Mrs. Lucy Seabrook Dies In Durham At Age Of 103

FAYETTEVILLE — Graveside rites were held here February 18 for Mrs. Lucy Hadden Seabrook who died in her 103rd year at a Durham hospital. She is survived by one son, Dr. J. W. Seabrook, president emeritus of Fayetteville State College; one daughter, Mrs. Edith S. Parham, Durham; five grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren.

The deceased was born in Greenville, S. C., May 24, 1861. She was educated at Claflin College. She married a Presbyterian clergyman, the Rev. Morris J. Seabrook in 1884.

She taught in parochial schools in South Carolina for many years. Since 1922, Mrs. Seabrook had been living near Fayetteville State College where her geniality and hospitality caused her to be known to the students as "Mether" Seabrook.

The deceased left a written request that only graveside rites be held and that in lieu of flowers donations in her memory be made to the Haymount Presbyterian Church, Fayetteville, Rev. C. H. Thomas, pastor.

Elks Honor J. Finley Wilson In Impressive D. C. Memorial

WASHINGTON, D. C. (ANP)—A memorial service was held here last week for J. Finley Wilson, former grand exalted ruler of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, who headed the fraternal organization from 1922 until his death, Feb. 19, 1952.

The memorial service was conducted by the local Elks chapter, with temples here and in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia and Maryland participating.

Wilson was known during his reign as Elks chieftain as "Little Napoleon" because of his numerous successes.

Springing Up For Spring

We gain know "preventive maintenance" at spring cleaning time is a work-and-money saver inside the house. Well, I've learned from watching my husband at work on the outside of the house that the same principle applies outdoors as well.

It's a full year since my husband invested in stainless steel combination storm and screen doors, thresholds, gutters and downspouts. Today every single piece of that beautiful metal looks sturdy, shiny-smooth and new!

My husband assures me that rust and corrosion resistant stainless steel will keep its handsome appearance for years, save us costly repairs and replacements. We'd been plagued with needless expenses of that sort when we used old-fashioned materials.

Of course, I'm most interested in how things look. One thing that delights me is that there are no unsightly rust streaks on the painted surface of our house anymore... thanks to non-rusting stainless fittings of all sorts that my husband used for the window, door and roof joints!

For lady (and men) spring gardeners, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation offers some garden tool advice: if you want your tools to retain their beauty, shape and good performance for years, be sure they're tough and corrosion resistant. I found out through sad experience what happens to inferior metals in contact with the moisture, chemicals and soil minerals of gardening. Stainless steel provided the best solution to that problem for me! It's light-weight and so easy to wipe clean. Pretty, too.

Check For $332 Given To Shaw U.

Frank Odom, regional representative, and E. L. Martin, Raleigh Manager of the Gulf Oil Corporation, presented a check for $332.00 to Dr. James E. Cheek, president of Shaw University.

This check represented a part of a grant which will be given to 692 schools throughout the country and 39 independent Negro colleges and universities located in 13 states as a part of the company's comprehensive aid to education program.

Direct grants are given by Gulf to improve the economic well-being of privately-operated colleges and universities and to assist them in the preservation of their independence and operation.

Funds are distributed annually in accordance with a formula designed to promote a balanced educational program in each school and to encourage increased financial support by alumni.

HE PREFERS HARD TRACK
MEMPHIS (ANP) — Pearl Brown Jr., 18, languishes in jail today because he picked the wrong track to make his getaway. Brown was caught in the act of robbing the house of a school board official, who had left the front door unlocked. A policeman alerted to the robbery gave chase, and around the house the pair ran, with Brown having a hard time getting enough distance between him and his pursuer to effect a breakaway escape. On the third time around the house, Brown was overhauled by his pursuer, and together they made tracks to the police station.

over the Elks helm at the age of 42, there were only 300 lodges in the entire organization. But by the time of his death, the number had risen to 1,300 including lodges in England, Africa, South America, Cuba and Puerto Rico.

The most thrilling experience I had during my holiday was "rafting on the Rio Grande" at Port Antonio. Two of us sat on a bamboo seat midway along a 25-foot raft. Our native captain poled us downriver until we hit the rapids. Here we used his years of experience to guide the raft through the incredibly foamy water.
