Hospital Suit Is Set For June 19

GREENSBORO — Justice Department attorneys will ask the federal district court here again June 19 for permission to intervene in a hospital integration suit. The suit was brought in February on behalf of nine Negro doctors and dentists and two Negro patients who maintain that the separate-but-equal clause of the Hill-Burton Hospital Construction Act is unconstitutional. ## Says Youth Attacked 2 In Week

Wearing two black eyes, and showing a bruised face, Mrs. Lillie Mae Hinton, 45, 314 Love's Lane, sat in the front room of her home Wednesday and related one of the most outrageous incidents of juvenile brazenness brought to the attention of local police, in a long time. Mrs. Hinton told The CAROLINIAN that she was taking a short cut home, off East Street, when she noticed Joseph Hedgepeth, 15, standing in the path. She says the youth walked up to her and said, "I am going to have you tonight." She replied, "Not me, I am too old for that stuff." It was then that he grabbed her arm and began beating her in the face. She alleges that he threw her to the ground and began choking her with one hand and trying to rip off her underclothes with the other.

It was at this point that she became dazed and was not able to know exactly what transpired. She does remember that while she was still on the ground that he ran back toward East Street and that's when she was able to get up. She managed to make it to her home, which is about 500 feet from the place of the assault. The youth was arrested, on a warrant sworn out by her Monday and tried in Domestic Court Wednesday. Due to his age there is much conjecture as to where he will face the charge of attempted rape. It was also found that the boy was being tried for having assaulted another woman on May 9.

The CAROLINIAN representative talked with the boy's mother.

ODDS-ENDS

BY ROBERT G. SHEPARD

"The Lord giveth wisdom."
WHAT ABOUT IT
MISTER PRESIDENT?

Reports are circulating that President Kennedy has asked the news services to suppress or tone down the reports on racial incidents in the south.

According to these reports, there has been such an upsurge of these incidents, triggered largely by the civil revolution started by Negro college students in 1960 that Mr. Kennedy is very disturbed lest this nation's already badly damaged image become further tarnished in the eyes of the many newly created African nations.

Wake Man's Body Torn To Threads

FUQUAY SPRINGS — "He was all torn to pieces . . . his leg was completely torn off and his body was cut into two pieces. It was the most gruesome thing I had ever seen."

These were the words of Hunter Bullock, manager of Haywood's Funeral Home in Fuquay as he described the condition of the body of a 23-year-old man who was run over by a train here Sunday morning.

Killed in the accident was Percy McNeill, R. 1, Fuquay Springs. Police said McNeill was apparently lying on the tracks when a Norfolk & Southern freighter pulled through. Conductors told police they saw the man lying between the tie-lines of the tracks and sounded the whistle but was unable to stop in time. They said

LEG CURED BY MIRACLE — Ten-year-old Antonio Cabrea Perez, of Tenerife, in the Canary Islands, points to his leg—cured by prayers to the Peruvian mulatto, Brother Martin de Porres—outside St. Peter's Basilica, in Rome recently, after a ceremony beatifying Brother Martin as St. Martin de Porres. The boy's cure was accepted by the Vatican as "miraculous." With Antonio is Cuban actor Rene Munos, who plays the part of St. Martin in "Fray Escoba," a film on the Saint's life. (UPI PHOTO)

Shriners Hold Festivities, Big Parade In Goldsboro

GOLDSBORO — This western town that prides itself as being "The friendly city of progress, in the heart of the farm belt almost closed up Saturday when the Shriners staged its mammoth parade. It should be remembered that the parade started at high noon and by the time it reached Center Street there was not a clerk in a store nor a customer at the counter. The marchers began at Leslie Street and went down famed Elm and up John to Mulberry, thence down Center into Spruce and down James, back into Elm. The parade was led by a crack outfit from Ft. Bragg. There were quite a few bands and floats that lent gaiety to the occasion and pomp and splendor to the participants. The parade was the climax of public festivities, highlighting Gala Day ceremonies that began with a dance at the Victory warehouse North Carolina were in attendance Friday night. Masons from all over with their wives and sweethearts. Business sessions were closed to the public, but it was learned by The CAROLINIAN that new interest was aroused for the Youth Bowl game and Imperial District Deputy, Frank Burnett vows to make it the biggest and best ever held. The game was not played last year, but it has been the outstanding

Lack Of School Mixing Also Due To Parents

Lack of complete integration in the Raleigh schools cannot be solely blamed on the School Board, observers said here this week.

The School Board has taken much of the blame for the lag in the integration of city schools, but it is felt in the city that much of the slowness is due to the fact that Negro students aren't being encouraged to seek reassignment of the predominantly white schools.

A CAROLINIAN reporter, after some research, learned that less than two dozen Negro students had actually applied for reassignment to white schools since the Supreme Court decision of 1954.

An indication of this lack of interest can be seen by the fact that Negro students living in the Oberlin area are transported to Ligon High School by buses every morning when the Broughton and Daniel schools are much closer to them. Only one student from that area has sought transfer to Broughton School.

W. G. Enloe, mayor of Raleigh and chairman of the school board, said in an interview this week that he didn't think the time would ever come when a student would be arbitrarily assigned to a school he didn't wish to attend.

This statement could mean that if a Negro student would prefer to attend a high school other than Ligon, he would be assigned to that school.

"Under the present law (the Equal Assignment Law) all a student who wishes to transfer need do is make an application," he asserted. He added that no discriminatory reason has ever been used to deny reassignment of any student.

"The Board does not like to assign any student in his last year of school to another school," he added. "We feel that the student has become adjusted to his old school and should not be uprooted in his last year. However, this does not

Woman Freed Of Murder Charge

A Raleigh woman, who earlier this year was charged in the murder of her husband, was freed this week by a Superior Court judge. Found not guilty of a charge of second degree murder was Mrs. Florine McClain, 1300 S. Bloodworth St. She had been charged with shooting to death her husband, James.

Mrs. McClain entered a not guilty plea and contended she shot her husband in self defense. She said on March 17, her husband, who had been separated from her, came to her home and started beating her. She said she used the pistol in self defense.

McClain was shot about two inches above the heart. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Wake Memorial Hospital. Investigating officers were James Daves and Joe Winters.

Man To Face 10-Year-Old Charge Of Homocide

WINSTON-SALEM (ANP) — A laborer accused of killing two white men the same night here 10 years ago is mentally able to stand trial, state psychiatrists said last week. Authorities at Cherry Hospital said Robert Hall, 28, is competent to plead to the charges against him and participate in his own defense. Hall is charged with murder in the deaths of Floyd E. Cline, 56, a taxi driver, and Horace G. Talbot Jr., 46, a salesman and collector.

Cline and Talbot were shot to death with the same .22 pistol the night of January 4, 1962, police said, but the two murders remained unsolved until Hall was arrested last December.

At that time, according to police, Hall confessed to the two murders and to eight armed robberies of taxi drivers beginning as far back as December, 1951—11 years ago. He would have been 15 years old at the time. Hall later repudiated the confession.
