CLUBS

BOOK GUILD IN SESSION HERE

The Book Guild met at the home of Mrs. Lula Robinson, with Mrs. Irene L. Mangrum, the president, presiding. The devotional period, led by Miss Beatrice R. Martin, preceded the business session.

Book Guild members welcomed a new member, Mrs. Willie C. High, who recently joined the club. Mrs. Maude Smith most charmingly reviewed the book entitled "To Live Again", by Catherine Marshall. Mrs. Robinson, the hostess, served a delicious repast.

Members present were: Mrs. Lula Robinson, Mrs. Irene L. Mangrum, Mrs. Maude Smith, Miss Alberta Hunt, Mrs. Emma P. Boyer, Mrs. Ella Williams, Mrs. Willie C. High and Miss Beatrice R. Martin.

HAMPTON ALUMNI MEET

The members of the Raleigh Chapter of Hampton Institute Alumni met on February 12 at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Baker Housen of 121 Lincoln Court. Mrs. Allie M. Peebles presided over the business session. Reports were heard from the following committees: program, finance, contacts and nominations.

The program committee is working on details for the club's project which will be announced later. This committee and the finance are working hand in hand so the local chapter can do its share in the national $1,000,000 drive sponsored by alumni to strengthen the Hampton curriculum in the area of technology.

The nominations committee chaired by Mrs. Dorothy Housen brought in the following slate of officers: president, Richard Wimberley; vice-president, David Law; assistant secretary, Miss G. H. McAllister, financial secretary, Miss Martha Robinson, treasurer, Mrs. Lula H. Myers, and reporter, Mrs. Allie M. Peebles.

The group gave the outgoing president a vote of thanks for serving quite a number of years as president. Richard Wimberley invited all Hamptonians in the area to a regional meeting will be held on April 4 and 5, in Charlotte.

NINE AND FIVE CLUB

Mrs. Mary Marable of Fowle St. was hostess to the Nine and Five Club recently. After the regular business session, each member presented Mrs. Cornelia Cobb with a beautiful birthday gift. The members next played two games of Pokena. Mrs. Cobb, our honored member received a beautiful prize for the high score, and Mrs. Ruth Bethea received a prize for low score.

The hostess served a delicious Valentine dinner.

Members present were: Mesdames Ruth Bethea, Geneva Brown, Cornelia Cobb, Addie Harris, Alma Harrison, Mary Marable, Sara Sharper, Ann Webb and Bessie Wesley. We regret to report that Mesdames Lovie Ella, Bertha Wilcox, and Helen Mitchell were not with us this time because they are ill.

ROYALETTES SOCIAL AND CIVIC CLUB

The Royalties Social and Civic Club met Sunday, Feb. 16th at 5 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Doris Brown. Mrs. Virginia Blount was co-hostess. After the devotion, the president, Mrs. Janet Fields, opened the meeting for business. She named the different committees, and the duties they are to perform for the year, and expressed her wish for cooperation from all members.

After the business session, a delicious repast was served by the hostess, to the following members present:

Mesdames Olivia Blount, Julia Brown, Eleanor Flagg, Helen Goode, Susan Haywood, Susan Ferguson, Leona Morgan, Margaret Peebles, Elizabeth Peebles, Lillie Turner and Carrie Morgan.
