RAINES WINS RIGHT TO CONTRACT IN RALEIGH

Student Strikes Teacher

Court Acts To Restrain Officials

James C. Raines, local master plumber, was given a right to engage in the practice of plumbing, in the city of Raleigh, as a journeyman, by a restraining order, issued by Judge William Y. Blodgett, February 19.

The order was issued in favor of Raines, as the result of a temporary injunction proceeding, brought by him, against the City of Raleigh, the City Council of the City of Raleigh and R. G. Wat-

Youth Uses Board On Teacher

CHARLOTTE — The matter of school discipline got much consideration here this week as the result of the arrest of a 14-year-old boy for the alleged hitting of a West Charlotte teacher on the head with a stick.

David Wiggins, 22, member of the faculty of West Charlotte High School was said to have been hit on the head, by the boy, with a piece of wood, about 8:45 a. m. Monday, when he is alleged to have paddled Friday.

The incident is said to have happened while Wiggins was sitting at his desk, reading some papers. The youth is alleged to have walked up behind the teacher, and without a word of warning, to have

Adam C. Powell Blisters Sen. Williams

WASHINGTON (ANP) — Dapper Adam Clayton Powell last week said the recent Senate attack on him was composed of equal parts of fiction, inaccuracies, and racial prejudices and asserted that he has not "abused" his Congressional privileges to any greater extent than any other member of Congress.

"I'm not expecting to be treated better than any other Congressman," he said, "but I intend to accept nothing less."

Powell's answer came in reply to a series of charges made in an unusual attack on him on the floor of the Senate by Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware on Feb. 5.

Powell pointed out that he was not cloaking himself with congressional privileges in making his re-

"Soapy" Williams, Sanford In Durham

DURHAM — "Heavy-handed Communist actions against Negroes in Bulgaria and Guinea" have brought quick and sharp reactions in Africa, Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennon Williams said here Sunday.

Williams said racial discrimination in the United States has not been covered up despite Communist mishandling of Negroes. He said the United States needs to take

Assembly Asked For Birth Ban

A bill to curb illegitimate births in the state and to punish repeaters was introduced in the State Senate Monday night by W. Lunsford Crew of Halifax County.

The eastern solon, who comes from a densely populated Negro county, is reported as going so far as to ask that any father who sired more than one illegitimate child would be subject to the discretion of the court, after a hearing, on committing a misdemeanor, had been held.

The Halifax County senator further set out in his bill that the mother of illegitimate children who refuses to prosecute the father should be called into account. In support of his bill, he charged that the present laws "tend to encourage rather than discourage illegitimacy."

Job Bias Claimed At Roxboro

DURHAM — The extent of the government order on equal employment is being watched by citizens of Durham and Ferson counties, as the result of a complaint filed by a number of people, who said they have been discriminated against by the Roxboro Manufacturing Company.

The complaint was signed by Floyd B. McKisick, representing

Queen City Executive Blasts Jones

CHARLOTTE — The controversial Rev. Charles M. Jones, who has been the target of segregationists for a number of years, was back in the news this week, due to the fact he raised the ire of Mayor Stan Brookshire.

The Queen City is said to have become disturbed over the fact that the Chapel Hill white minister is said to have expressed his view on interracial marriage, in Greensboro Sunday.

Persons close to the mayor are said to have felt that the city head went along with the fact that Rev. Jones was in the Gate City for brotherhood week and that there had been an evident fact that there had been a practice of brotherhood, between the races, even to sisterhood, in the fact that there had been a crossing of color lines in sex relations, felt that Mr. Brookshire became enraged over the fact that Rev. Jones advocated intermar-

ODDS-ENDS

BY JAMES A. SHEPARD

"A little child shall lead them."

A LETTER OF FITT ("WHITE FOLKS MONEY")

The Honorable John H. Kerr, Jr. Dear Sir: Your wholly unprovoked and unjustified attack upon Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, acting president of A&T College, has provoked a great deal of anger and resentment from intelligent people of all races within this state.

Although we know that any statement made by you or by any one else relative to "white people's money" (tax money) being given to Negroes is so erroneous that it does not deserve notice. The thought occurs to us that instead of becoming angry and resentful about the remarks you made to Dr. Dowdy, we should all have a feeling of pity

STATE IN BRIEF

FIRE VICTIM BURIED — Funeral services for Mrs. Beatrice Harris, who died as the result of burns sustained, when her clothing caught fire, as she attempted to light an oil stove, at her home, 704 E. Jones Street, Saturday, were held from Lightner's Funeral Home, Tuesday. Burial was in the Oberlin Cemetery.

