Dr. Richard L. Fields Introduces New Developmental Services Plan

GREENSBORO—A strong emphasis upon "making the good better and the better, best," marks the developmental services program which Dr. Richard L. Fields has introduced to the Bennett College curriculum this year.

Dr. Fields, who taught psychology at Bennett during the 1956-57 academic year, returned to the college last fall after receiving his Ph. D. degree at Rutgers University. As director of developmental services, he works with a staff of six and together they cover seven areas. Dr. Fields heads the reading staff, and the staff are assigned as follows: Miss Claudia Finger, speech; Mrs. Amella Altwater, grammar; Ozie Johnson, mathematics; Mrs. Carolyn Gaither, family life; Mrs. Mariane Rosthal, language, and Dr. John O. Crawford, writing.

"The aim of our program," Dr. Fields explained, "is to discover students who do not seem to be working at their full potential and to help them to move forward. Our responsibility is to provide challenging opportunities in all areas which will foster greater and

Woman Dies At Funeral Of Sister

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Death dealt another tragic blow to the family of Mrs. Estella M. Giles when her sister, Mrs. Myrtle Jones collapsed and died December 23, while attending Mrs. Giles' funeral at Second Baptist Church.

After being stricken, Mrs. Jones was administered to and pronounced dead by her brother-in-law, Dr. Howard D. Giles.

Wilbur G. McNabb Mortuary who conducted the services, reported that "in 37 years of business, this was our first experience of this kind."

Mrs. Jones' was the third death in the immediate family during 1963. Her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Blue Harris, passed in January at the age of 77. Mrs. Giles died Dec. 20 before Mrs. Jones' demise.

more complete development. "We in the developmental services," he continued, "are committed to the proposition that each student should develop to her fullest potential. It should be clear that our program is not organized as a remedial one. We do not feel that we are equipped to attempt to bring failing students up to adequate levels of performance. We believe that it remains the individual instructor's responsibility to provide extra help for the student who is behind."

Newsboy, 13 Given 10 G's By Customer

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I'll take the money and go to college. I'd like to be a doctor."

That was the reaction of 13-year-old Cleveland newsboy Alfred Thurman, after he was informed last week that one of his 26 customers, a 68-year-old retired rubbish collector, who died last June, had willed him an estate valued at $10,000.

Thurman's benefactor was William Stovall, who was an orphan who himself had known hard times. He had lost his wife in 1961 and had no relatives.

Thurman, one of 18 children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watson of nearby Chagrin Falls, was surprised by the generosity. He said he didn't know why Stovall left him the estate because he had treated him "the same as I did all the others on my route."

He explained, however, that "whenever he was sick I would get water for him and help him around the house." But, added Thurman, "it wasn't anything I wouldn't do for my other customers."

Stovall, however, knew why he wanted to bequeath the money to the boy. When his attorney told him after his wife's death that it was time to think about making out a will or his money would go to the state, Stovall declared:

"I'd like to do something nice for my paperboy. He's such a good kid and knows the value of a buck." He then made out the will bequeathing the estate to young Thurman.

The estate which the boy will receive after the death of Stovall's elderly housekeeper consists of 24 lots, each 20 x 100 foot, in the Park Allotment Negro community and Stovall's 10-room brick house.

Since the boy will use the money to go to college and study medicine, Stovall was right in his prediction that the youth "knows the value of a buck."

Rape Charge Against Medic Is Dismissed

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP)—Charges of raping a 17-year-old high school student against Dr. Edward T. Wood, prominent Hempstead physician, were dismissed in court here last week when the girl repudiated her earlier confession.

Judge Abraham M. Roth dismissed the charges against Dr. Wood when the girl admitted under questioning that the doctor did not rape her.

Early in November the girl had charged that the doctor, resident physician at Kings County Hospital, had raped her in his quarter. She said she had first gone to the doctor's eye clinic, and then followed him to his quarters.

The doctor maintained throughout that the allegation was false.

BEST HIDEOUT THERE IS MAYS LANDING, N. J. (AP)— One night recently 14 prisoners in the local jail staged a break, and a 13-state alarm was instituted by state police. Eight prisoners were captured immediately, but six remained at large. Two days after the escape, one of the wanted prisoners, Charles Whitley, 35, of Brandon, Mass., was found in his cell.

Whitley claimed he had never left his cell except for meals and exercise, and his cell-mates gave corroborating testimony. However, the guards insisted that he wasn't there when roll was called.

taken, either after the break was discovered, or at subsequent regular roll calls. Whatever the explanation, Whitley is scheduled for release soon after having served a 60-day sentence for assault and battery.
