tour. At top right, Jennifer Teer, another Chicago 4-H'er, is presenting a demonstration on how to make a dress. Bottom right: Mrs. Elizabeth A Lewis, information clerk in the Chicago office of Agricultural Marketing Service, is being presented a certificate of merit by USDA Personnel Officer John E. Tromer. Looking on at left is Dr. L. J. Biever, youth advisor of the Illinois Agricultural Extension Service, who is directing the 4-H activities at the exhibit. Duane Nelson, right, information specialist of the Federal Extension Service, is in charge of the USDA display. (USDA PHOTO).

We commonly refer to ground covers as being substitutes for grass in those areas of the land-scape where grass is difficult to

Most of the plants used for ground covers are low growing with spreading habit. Some spread by underground or surface runners while others spread by the rooting of stems that come in contact with the soil. When good plants are used and properly fed and watered, the spreading types should be well established in about one year.

The weed problem can be largely solved by either fumigating the soil before planting or heavy mulching of the entire area around the plants after setting. Peat moss, ground corn cobs and pine needles are ex-

DR. C. D. PETTAWAY, of Little Rock, President of the National Baptist Convention of America, the nation's oldest national Negro Baptist organiza-tion, said that resolutions passed at the forthcoming annual convention in Dallas, Sept. 4-8 will strongly endorse President Kennedy's civil rights program and urge more legislative action in the field of social action. Host to the convention, which will be the 83rd, will be Rev. B. E. Joshua, pastor of Munger Ave. apt-tist Church, Dallas. (ANP Pho-

NEW PRESIDENT OF NIA -William A. Clement, vice president and agency director of the North Carolina Mutual Life Inssurance Company, has been e-lected president of the National Insurance Association, which held its 43rd Annual Meeting in Chicago last week at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel. He was elected to office on Aug. 22. The Association is comprised of 49 companies and six associations. There were more than 350 regis-tered delegates present. Clement, who succeeds George A. Beavers, chairman of the board of Golden State Mutual, has served the NIA as secretary and as a member of its board of died to full sun, light shade and heavy shade, I like to think of ground covers as not necessarily substitutes established, the weed problem is considerably lessened.

There are so many plants that are used for ground covers that it would not be wise to try to name would not be wise to try to name them all. Many of the low, dense growing flowering plants may be used but I will confine this to some of the more common evergreen types. First the ivies (Hedera he-
