Man's Fire Death Still Being Probed

Mystery still shrouds the actual cause of the death of Oliver G. Williams, 36, of 1100 Hadley Road, Rochester Heights.

Williams was found dead in a sitting position on a chair in a blazing kitchen in his home Sunday night when Raleigh firemen arrived. Although he was burned seriously, the cause of his death has not been conclusively determined. Wake County Coroner Marshall W. Bennett told The CAROLINIAN on Tuesday night that Williams had been "knocked out" by something before he died.

Coroner Bennett, who talked to the dead man's wife on Monday, said she told him that her husband had been drinking all day Sunday. An autopsy ordered on Williams' body will not be completed for several days.

Asheboro Arrests Now Stand At 51; Youngest Jailed Is 13

ASHEBORO — Police arrested fifty-one Negroes here Saturday during sit-in and lie-in demonstrations at two local eating establishments, climaxing four nights of silent marches through the business section of town.

Thirteen of those arrested were juveniles, 13 to 15 years of age. The other 38 were placed in the Randolph County Jail.

Officers took several of the juveniles bodily from the establishments four times. They rejoined new groups of adult demonstrators after being carried to their homes by police.

All have been charged with violation of a town ordinance which makes it a misdemeanor to block or obstruct the entrance to a business establishment.

Bond for each was set at $25. However, one 16-year-old girl refused to leave the jail even after her father posted her bond.

The arrests came as members of the Asheboro Ministerial Alliance, composed of both Negro and white clergymen, met to nominate possible members of a bi-racial committee to help mediate racial problems.

The arrests were made at the Little Castle, a newsstand, which also serves sandwiches and sodas, and Hop's Barbecue.

A crowd of white persons, estimated at 150, encircled the area. Many of them jeered the demonstrators.

The oldest demonstrator arrested gave his age as 30. The youngest was listed as being 13 years of age.

CHICAGO (ANP)—A bewildered doll-loving 16-year-old girl is scheduled to become Chicago's youngest mother.

Not old enough to fully comprehend what has happened to her, the girl who just became 16 a few weeks ago, is in a local hospital whiling away her time cutting out paper dolls in the maternity ward.

Authorities said the girl is eight and a three-fourth months pregnant and will give birth to her baby within one week.

Meanwhile, a 16-year-old boy, son of the girl's foster parents, has been taken into custody on the basis of the girl's statement that he had had sexual relations with her. The young father-to-be is being held in the Arthur J. Andy Home for children. Officials were questioning him about the case.

Dr. Samuel L. Andelman, the city's health commissioner, said that when the girl gives birth to the child, she will be the youngest mother in Chicago's history.