RACE RELATIONS, NOT RACE RELATIONS — The Rev. Charles M. Jones, pastor of the Chapel Hill Community Church, told North Carolina A&T College students Tuesday that once good human relations exist in communities "the matter of race will be purely irrelevant. The problem in this country is not to improve race relations, but to promote good human relations," the Rev. Jones added. "We cannot have the highest human relations with solving the problems of the race by inter-marriage. We are afraid of inter-marriage which is a human thing," he said in speaking at the Provisional Baptist Church. "People speculate and say it really won't happen but I can tell you we cannot have the highest human relations without solving the problem of the race by inter-marriage."

DEATH CHEATS COURTS — Death is believed to have cheated the courts of Pitt County out of an opportunity to try Samuel H. Westinghouse of a trial for his life, when he died here last week, as the result of a gun battle with a local officer. He was the object of an intensified man hunt, until he was found a short distance from where the shooting occurred.

PEACE CORPS MAN TO SPEAK — The director of the Peace Corps program in Africa for the past year will speak at the Human Relations Conference of the Baptist State Convention March 4 at the Forest Hills Baptist Church. Dr. Samuel DeWitt Proctor, president of A&T College in Greensboro, will discuss "Racism, a World Issue" during the 7 p. m. program.

TOWN WANTS INDUSTRY — PRINCEVILLE — Princeville, second town in the nation to be chartered as an all-Negro town, quietly observed its 78th anniversary last week. Princeville, adjacent to Tarboro is progressing, although slowly. Mayor W. Ray Mathewson and other city commissioners have made several industry-hunting trips. The response was good, the mayor said, "but they want the people in Princeville to come to where the industries are, and leave their homes here. This is exactly the reverse of what we want," Mathewson said. Princeville folk like living here and don't want to leave.

FUNERAL HOME OPERATOR J TRIAL IS DELAYED — THOMASVILLE — The trial of Elwood Thomas, 72, Negro Funeral Home operator here, charged with violating a city ordinance with regard to depth of a grave in City Cemetery, was continued yesterday to March 11 at the request of Thomas' attorney.

151 Years Old First Baptist Observes Anniversary

First Baptist Church will be one hundred and fifty one years old March 4th. In recognition of its untiring service to humanity and of the significant role this historic church has played in the development of the religious life of North Carolina, the membership will observe the anniversary in a one day service, Sunday, March 10th. They will bring financial gifts for her on her birthday and listen together to one of the outstanding ministers of our day. The committee is composed of the 11 group leaders of the church.

Man Risks Life; Saves Fire Victim

CHARLOTTE — Whether Alfred Alexander read his Bible before he left home on Feb. 5, and ran across, "Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends," or whether it was a natural impulse to save his part-time employer from being burned up has not been disclosed, but the City Council gave him a

Negro Fishermen Figure In Cuban Mig Attack

KEY WEST, Fla. (ANP) — Two Negro fishermen last week were the central figures of an international incident that could lead to a shooting war with Cuba.

The men are Paris Jackson, skipper of a 63 foot shrimp trawler and his crewman, Benjamin Washington. In spite of frantic hand signals, the two reported that a Cuban MIG jet fired on their boat in the Florida Straits last week.

The incident aroused a number of Congressmen critical of the administration's handling of the Cuban situation to urge that immediate retaliatory steps be taken.

Under pressure of the criticism, President Kennedy ordered the defense department to take whatever steps are appropriate under the circumstances.

Meanwhile, Cuban official while admitting their MIGs were in the area, denied that the boat, the Ala, had been fired upon.

Gov. Sanford Sticks To Job Promise

NEW YORK — North Carolina's Gov. Terry Sanford said Tuesday that his state is determined to see that the Negro, one-fourth of its population, ultimately has equal economic opportunities with the white populace.

After addressing a luncheon of

No one was injured. "He (the MIG pilot) circled around and came in low-shooting—we could even see the pilot," said Jackson, 44.

"We hit the deck and lay there," said Jackson. "It really scared me. God, I was really scared."

"We just lay there because there
