Negro Appointed U. S. Deputy Marshal In NC

Durhamite Selected For Court

GREENSBORO — The efforts of the Kennedy Administration to use all available man power without regard to race are said to have been further exemplified with Joseph C. Biggers as appointed deputy U. S. Marshal for the Middle District Court here Monday.

Biggers became the second Negro to be picked by the Justice Department to serve the court. Henry E. Frye, young Greensboro attorney, was recently named an assistant District Attorney. Biggers is 42.

He is a native of Gaston County and lives with his wife and son in Durham. He served in the Coast Guard during World War II. He is a product of Lincoln Academy, Kings Mountain. He is also a graduate of North Carolina College and holds a degree in business administration.

He was associated with the Biggers and Turner Beauty Supply House for a number of years. He was one of the first Negroes to serve as deputy sheriff in Durham County. He will be sworn in Feb. 18.

Cop Freed In Record Time

KINGS MOUNTAIN — A State Trooper who killed a man Friday was declared justified Saturday, by a six-man coroner's jury.

Speed seems to have been the factor in all incidents attendant to the shooting and trial. Trooper R. Black Leonard is said to have heard over his radio that J. Hugh Phillips 32-year-old honor grade prisoner was missing since 7:30 Friday morning.

The officer is said to have gone to the Long Branch School area, where the fugitive is said to have been sighted, shortly after his escape. The officer is said to have spotted Phillips shortly after he arrived in the area. It was alleged that he had no trouble knowing he had found the man, due to his prison garb.

The evidence is alleged to have disclosed that Leonard told the man to surrender. Instead of complying with his request Phillips is said to have advanced on Leonard with a license plate and a flashlight. The trooper is reported as having fired three times but only one bullet hit the mark.

Leonard is reported to have been directed to the area on a complaint by a Mrs. James McNeely, who is reported as having said there was GREETED AT AIRPORT — Chicago, Ill.: Clyde Kennard, 35, the first Negro to try to integrate a Mississippi university, is greeted by his sister, Mrs. Sara Tarpley at O'Hare Airport here early Feb. 2nd after his arrival from Jackson, Miss. Kennard was rushed to Billings Hospital, where he will undergo treatment of intestinal cancer. Sentenced in 1956 to seven years in prison for stealing $25 worth of chicken feed, Kennard was released January 28 when Mississippi Governor Ross Barnett suspended his sentence. (UPI PHOTO).

Whiskey Alibi Frees Murder Suspect Here

MORRISVILLE — Friends, neighbors and curious people turned out Tuesday to pay their last respects to Junius Bishop, white carpenter Tuesday afternoon as he was buried from the Morrisville Baptist Church. The CAROLINIAN visited the home of 61-year-old Moses Moore, who was let out of Wake County jail Monday night, early Tuesday morning and attempted to interview him. Moses was mum and would not even say whether he planned to attend the funeral or whether he would shed a tear over the departure of a comrade. Moore was mum because he was picked up by Deputy Sheriff Wiley Jones Sunday, about 6:45 p. m. in connection with the killing of Bishop, who had not been seen since Feb. 1, but whose body was said to

Cup, Brick Said Cause Of Shooting

Genoa Robinson, 38-year-old taxicab man, is scheduled to face charges of assault with intent to kill in City Court, February 22.

The charges grew out of a misunderstanding over the purchase of a cup of coffee at Staton's Restaurant, 319 S. East St., Saturday morning by Robinson.

Attendees told the CAROLINIAN that Robinson purchased the coffee and was told by Earl Felix Grissom that he could not take the cup out of the place. They allege that Robinson took the cup anyway and proceeded to go into the cab stand, next door. Grissom, a Shaw University senior, 22, who works part-time at the restaurant, is said to have gone to the cab stand to retrieve the cup and that he is alleged to have had words with Robinson about his taking the cup out. Grissom is said to have thrown a brick which is said to have struck Robinson.

Eye witnesses to the shooting related that not long after Grissom came back into the restaurant, went into the kitchen and started washing dishes that Robinson entered, gun in hand. He is alleged to have gone to an opening in the kitchen which is covered with wire and to have fired one shot.

The shot is said to have narrowly missed Mrs. Annie Mae Staton, one of the proprietors, who had glanced off the wire and to have struck Grissom in the groin. The victim was taken to Wake Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and remained until Tuesday when he was released.

Robinson told the CAROLINIAN that he knew the policy of the restaurant, with regards to taking cups out, but that he had been called to the telephone and was

Charred Ruins Reveals Body

LEAKSVILLE — Curious people are wondering why the ruins of a log cabin that burned Jan. 24 were not searched before Sunday. The search turned up the charred remains of a human body.

The body is believed to be that of Joe Davis Broadnax, 46, who was not believed to have been in the area, due to the fact he was wanted by officers for the alleged skipping of a bond after being arrested more than a year ago, on a weapon charge.

Knife Used Fatally In Love Fight

Mildred Saunders, 27, of 201 N. Haywood Street, is charged with the butcher-knife slaying of one Marnie Holder and is held without bail in the Wake County jail.

Police reports state that the knifing took place following an argument between the two women over Mrs. Holder's husband, Nathaniel Holder. Mrs. Holder, who was stabbed in the left side of her chest was dead on arrival at the Wake County Memorial Hospital.

According to the Saunders woman's statement to a reporter of the CAROLINIAN, she was walking home from visiting her child, who was with its grandmother, and while returning in the company of Harold Rollins, father of the child, they met a man who spoke to Rollins. "A woman then came out with a long stick and started to beat on me and I ran in the house. Then I took the knife and cut her" said Mrs. Saunders.

Mildred Saunders is also charged with assault with intent to kill Pauline Alford, 33 of 119 N. Haywood St., who police said, was stabbed in the back and cut on one arm when she attempted to take the butcher knife away from Mrs. Saunders.

The Alford woman was admitted to Wake County Memorial Hospital for treatment of her injuries. Her condition is described as "serious."

Evans Reported Fair After Robbery Battle

There is an old saying that it is best to prepare for war in the time of peace. This seems to be what Oliver Evans did when he decided to pay an uninvited visit to the Matthew-Gentry service station-one night last week. He carried a 12-gauge double-barreled sawed-off shotgun, according to Deputy Sheriff L. S. Covert.

It seems that Evans not only waited until the store had closed for business, but he is said to have chosen a rather devious way to enter. He is reported as having broken cut a window, overlooking the washpit, at about 2 a. m.

What Evans did not know was that T. S. Matthews had decided that he would have a firing salute for any and all persons who chose to enter the story any other way except thru the door. He is thought to have read that any one who tried to enter except through the door was a thief and robber.

It is reported that once Evans landed inside the place, located near McCullers, between Raleigh and Fuquay, he found that Matthews was not only in the store, alive and awake, but that he was ready with an automatic shotgun. Officers were not able to determine who fired first, but there is no doubt in their minds about both men having pulled the trigger.

Like Wolfe and Montcalm at the battle of Quebec, neither one perhaps mortally wounded, but Mat-
