 served "Seat?" along with other jobs. Meanwhile, one party greying white gent stopped to chat with some colored he knew and left telling them to: "Keep it up; Everybody else is doing it." It was reported that there was much favorable sympathy in the community among well-meaning whites for the demands of the youths to share the main floor as well as the balcony of the amusement house.

A man who identified himself as being Rome Parker, attorney for the theatre and brother of the manager, Walter Parker, told this reporter that the sign on the door meant that "no more colored will be admitted at anytime - from now on." He replied further: "We hate to do it because we have a lot of colored friends" as he retraced his steps to the theatre as we told him that we had once help paint his father's home when his illustrious brother became a court solicitor.

We exchanged pleasantries with one or two area newspaper men on the scene as the youths continued their picketing.

It is reported that the leaders had a last-minute conference with the theatre management late Saturday without obtaining a satisfactory agreement. It is also reported that the same house once refused to permit an all-colored group to use the main floor for a special show when no whites would be present.

Leader of the pickets was Cecil Bernard Mason. Others whose names we were able to get were: Doris Johnson, Cynthia Cousins, Ira Dale Saunders, Nathaniel Draughn, Joyce Mills, Carolyn Sliver and Evonne Anderson. Mason, Cousins and Johnson composed the negotiating committee. William Bulluck is Youth Council president.

an Insurance Company, with which Mr. Britt is said to be connected, resulted in a conversation with Manly C. Britt, Sr. When asked about the injured Britt's condition, the senior Britt replied, "It was not as bad as the newspapers stated it, but the N----- did give him a good beating. The N----- tried to run him off of the road and when he would not stop they followed him to the Grill. He had forgot all about the N-----, but he remembered them when they caught up with him."

The senior Mr. Britt "clamored" up when asked if the injured man had a family and whether Miss Shehden was a friend of the family. It was then that he asked to whom he was speaking and being told the second time that it was a representative of The CAROLINIAN, he then said that he would prefer the questions being directed at the police, who investigated the incident.

He was retired in 1948 and had been active, however, preaching and counseling, until about a year ago, when his health began to fail.

He was considered one of the great preachers of his time and conducted many revivals throughout the nation. He was a familiar figure around camp meetings, held annually in the western part of the state.

 tremely disappointed if the people of the community feel that no progress has been made by the group. There may be other ways to solve this problem, but I believe that the bi-racial committee is the best way to do this," Mr. Bell said.

He further stated that he hoped that the demonstrations were in protest to the activities of the bi-racial committee, because he feels that this group is making a conscientious effort to find means of arriving at some understanding of the problem.

This reporter talked with several interested persons on this matter, and the consensus of opinion is that the bulk of influential leaders both white and Negro are squarely behind the bi-racial committee, and they feel that the members of the committee have been well chosen and will eventually bring about some satisfactory solution to the racial problem which beset the city at this time.

es and that possibly the reason that they are not members is because they have not asked to become members.

Rev. Elia Stephanopoulos, pastor of Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church, wanted to know whether the ministers had the right to ask others to do something that the churches have not done themselves. He said that white churches are still segregated and that the business men the ministers are asking to desegregate their restaurants are all members of churches in Raleigh.

ODDS & ENDS

it now, there is absolutely no need for a new civil organization in Raleigh. The Raleigh Citizens Association has made several mistakes in its efforts to bring about a better way of life for Negroes in Raleigh. As a citizen negotiating body it has rightfully spearheaded the talks in all the areas of citizens rights. The list of achievements accomplished by this citizens group is a fairly long and imposing one.

During all this time the Raleigh branch of the NAACP has been standing by, ready and willing to take over and process any legal action which failure on the part of the citizens to negotiate a favorable decision might necessitate. Since the local NAACP is an arm of the National organization, we thereby have access to all the resources of the national organization.

Because of these undeniable facts, it is hard to justify the creation of a separate and distinct body to work in this field.

No one seems to really know who is responsible for this new creation. "The Citizens Coordinating Committee." No one seems to know where or when it will end. However, this much is certain, its creation has caused much unrest, misunderstanding and more confusion than anything else. At this time we cannot afford unrest, misunderstanding and confusion within our ranks. As we see the matter, it is now time for the "Citizens Coordinating Committee" to fade away.

ONE THING IT DID SAY
 North Carolina tax paid legal "experts" have been very busy during the past few days, trying to explain what the U. S. Supreme Court did not say last Monday when it struck down some of this state's segregation acts.

The assistant Attorney General is quoted as saying that the court's decision does not affect this state's trespass law nor does it stop a merchant from discriminating against anyone he chooses to discriminate against. According to the expert segregationists, nothing really has been changed by the court's decision and the old order remains.

Well these segregationists know and we know that the court's decision does change things. One does not need to be a lawyer to interpret the total impact of the Durham ruling. It is true that the court did no rule on this state's trespass law, neither did it say that a merchant licensed by the public must not discriminate against a segment of the public. BUT, it did say that persons who went into these segregated establishments, sat down and called for service, could not be arrested. Whether or not that ever raises the trespass law we do not know, whether a merchant would allow his place to be taken over by a group which prevented his seating the customers he desired and he shall refuse to serve them, we do not know. If Raleigh Negroes want to occupy every seat in the S&W Cafeteria, they are legally free to do so. That is what the U. S. Supreme Court said COULD BE DONE.

ANSWERED PRAYERS
 Last week we called our readers to throw bricks of prayer at the Calvary Baptist Church for its refusal to allow Negroes to enter that church on the preceding Sunday. We are sure that these prayers were answered because last Sunday

In nothing to ourselves but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall guard your hearts and your thoughts in Christ Jesus. — PHIL. 4:6-7

Just think of having His wonderful peace guarding our heart and our thoughts all day long. But it is only on condition that we fulfill the sixth verse. "In nothing to ourselves" — this is a distinct command, and, if we fail to fulfill it, we shall not get the blessing. Follow even in anxiety, and should be laid upon our blessed Lord. Then in prayer and supplication we must not forget that Thanksgiving is also distinctly commanded; we must praise God for His dealings with us, even though we cannot make them out at times. Pray God to make you come from anxiety about yourself and your plans; just be willing to do the work our dear Father gives you at the time. — The Rev. E. L. Rich
