DANVILLE, Va. — Field secretaries for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee reported here that with last week's arrest of 14 pickets and a Negro citizen standing in the street, a total of 85 persons are in jail in two days of anti-segregation demonstrations in the six-week old civil rights movement.

CLAIM MOVE SET TO HALT GRADUATION

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) ppl James H. Meredith from the University of Mississippi here, because of his public statements, the latest of which is alleged to be concerning the sniper-type slaying of Medgar W. Evers, former field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Evers was slain at midnight at his home in Jackson, on June 10. Another closed session on the matter of Meredith's conduct is being planned for the near future. Members of the Board refused to discuss the situation after their meeting on the campus here.

The 30-year-old Meredith plied in segregation at the University of Mississippi when he was admitted last October as violence reigned on the campus, resulting in two deaths.

He took the first of his two final examinations for the first summer school session last Wednesday. Governor Barnett announced the proposed action against Meredith during a news conference Tuesday.

Rumors have been circulating in this area that the Board was under heavy pressure from segregationists and some Ole Miss alumni to prevent Meredith from becoming the first Negro graduate of the 114-year-old institution. He is scheduled to receive his degree in August.

Governor Barnett, who is a graduate of the Law School of the University, now faces criminal contempt charges in the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for his efforts to block Meredith's enrollment.

Thomas Tubbs, a West Point attorney and chairman of the State College Board, said: "We have discussed the idea of petitioning the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals for permission to expel Meredith."

Newsmen were unable to obtain any statement from Meredith, an Air Force veteran, who served during the Korean Conflict.

"WILL APPEAL ALL THE WAY", MITCHELL SAYS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) Court solicitor. "We will carry the appeals as far as necessary," said Mitchell following the trial. The students marched in orderly and quietly at 9:10 a. m. and were assigned to special seats in the center aisle of the integrated courtroom.

Four of the eleven defendants convicted were sentenced to 30-day jail terms, plus $25 fines and court costs, suspended on condition that they not violate any law for a period of one year. All appeal bonds were set at $200.

Convicted of attempting to enter the back door of the Sir Walled during the demonstrations were Robert Allen Laws of 3 Fredell Terrace; Patrick Henry Bryant of 1008 Hadley Road; David Harris of 536 E. Hargett Street; and Cornelius Parks, Jr., of 6 Smith Plaza.

Although prayer for judgment was continued for the other seven, they asked for and received 30-day jail sentences. They also filed notice of appeal and bonds were set at $200 for them, also.

Convicted after prayer for judgment was continued were: James Nimrod Perry, Jr., 717 Church St.; Misses Mary Garvin and Nelle Leonard, both of 608 Nazareth St.; William Henry Sanders, 1537 Battery Drive; Patrick Henry Bryant, 1008 Hadley Road (4 charges — 3 convictions); Mack Junior Sowell, Rt. 1, Ansonville Road, Wadesboro; D. W. Miller, 513 W. South Street; Dan Dunn, Rt. 2, Auburn; Arnold Ambers, Shaw University; Coy N. Carrington, 604 Lettie St.; Roy Collins, 239 New Rand Road; Cornelius Sparks.

Jr.; Louis Roacher, 604 1/2 E. South Street; Alfred Humphrey, 604 S. McDowell St.; and Quincy Scott, Shaw University; and Robert Allen Laws.

Sentencing of ten youths arrested on similar charges at the Andrew Johnson Hotel was deferred indefinitely by Judge Winborne. All entered pleas of no contest to the charges and none appealed.

Attorney Mitchell agreed during the long court trial that hotel managers had the right to evict persons from their establishments, but declared that this state's "innkeepers law" and subsequent court rulings which he proceeded to recall, held that the innkeeper must have a valid reason for eviction.

He argued further that race was not a valid ground for using the trespass law because it violates the Constitution's "Equal Protection of the Laws" provision. The special session of the City Court heard both attorneys frequently interrupt testimony to argue points of law and precedent-setting cases.

Arresting officers were requested by defense attorney Mitchell to point out those persons whom they had arrested. Judge Winborne supported the request, although Ellis objected.

Date of a Superior Court trial had not been set at CAROLINIAN press time. Although Ellis objected to Attorney Mitchell's questions about the hotel's policy on segregation, Buddenhaugen admitted that the rooms were segregated because his customers "decidedly and overwhelmingly preferred no Negroes be admitted, he said.

When asked who determines this policy, he said, "The public we serve."

Ellis proposed at the opening of the trial that charges against the youths be amended to forcible trespass, but withdrew the motion after Mitchell vigorously objected to trying his clients on the new charge.

Attorney Mitchell told Ellis, "You have had plenty of time to serve another warrant since the arrests were made."

According to local police records there have been several cases of rape and attempted rape, both the city and Durham County recently in which the assailants were identified as Negroes by the victims.

The civil rights stand of President John F. Kennedy and his brother, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, were attacked by some of the speakers. Other speakers decried what they termed "the lack of white people to match Negroes at the polls on election days."

DELIVERS AFTER FREE-FOR-ALL PORT HARCOURT, Nigeria (AP) — Trouble arose between a 30-year-old pregnant woman, Beatrice Igwe, and another woman over who should buy a special bundle of firewood, at the Diou market. The disagreement soon spread as the two women took sides in the dispute. Before long the two groups of angry women were engaged in a free-for-all. The bundles of firewood in the market area provided easy weapons for the women as they used the loosened pieces of wood freely. Many of the women who took part in the fight left the scene with tattered clothing. The pregnant woman, although she looked weak after the battle, was taken to a maternity home at Diou where she delivered a bouncing baby boy shortly afterwards. It Pays To ADVERTISE.
