

6 Found Guilty Of Raping Woman In NC Cemetery

WILSON — Prison terms ranging from 30 days to 6-12 years were meted out Friday to five youths and a man convicted of raping a 41-year-old woman who was vacationing here in June from her job in Long Island, N. Y.

The alleged attack took place on Saturday, June 8, according to Mrs. Willie Handy, the victim.

She testified that she and a friend, Lawrence Harris, were enroute to Hamp Dymun's Place, near the Old Statesburg Road, when they were accosted by a group of between ten and fifteen youths on a small path.

The youngsters allegedly passed by the first time after Harris spoke briefly to Orster Weaver, whom he knew casually.

The boys then came up behind them, the pair testified, drove Harris away with bricks, and took Mrs. Handy to nearby Rest Haven Cemetery, where she was reportedly assaulted nine times.

Two of the defendants, Walter Bernard Hardy, 18, of Wilson; and Donnie Weaver, 16, of Rte. 2, Wilson, were declared not guilty by the 12-man all-white jury, which only deliberated for 45 minutes.

Similar charges against Larry Henderson, 17, were not pressed by Roy Howard, the solicitor.

The only married defendant, Orster Weaver, 24, was found guilty of assault on a female with intent to

Enfield Negroes Ask Integration, "Never," Declares Chief Of Police

BY J. B. HARRIS

ENFIELD — This south Halifax County town, steeped in the history of the original colonization of Eastern America, has awakened to find itself deeply in what is becoming a national series of demonstrations, marches and picketings by the Negro community in an all-out effort to remove the stigma of segregation from American life.

Starting with picketing of the local part-time theatre, (which eventually closed its doors rather than desegregate) the local NAACP Youth Council has spearheaded picketings for jobs in stores and attempts to integrate cafes. Saturday, August 31 saw some forty or more arrests made; and what came near being a race riot, according to both colored and white citizens.

The campaign here has been largely directed by Robert Blow, one of the NAACP "Commandos" sent out during the summer to train communities in the tactics of non-violent demonstrations and picketing in an effort to further the civil rights movement.

Halifax County is at least fifty per cent colored and on weekends the stores of the towns—Roanoke Rapids, Weldon, Enfield, Scotland Neck, Halifax—are filled with a mass of colored farmers and tenants who make it a holiday and the balance of profit for all white merchants except a few Jimcrowed cafes. Some of the latter were among the objects of recent picketings. Others have a side for colored. The colored cafes are a mile away in the colored communities.

A variety store has reportedly refused to accede to the demand for colored salesgirls, even on a part-time basis. Many picketing arrests have been made there.

The town passed an ordinance

Newsman Aids Nixon's Bid For Hero's Medal

WILMINGTON — W. H. "Bill" Snyder, veteran newspaper man and presently connected with Radio Station WMFD's news department, has turned over to the Wilmington JOURNAL his affidavit which this newspaper believes may get local hero Cursley Nixon a coveted Carnegie Hero Medal and possibly some financial reward.

A little more than a month ago, the JOURNAL called Nixon's feat — during the plane crash at the local air show two years ago — to the attention of the Foundation in Pittsburgh, Pa. Officials there called for

Validity Of Resignation Questioned

BY CHARLES E. JONES

George L. Quiett, head football coach at St. Augustine's College for the past two years, confirmed a rumor from his new office at North Carolina College at Durham Wednesday morning that he had broken a contract with the local college to assume a position as assistant coach under Herman H. Riddick, mentor at the Durham institution.

Quiett indicated the college here had reneged on promises made to athletes before they came to the school. Herman Riddick, a hardy football prospect from Miami, Florida who allegedly accompanied Quiett to North Carolina College, has returned to St. Augustine's of his own accord, according to Coach Quiett.

A former All-CLAA athlete, who hails from Baton Rouge, La., Quiett admitted that he received four years of education at St. Aug. "without paying a penny" in tuition or other normal expenses incurred by the average college student, as he was on an athletic scholarship.

