TOTS DROWN SISTER IN TUB

Mom Away As Infant Perishes

DURHAM — Anxious to be of some help to their mother, who had gone to a nearby grocery store, two local children gave their baby sister, 20-months-old, a bath Monday. When the mother returned home after a short time, she found the infant drowned in the bath tub, according to Coroner D. R. Perry.

Mrs. Vernice Purvis was quoted by Coroner Perry as saying she left home at 11 a.m., leaving the three children, ages five, three and 20 months, alone.

"During my absence, the older children undressed the baby and put her in the tub to give her a bath," Mrs. Purvis stated.

She further stated that upon her

Say Mayor Brandished A Pistol

BY ALEXANDER BARNES
PITTSBORO — According to reliable sources, Mayor W. Lea Powell is alleged to have caused Negro citizens much concern here recently when he is reported to have held a pistol on a 17-year-old Horton High School senior and marched him through the street.

The incident is said to have occurred when an attractive young white housewife, Mrs. Mary Ross Lindsay, called the Mayor and told him that she had been followed by a Negro boy.

The woman lives across the street from the town office, and when he was apprised of the incident, Powell is alleged to have gotten into his car and to have pursued the boy. Even

Ex-Cashier At A&T Tells All

GREENSBORO — The career of Isalah Jerome Prince, 37-year-old former assistant cashier at A&T College here, is now hanging in the balance.

He allegedly admitted taking $4,470 in school funds, according to Henry L. Bridges, State Auditor.

Prince, who is married and the father of one child, has been employed at A&T for the past nine years. He was fired Monday, September 22.

A telephone call to the office of Ellis F. Corbett, director of public relations for the institution late Tuesday, revealed that there are no photographs of Prince available.

Said Corbett: "We have photographs of all of the faculty members, but we do not have many pictures of staff members. All of the wire services and local papers have been trying to get pictures of Prince, but there just aren't any."

Man Freed As Defendant In Case Created By Alleged 'Root Doctor'

Charges and countercharges were flying freely in City Court last Friday morning as Walter McCloud, 40, 1011 Mark Street, was found not guilty of disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct at the home of Herbert James, 224 Smithfield Street.

James was the prosecuting witness in the case, but McCloud seemed to be assuming the role of Assistant Solicitor E. Ray Briggs when he asked James if he recognized a woman's brassiere which was held in McCloud's hand, with a small bag attached to it.

James replied heatedly: "No, I don't wear them."

McCloud retorted: "No, you don't wear them, but that's supposed to make folks die supernaturally. He indicated that James was a 'root doctor.'"

Knowledge of the potency of the small bag, its ownership or the brassiere was denied by Mr. James. McCloud then took the stand and told the court that James had been dealing in the "black arts, such as getting folks mixed up and making them walk backwards."

At this point, the defendant was asked by Solicitor Briggs: "You aren't afraid of that little bag of roots, are you?"

McCloud confessed that he

Two Leaders Reply To Dr. King's Demands

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Millionaire A. G. Gaston and Attorney Arthur D. Shores, both of whom have been the targets of recent bombings here, voiced strong opposition Saturday to "further outside interference" while two Presidential advisers are seeking a solution to the racial problem.

The business tycoon and lawyer issued a joint statement, saying: "We feel the city has capable local leadership among the Negro community, fully capable of negotiating the problems."

This statement was a rather blunt reply to a four-point ultimatum issued by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the day before, when he warned that unless his demands were met there would be new demonstrations recommended in the city of Birmingham. Dr. King made the demands during the annual convention of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Reliable sources at the White House confirmed Monday that President John F. Kennedy will nominate Robinson to a federal judgeship in the District of Columbia.

He will thus become the first Negro ever to be named to the position and has done a tremendous job to further Washington's civil rights during the past ten years.

8 Negro Stars In Lineups

NEW YORK, N. Y.—John Roseboro, regular catcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers, hit a 3-run homer in the second inning of the first game of the World Series here Wednesday afternoon and the Los Angeles Dodgers went ahead of the favored New York Yankees by a score of 5-0 at the bottom of the sixth inning. At the end of the game, Pitcher Sandy Koufax had set a new World Series strikeout record as he struck out fifteen men. The final score was 4-2, in favor of the Dodgers.

Roseboro is one of the eight Negro stars taking part in this year's autumn spectacular.

The others are: Elston Howard, regular catcher for the New York Yankees; Al Downing, who is expected to start as the Yankee pitcher on Thursday; and Hector Lopez, left-fielder for the Yanks.

The Dodgers have Maury Wills at shortstop; Jim Gilliam, second and third base; Willie Davis, centerfielder; Tommy Davis, leftfielder, and National League batting champion for the past two consecutive years; and Roseboro.

Pitching the Wednesday opening game were Whitey Ford for New York and Sandy Koufax for the Dodgers.

Koufax entered the Series with a 25-victory record for the Dodgers and a National League strikeout record of 306, but the Yankees were still favored in the opener, 6-5 and in the Series, 7 1-2 to 5.

In the bottom of the eighth inning, the Dodgers were leading by a score of 5-0 as Tom Tresh hit a 2-run homer for the Yankees that seemed to have shaken Koufax for a moment. However, he recovered and struck out the third man in the ninth to get his total of 15 strikeouts and a new record.

Victories In Sit-Ins Foreseen

NEW YORK—Constitutional law experts expect integrationists to win a momentous legal battle before the U. S. Supreme Court in civil rights test cases involving police arrests of sit-ins based on charges of criminal trespass or disorderly conduct. The Insider's Newsletter said Monday.

The NAACP will ask the High Court to bar such arrests on the ground that the use of public law enforcement officers and the courts to support private discrimination is unconstitutional.

If the NAACP wins the case, integrationists will have chalked up their most important legal victory since the 1954 school desegregation decision.

The result, The Newsletter says, is that Southern police would lose their weapon against sit-in demonstrators and that private businesses might reach to such a decision by hiring "private police" to remove unwelcome customers. This in turn would probably necessitate another Court decision on the extent of private property rights.

Two men were nabbed by state authorities Sunday and one was released on bond in a habeas corpus hearing. All three were charged with illegal possession of dynamite, a misdemeanor in the State of Alabama.

HOUSTON, Texas — In what is believed to be the first picket line ever thrown in front of a church, this city's First Baptist Church (Central) was picketed in the South, in the site each Sunday morning of a picket line, formed by members of the Congress of Racial Equality.

The pastor, the Rev. K. Owen White, is president of the Southern Baptist Convention. Many churches throughout the South have been targets of kneel-ins or stand-ins for the past five or six years.

Parishioners attending both the morning and evening worship services are confronted with placards saying: "Is God Black Or White?"; "How Can A Christian Church Be Segregated?"; and "Don't Worship God In A Segregated Church."

Included among the pickets are the five Negroes who formally applied for membership in the church
