger. He is a graduate of Lincoln High School and is employed by Jehru Mann, building contractor.

After the ceremony, the wedding party and friends were entertained at a reception in the church's Fellowship Hall, which was beautifully decorated with flowers and fern. The table was covered with Irish linen and centered with a wedding cake entwined with greenery and flowers.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. E. D. Wilson, director of music of Lincoln High School, of Bessemer City and Mrs. Carlene Holland.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Robert Nichols, Jr. She was attired in a Chantilly lace and tulle over tulle dress, designed with a fitted bodice and a V-neckline and short sleeves and long gloves.

Her fingertip veil fell from a tiara of lace, sequins and pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and showered with streamers of satin ribbons.

Assisting with the wedding and the reception were Mrs. Ella Cox, Mrs. and Mrs. Prince Stokes, Jr., George Nichols, Mesdames Geneva Barber, Hermon Hood, Margaret Lawrence, Georgia Mae Neely, Louise Outen, Estelle Acker, Ella Anderson, Ossie Shoates, G. J. Leake, and Miss Loretta Shoates.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Odell Brooks, Michael and Julia Brooks of Maryland and Misses Elfreida and DeLois Brooks of Philadelphia.

Miss Mary T. Nichols, maid of honor and sister of the bride, wore a hunter's green cocktail dress and carried a nosegay of pompons.

The bride's mother wore a mess green dress with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of carnations. The groom's mother was dressed in a beige brocade taffeta dress with charleuse accessories and a corsage of carnations and fern.

Best man was the brother of the groom, Lemuel Froneberger. Ushers were James Nichols, brother of the bride, and James F. Leake.

The bride is a graduate of Highland High School and K. R. Crosby Beauty College. She is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Nichols and the late Robert Nichols. The groom is the son of Mrs. Verna Froneberger.

After a bridal trip the couple will be "at home" in the Mt. Pisgah community.

Predicts His Bizarre End

SULLIGENT, Ark. (AP) — A wealthy 55-year-old Negro who died last week of unknown causes, predicted his bizarre death.

Willie Wells, whose source of income was unknown, died after police investigated a shooting at his home Saturday.

Sheriff Ernest Merchand said Wells told officers investigating the slaying that he was going to die. He said Wells gave no reason for his expected death which occurred later that afternoon.

YWCA Christmas Breakfast At Livingstone December 14

SALISBURY—The Eleventh Annual Christmas Breakfast, sponsored by the YWCA of Livingstone College, will be given Sunday, December 14, at 8:30 a. m. in the college dining hall.

This breakfast is the highlight of the YWCA activities for the year. It brings together in a joyous Christmas setting the on-campus young women, the wives of faculty members, women faculty and staff members, and all campus young women.

Many of the off-campus young women stay on the campus the night preceding the breakfast as guests of the YWCA members. This provides for these students some dormitory experience which they would not ordinarily get.

On the subsequent Monday the YWCA Coeders go throughout the community singing and distributing gifts and candies and other sweets to shut-ins and retired citizens. Thereafter, the tired and cold coeders are invited to the homes of faculty members for entertainment.

Mrs. Acola Moore is president of the YWCA and Mrs. Lois Reeves is faculty adviser.

Annual Dinner held at the Apex Junior High School.

The opening invocation was given by the Reverend J. W. Jones, pastor of Fayetteville Street Baptist Church, Raleigh.

The Round-Up Awards were presented by the following unit leaders by W. L. McPherson, member of the Council: Executive Search, Margo Tomblin, R. L. Perry, Thomas Chavis, D. B. Ingram, Johnny M. Pettiford, R. I. Johnson, Allen White, Jan F. Herndon, James Holloway, George E. Heath, Louis H. Goodson, Rev. Iris Davis and Rev. Clyde B. Walton.

The Distinguished Service Awards were presented by Homer Eggers, Field Director and Henry Ellis, District Division Executive to the following persons for outstanding service:

Mrs. Beatrice Lewis, Don Moller, Pack 127, Davis Street Presbyterian Church; Johnny M. Pettiford, Cubmaster, Pack 112, Lockhart School; Thomas Chavis, Scoutmaster, Troop 139, Fayetteville Street Baptist Church; J. E. Koverey, advisor, Post 132, Fayetteville Springs School; P. A. Williams, Vice-Chairman, Wake Division and Joseph Whitaker, Asst. Commissioner.

New officers for 1954 were installed by William S. Roth, Director of Field Service. They were: C. H. McLendon, chairman; P. A. Williams, vice-chairman; R. H. Toole, vice-chairman; George I. Foxwell, commissioner; Johnny M. Pettiford and Joseph Whitaker, assistant commissioners.

J. M. Holloway, St. Augustine's College, presented the Scouters' Key to A. O. Carrichael, Troop 198, St. Matthews Methodist Church.

Attendance and table decoration awards were given by Deas P. R. Robinson, St. Augustine's College, to Troop 139, Fayetteville Street Baptist Church.

Dr. Grady D. Davis, Dean of the School of Religion, Shaw University, gave the final address, "Challenge" to the group.

Helpful Hints Given:

How Do You Powder Your Face?

NEW YORK — Probably every woman who uses face powder (and every woman should) is completely convinced that she knows exactly how to apply it, yet the fact is that most women do not have the slightest idea of what the right powder can do for them, or how to put it on for best results.

Two many girls begin to use powder in their teens in a thoroughly slipshod way and maintain the habit all their lives. We have all seen women, anywhere from fifteen to fifty, who take a powder-puff out of a compact, or off a dressing table, and literally "throw" the powder on with a casual smearing across the nose and around the chin.

supply what your skin requires for glamour. Now, take a pad of absorbent cotton, "load" it with powder and press it firmly into the skin, from neckline to forehead. Give special attention to areas about the nostrils, puff out the cheeks to "set into" expression lines, apply it behind ears and at back of neck. Then, with a fresh cotton pad or clean puff dust off the surplus lightly. Apply lipstick and eye-makeup, and behold, loveliness!

Luxuria Face Powder clings and conceals without looking artificial. It is ideal for normal or oily skins. Ayeristocrat is of lighter texture, for dry, normal or fragile skins. Dry rouge is applied after powdering, cream or liquid rouge beforehand.

The mechanical corn picker can be the most dangerous of all farm machines, according to the National Safety Council.

To use face-powder as it should be used requires (and deserves) great care. This careful use of powder is essential that face powder be of the finest type to require lovely results. Beware of cheap powders that may clog the pores, cake or streak or change color on the skin. Properly used, a famous powder such as Harriet Hubbard Ayer's Luxuria or Ayeristocrat, will last for many months and be of actual benefit to the skin as well as conferring glamour. This is the way that Harriet Hubbard Ayer advises using face powder:

First be sure you have a clean face and a good make-up foundation. Then, be sure the shade SUITS your own complexion. It need not be an exact match. It may be lighter, darker, rosier, to