Dr. James A. Boyer, president of St. Augustine's, said Tuesday he had received a letter of resignation from Quiett late in August, but that it still has not been accepted as Quiett allegedly signed a new contract in April "which is still valid."

However, Joseph T. Person, former football great at both Washington High School, Raleigh, and North Carolina College, Durham, was hired last week to replace Quiett.

Person, a Raleigh native, lives at 2310 Wade Avenue. He is 5' 11" and weighs 190 pounds. He holds the B. S. degree from NCC and is working on his master's degree at the University of Indiana, during the summer months.

From 1955, the year of his graduation at Durham, to 1963 he was supervisor of recreation in the town of Lumberton.

He will serve under newly-elected head coach Jesse Clemens, who is also chairman of the Health and Physical Education Dept. at St. Aug.

Coach Person is married to the former Miss Carolyn Kennedy of Newton. They have one daughter, Juanda Jo Person, 3.

Mayor's Race Group Gives 'Good' Report

The 14-member Raleigh Community Relations Committee, appointed by Mayor James W. (Jim) Reid recently, made a favorable report Monday night on the progress of desegregation in the Capital City.

The committee was told by representatives of motel-hotel organizations that the general trend was good. A survey of concerns in the area showed, in general, that business had not decreased and that no incidents had occurred in the three months of desegregated operation.

Although the names of the Negro members of the committee were printed in The CAROLINIAN several weeks ago, with permission of the mayor's secretary, he refused to release any more names until a chairman has been chosen for the group.

Members include representatives of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, Raleigh Merchants Bureau and the Hotel and Motel Associations.

"Can't Fight Bayonets." G. C. Wallace

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — For the second time in three months, Alabama's Governor George C. Wallace has lost in his attempts to keep this state's schools lily-white. This time it only took a few strokes of a fountain pen held by the President of the United States.

The President thwarted Tuesday the segregationist stand of the defiant little governor by federalizing the National Guard in Wallace's own state.

As a result, twenty Negro students were admitted to integrated classes in the Birmingham, Mobile and Tuskegee public schools. Kennedy federalized Alabama's 17,000-member National Guard, thereby removing them from Wallace's control.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, was directed by the President to use any forces necessary to desegregate the three cities schools as decreed by federal courts earlier in the summer.

The Negro students were escorted to schools by local police instead of being kept away as Wallace had ordered the National Guard to do.

Governor Wallace said from Montgomery: "The Kennedy's have now taken command of the Alabama garrison. The president, consumed by a doubtful re-election, has taken complete charge and the Kennedy forces are laying the predicate for the jailing of the governor of Alabama."

"I can't fight bayonets," the governor said.

Delivering the President's mandate to Wallace Tuesday morning was Gen. A. L. Harrison, commander of the National Guard of Alabama.

Arrested Tuesday were nine white men, most of them for refusing to disperse when told by police officers to do so. All of the

Nineteen Pickets Released

SAVANNAH, Ga.—Nineteen demonstrators, who had been in jail here 55 days for lack of bond, were released last week.

The nineteen, including Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee field worker Bruce Gordon, had been charged with $1,200 peace bonds sworn out by white persons. They had to sign a prepared statement by a municipal court judge in order to obtain their release.

WHITE MINISTER, STUDENT GIVEN 18 MONTHS AND FINE

ATLANTA — A white minister and white student were each sentenced to six months in the common jail, one year on the work gang and fined $1000 for integration activities here.

Rev. Ashton Bryan Jones, a 67-year-old minister from San Gabriel, Cal., was convicted of disturbing a divine worship, a misdemeanor, and given a maximum sentence. The indictment took place on June 30 at the First Baptist Church of Atlanta, which refused admittance to Jones because he was accompanied by a Negro companion.

Jones was accused of "shouting, screaming, and lying down" in front of the church.
