MEMORY HONORED — The 19th Annual CIAA Basketball Tournament, to be played at the Greensboro Coliseum on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 27, 28, and 29, will honor the memory of the late Shelton Matthews, above, basketball coach at Virginia State College from 1949 to 1963.

At Reynold's Coliseum:

'Trotters Meet Seagulls Of Atlantic City March 2

It was 37 years ago that Abe Saperstein, a fellow who has netted a fortune from basketball, came out of Chicago with an unknown and undistinguished Negro basketball team he chose to call the Harlem Globetrotters. Today you'll have to change two of those words for the Globetrotters are most assuredly known and distinguished — undoubtedly the world's most successful professional team in any sport. They'll be here in style and class to play the Atlantic City Seagulls at Reynolds Coliseum, Raleigh, Monday, March 2, at 8 P. M. And still running the show . . . still hustling and promoting . . . is the vital Saperstein, a five-foot-three-inch fireball known the Year in and year out Abe's teams give the sports public the finest show for its entertainment dollar anywhere. That's why the Harlem Globetrotters have performed in 52 countries, drew 75,000 for a single game in Berlin Olympic Stadium, played before 50,000 in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and attracted 35,516 one evening in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. Saperstein and the Trotters have toured many sectors of the world under the sponsorship of the U. S. Globetrotters never wear out their welcome. Both showmanship and ability have made this amazing

Three-Day Clashes Begin On Thursday, Feb. 27

The teams on this page loom large as prospects to participate in the 19th Annual CIAA Basketball Tournament to be played at the Greensboro Coliseum on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 27, 28 and 29, 1964. The A&T Aggies, current leaders in the conference flag race; the Maryland State College Hawks; the Norfolk State College Spartans and the Shaw University Bears, all have clinched berths in the annual dribble derby. The remaining four positions are still at stake, subject to the final outcome in encounters scheduled during the coming week. The other four could include Johnson C. Smith University; North Carolina College; Hampton Institute; and "probables" in Morgan State College; Delaware State College and St. Paul's College.

Chicago To Host Twin NBA Confab, Tourney

BY BILL BROWER
CHICAGO (ANP)—The Chicago Bowling Senate will be host to the 1964 convention and national tournament of the National Bowling Association in May. A gala jubilee week is planned for the silver anniversary of the NBA, with the convention headquarters slated for the Morrison Hotel. The opening session, May 19, will be an executive meeting. The convention is expected to draw from 700 to 800 delegates from New York City to California.

Convention sessions will end May 19, and after a day's rest, the events will shift to suburban Skokie, where the 23rd annual tournament will open at Twin Orchard Bowl. The tournament will run to May 24, and between 3,000 to 4,000 bowlers are expected to participate. Other activities are scheduled during the week.

A delegates' luncheon hosted by the American Machine and Foundry Co., producers of automatic pin-setting apparatus; the fourth annual United Negro College Fund benefit mixed fables at Caktin Bowling Plaza in Skokie; the annual convention banquet, and the king and queen coronation ball at the Morrison. Many champions from 1963 will see action. Top keggers will include J. W. Sims, the nation's ranking Negro bowler Joseph Thomas, East Orange, N. J., is the NBA president; other officers are Virgin Brown, Cleveland, vice president; Mrs. Charlie Mae McIntosh, Toledo, secretary-treasurer, and Eric M. DeFreitas, New York City, public relations director. NBA headquarters are in Toledo.
