Cooperated In Large Philly Sale

PHILADELPHIA (ANP) — Two high living luxury loving physicians have been charged with the illegal sale of large quantities of narcotics by federal agents who seized them last year.

The two, Dr. Eric R. Clarke, 49, and Dr. Horace R. Johnson, 55, were accused of cooperating with each other in the sale of the drugs. Their bonds of $25,000 each were reduced to $5,000 when they pleaded they could not raise them.

Johnson's Cadillac and Clarke's Thunderbird were impounded.

U. S. Commissioner Edward J. Furia called them "worse than murderers for breaking and flaunting their oaths as doctors."

The arrests were made in Clarke's office by U. S. agents from the New York office of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics.

U. S. Agent Albert R. Brennan summarized the case before Furia in the Federal Building.

Brennan said the two doctors on April 4 sold 2,973 dolophine hydrochloride capsules and about an ounce and a quarter of cocaine hydrochloride to the agents, John Ripa and James Cockerille, for $2,000.

Brennan said the drugs were diverted from legitimate medical channels, and cost the doctors less than $50.

Brennan said there were three prior arrests, two of which were covered on page 2.

Argument Results In Shooting

"I didn't intend to kill him, but I was trying to protect myself. I'm really sorry the whole thing happened."

With remorse in his voice, a 20-year-old man who faces the possibility of the gas chamber or life imprisonment, solemnly spoke those words to a reporter this week.

From his cell in Wake County Jail, Green Howard, Jr., 1134 S. State St., was telling of events leading to the killing of his 17-year-old brother-in-law after a family tussle last Friday night.

Howard is being held in Wake County jail without privilege of bond on a charge of the murder of Eugene Edward Perry, 17, Cary, a high school senior. He is scheduled for a preliminary hearing sometime this week.

Relating his story, Howard said it all started because of an argument between his wife and himself.

"After our argument Friday morning, my wife went away and stayed most of the day. She later returned with her mother, Mrs. Mary Wright, who was trying to make her leave me.

"I asked my mother-in-law to leave my house, but she told me to get her out. I didn't bother her. She went out and called her husband," Howard said.

Opportunity To Work Shown

The Raleigh Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week urged Negroes to apply for jobs with the Raleigh police and fire departments.

Ralph Campbell, president of the local chapter, said that applications are now being accepted.

In addition to these two city departments, Campbell said the NAACP is also urging Negroes to apply to the Carolina Power and Light Company, Bell Telephone Company, the State Department of Parole and Probation, Corning Glass Works, Kellogg ITT Communication Division and the Westinghouse Meter Plant.

He said applications are being accepted at all of these places.

In subsequent editions of the CAROLINIAN, a list of city job titles and salaries will be listed. The list will also be posted in churches and various other business places.

ODDS-ENDS

FONDER THE PATH OF OPPORTUNITIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

It is human nature to seek and welcome opportunities. We want opportunity to do well in all of our human endeavors, to succeed and to get ahead in the vast and sometimes complex areas of life. What about opportunities to serve? As a racial group, we should be able to think more and more about opportunities to serve others. And, we must do more than think. We must do more than think. We must do more than think. We must do more than think. We must do more than think.

Charges Insurance Co. Discriminates

FAYETTEVILLE — An attorney for a Fayetteville family this week charged that a national automobile insurance company uses discriminatory methods in paying injury claims.

D. Lacy McBryde, in letters to the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company and the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, charged that State Farm "makes a practice of discriminating against Negroes by paying and offering to pay them less than it pays and offers to pay other people who are likewise injured."

McBryde asked the U. S. Civil Rights Commission together with other organizations to investigate the matter "to the end that these policies of discrimination may be exposed and dealt with as a righteous and indignant public opinion will require."

The complaint revolved around an auto accident last December in which five members of a Fayetteville Negro family were injured. Requiring hospital treatment were Winnie Dobbin, Amy Dobbin Thomas, Margaret Thomas, Delores Thomas and Mae Hazel Thomas.

Their automobile collided with a truck owned by the Cashwell Refrigeration Company of Fayetteville. The Fayetteville Records Court ruled the driver of the truck was at fault. The company is insured by State Farm.

According to McBryde, the insurance company discriminated against the Negro family.

Holiday Crime Shows Increase

The Easter weekend this year was marred by violence which kept Raleigh policemen busy around the clock. In addition to numerous accidents which ran the state death toll in the 30's and many minor law infractions, several Raleigh Negroes were hospitalized or required medical treatment.

In one case, a 19-year-old hotel employee was apparently accidentally shot in the face and is in critical condition at Wake Memorial Hospital this week.

He is Wilbert Signal of the 500 block of Bloodworth St., an employee at the Sir Walter Hotel.

According to police, Signal was shot in the face by Clyde Streets, 38, of the 600 block of S. Bloodworth St. while Streets was displaying a pistol he had bought.

Streets told police the pistol accidentally discharged. He said he did not know it was loaded. Witnesses to the accident confirmed his statement.

At presstime, Streets was being held by police without bond privileges pending the outcome of Signal's condition.
