City Atty. Smith Says Raleigh Must Obey Mandate Of Deed

The closing of the two city pools might have stopped 3,000 people from swimming in Raleigh, as estimated by James M. Chambers, City Recreation Director, but many believe that it opens the way to many legal questions and entanglements. A look at the deed, which gave the city the property for park pur-

ATTEND COURT HEARING — Albany police chief, Laurie Fritchett (left), and Dr. Martin Luther King arrive at the U. S. District Court July 31st, for a hearing by U. S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott who will determine whether or not to continue a restraining order prohibiting non-violent racial demonstrations by the "Albany Movement." Dr. King and Chief Fritchett are the prime participants in the hearing. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

SAYS HE WAS BEATEN BY SHERIFF — Blood seeping down his shirt, C. B. King, Albany, Ga., leader of the International Albany Movement, talks with newsmen after he was allegedly caned by Dougherty County (Albany) sheriff, D. C. Campbell. As he was being taken to hospital, King said, "This is the dignity of law in Dougherty County. I have just been beaten by your sheriff." The sheriff, 76, told King "three or four times" to leave his office, and finally drove him out with a walking stick. The attorney said he had gone to the sheriff's to inquire about alleged police brutality charged by a white interloper. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

REMOVED BODILY — Police carry a Negro teenager bodily from in front of the Albany, Ga., Carnegie Library July 31, after arresting her and 14 others when they refused orders to move on. The group knelt and prayed on the library steps after being denied entrance to the all-white facility. Just a block away lawyers argued the legality of racial demonstrations like this one. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

OUSTED FROM LIBRARY — While attorneys fight the legality of racial demonstrations in Albany, Ga., police officials carry teenage demonstrators from the front of the Albany Carnegie Library here July 31st. About 15 young Negroes gathered at the library to pray and sing. Within minutes of the first demonstration another group assembled in front of the city hall. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

PRAYED, SANG, JAILED — Surrounded by newsmen in front of city hall in Albany, Ga., July 30, Albert L. Dunn, a theological student from Atlanta, Ga., leads his group of 15 Negroes and one white woman in prayers and song. 4 Jailed In Durham

Vow To Stay In Jail For Justice

DURHAM — The police officers of Durham and Clarence Daniels, manager of the local Howard Johnson Restaurant, seem to have collaborated against the permitting of Negroes to eat at the Chapel Hill Boulevard eating place and four persons are now facing sentence for attempting same. Two young ladies, who said that it was their moral conviction that they should sacrifice for the cause of freedom and continue to fight, even if it means staying in jail, until the Howard Johnson Restaurant realize that God made all men equal, are now in jail, having been convicted for trespassing. There are also two white men in the Durham County jail for having been a part of the group that tried to break the segregated barrier. The two young ladies, Miss Jocelyn McKinnick, 19, one of the first of her race to enter a so-called all-white school, and Miss Guytana Horton, 20, daughter of a prominent Chatham County

Students Denied Again

The NAACP moved closer to fuller participation in the fight to integrate the schools of Raleigh Tuesday when it enlisted the aid of several students to picket the Board of Education Building, while the Board reconsidered the application of 25 or more students for transfer. The fact that the students were seen carrying banners helped to let the Board and the citizens of Raleigh know that they were aware

Powell Denies Fraud

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP) — Denying that he had filed fraudulent returns, Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. last week asked the U. S. Tax Court to order Internal Revenue officials to toss out government claims that he owes more than $40,000 in federal taxes and penalties for the period 1949 through 1955. Powell's action was in response to a notice mailed to him April 13 by the Internal Revenue Service and made public after Powell petitioned the court. This is the second time Powell has become embroiled in tax difficulties with the government. About a year ago, criminal income tax charges against the congressman were thrown out of court in New York. He had been indicted on three counts involving the income on himself and his former wife, pi

Wrestling Audience 'Mixed'

Seating facilities were integrated at Raleigh's Municipal Auditorium Tuesday night when eleven Negroes occupied ringside seats at the wrestling matches there. They entered the auditorium with ringside tickets which permitted them to sit in the area usually restricted from Negroes. Upon entrance through the main gate the youths, most of which were from Raleigh, were stopped by promoter Joe Murnick. Murnick questioned the Negroes as to how they got the ringside tickets. Wrestling fan and spokesman for the group, Percy High, replied that they had the tickets and "that's all that mattered." Murnick tried to explain that the auditorium did not yet have the facilities to seat Negroes at ringside, but he finally acquired and the group seated themselves without incident. During intermission, when the Negroes milled around the floor of the auditorium, there was no contact. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Councilmen Winters And Coffey Vote No

During the hassle over the use of Pullen Park swimming pool by all the people, Mayor Enloe at one time stated in replying to Councilman John Winters, "You are arguing principle, I am not arguing principle." Judging from the result of the argument, neither Enloe or Reid, McLaurin, Hoover, or Tomlinson were concerned either with principle, law or right. This tense matter came to a dramatic head after city manager Carper told the Council he had ordered the closing of the Pullen Park Pool because some Negroes had outwitted the attendants there and had entered the pool. What was not known was the fact that a Negro girl and her white girl companion were already swimming in the pool before the Negro men gained admittance. After Carper had related how he had gone over everybody's head and ordered the closing of the pool, he then allowed the Council time

"Many are called but few are chosen." BUYING SEGREGATION It may be, we are just too sure about it, but it may be that there are a few really essential services, goods, etc., which, in order to use and have them, we must pay for segregation along with them. However, this we do know, no one has to see wrestling in order to survive. When we hear people complaining about being segregated at these brawls, even asking others to do something about the matter, we have to wonder what it is that causes these people to buy this type of segregation. And mind you, we are not talking simply about Tom, Dick and Harry. No sir. We are talking about people who should, and we thought, did know better. We are talking about people whom we think should be organizing an
