

RALEIGH STUDENTS DEMONSTRATE A NEW

THE CAROLINIAN

North Carolina's Leading Weekly

VOL. 21, NO. 30 RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1963 PRICE 15c

Sympathy Marches Started

Fayetteville Street was the scene of new demonstrations on the part of students who declared that the seeming attitude of the local commission appointed to iron out the segregation problems made it necessary that they resume their demonstrations, in sympathy.

In an interview with a representative of THE CAROLINIAN, student leaders said that the demonstration will continue until something constructive is done. It is predicted that other demonstrations of the number of students who will participate will be much greater. No one would say whether there would be demonstrations during the rest of the week. The action of the students Tuesday night was the first since last week.

Dr. Charles Lyons, chairman of the Negro Coordinating Committee, and one of the six Negroes on the 12-member bi-racial committee said that the reason for the demonstration was because the committee has not been able to show results at the downtown area. The restaurants that have opened their doors are on the fringe area, not easily accessible to the students.

In a telephone interview with Victor Bell, chairman of the bi-racial committee, Mr. Bell told this reporter that he would be in the city for a few days.

MAD HUBBY SHOOTS WIFE'S EMPLOYER

RALEIGH CLERICS VOTE TO OPEN MEMBERSHIP

Killing In Mate Quarrel

LITTLETON — It is anybody's guess as to whether Preston McDonald, 25, will be brought into this section of Harriet County Court, now convening on a charge of murder, resulting from his alleged shooting of William C. Amard, 41, white, Sunday afternoon.

The Harriet County officer told THE CAROLINIAN that he understood that there had been argument between the two men, that involved his wife, who had been a baby sitter for the slain man and his Japanese-born wife.

World News Photos

These Negro University students are shown at the first session State House, when they carried their demands, after two persons were killed out of the restaurant.

Pastors Elect To Take All

The Raleigh Ministerial Association passed a resolution at their meeting urging the immediate desegregation of calling facilities in the city. The vote on the resolution was 10 to 1.

One minister voted against the resolution, but he said that he was not opposed to integration but thought that some statement should be made regarding what local churches should do about the situation. The minister's name was not known.

FRISKY — This is a picture of Dr. William H. Harris, interim president, Shaw University, as he presides at a meeting of the Wake County Jail. They were arrested for demonstrating in protest of anti-segregation practices in Raleigh. (UPI PHOTO).

Ambulance Driver Kills 6 Yr.-Old In Questionable Traffic Right

The question of who has the right-of-way and whether an ambulance, carrying a sick man to the hospital should pass a line of cars, with the street open, or whether a school bus driver should refuse to let children off when he hears a siren will have to be settled by the Wake County Superior Court.

CURTIS MILTON BOLLING

Robert Louis Betts, 23, driver of an ambulance, belonging to the Eastern Piedmont School of Wilkes, was called in the Wake County Jail, Thursday afternoon, told THE CAROLINIAN that he was of the opinion, when he passed a string of cars Monday afternoon, and came upon a school bus, with its lights blinking, that he thought the bus stopped in response to the siren.

Betts is being held for the death of Curtis Milton Bolling, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bolling, R. I., which is said to have occurred when the child alighted from the bus and suddenly started across the road.

N. C. May Attempt To By-Pass High Court

North Carolina finds itself in a precarious position as the result of the decision of the United States Supreme Court, knocking out legal arrests of persons who choose to stage sit-in demonstrations.

Guilford County and city authorities met in a strategy session Tuesday to map plans for further anticipated mass arrests in North Carolina's second largest city.

No Trouble Is Expected In Beating Of M. C. Britt

SMITHFIELD — Sheriff Oliver told THE CAROLINIAN Tuesday morning that everything was under control in Johnston County and that there was no cause to believe that Alton Sprull and Henry McNeil would be the object of any unusual conditions.

license number to police and the two men were apprehended Sunday.

Local Merchants Declare Lag Is Due To City's Indecision

Raleigh has assumed a wait-and-see attitude toward complete integration and local merchants are complaining that the city's economy is lagging due to this attitude.

There are quite a few merchants who told THE CAROLINIAN that sales have fallen off and that the failure of these concerns to issue an order determining what is expected and when business can expect to hit normally.

Edenton Youths Victorious In Protesting Privilege

EDENTON — Seven and one half months of demonstrations by the Edenton Movement, a Southern Christian Leadership Conference affiliate, has resulted in the repeal of what a spokesman described as an "unjust amendment" to a city picketing ordinance.

The amendment, passed in October, 1962, required pickets to give the city 24-hour written notice, to have a permit, and to pay a $10 fee per picketer.

Edenton Youths Victorious In Protesting Privilege

Edenton — Seven and one half months of demonstrations by the Edenton Movement, a Southern Christian Leadership Conference affiliate, has resulted in the repeal of what a spokesman described as an "unjust amendment" to a city picketing ordinance.

The amendment, passed in October, 1962, required pickets to give the city 24-hour written notice, to have a permit, and to pay a $10 fee per picketer.

Veteran Churchman To Be Buried

CHARLOTTE — North Carolina church circles even though expecting it for sometime, were shocked when it was announced that retired Bishop William Walter Slade died Sunday.

The prelate has lived in Charlotte for a number of years having moved here from Swannona, where he was born, upon his marriage to Mrs. S. Mae Slade, widow of the late Chester Slade.

Veteran Churchman To Be Buried

shop J. W. Hood and served many of the district of the Central North Carolina Conference.

CAROLINIAN ADVERTISERS BUY FROM THEM

- Page 2: ...
- Page 3: ...
- Page 4: ...
- Page 5: ...
- Page 6: ...
- Page 7: ...
- Page 8: ...
- Page 9: ...
- Page 10: ...
- Page 11: ...
- Page 12: ...
- Page 13: ...
- Page 14: ...
- Page 15: ...
- Page 16: ...
- Page 17: ...
- Page 18: ...
- Page 19: ...
- Page 20: ...
- Page 21: ...
- Page 22: ...
- Page 23: ...
- Page 24: ...
- Page 25: ...
- Page 26: ...
- Page 27: ...
- Page 28: ...
- Page 29: ...
- Page 30: ...

This is one of the scenes that followed the bombing of the homes and business places of Negroes in Birmingham recently. Such scenes as these are said to have set off riots and general disorder among the citizens of the Alabama terror-infested city.

This happened in America. This is a picture taken as Negro youths came to the rescue of their girl companions after they had been manhandled in Nashville, Tenn., when they attempted to exercise their rights as American citizens. Note the determination on the faces of the two youths as they attempt to protect American democracy.

This lone white girl, wearing glasses, is a symbol of sympathy and is written all over her face. She is shown with a group of students, in Greensboro, after they had staged a demonstration in front of a restaurant and a theatre. (PICTURES BY UPI).

Boycott In Enfield, NC

ENFIELD — This usually quiet town lifted its eyebrows more than usual Sunday afternoon as nine neatly-dressed colored teenagers quietly picketed the town's lone theatre which has for many years provided a jim-crow balcony for the use of Negroes.

The local NAACP youth leaders, apparently were operating by remote control. No adults participated in the picketing which lasted for about two hours and then took a break for the local school program during the afternoon.

ODDS-ENDS

"They were all of one mind — LET'S DON'T GET SPLINTERED OFF"

WEATHER

Temperatures will average several degrees below normal and winds will average around a gale as late Thursday through Sunday. High and low temperatures 61 and 81. Mild and cool weather most of period with showers or thunder showers about the weekend.