Byers, Duncan Vie For State Presidency

The NCTA, like any other organization, is not void of politics, but the framers of the constitution have made it possible that much of the trickery and skulduggery has been taken out.

Friday will be election day and all qualified voters will go to the polling place and cast their ballots. The ballot was prepared by an election committee and carries the names of hopefuls.

The race for president is between two outstanding members, W. G. Byers, principal, Fairview School, Charlotte, is vying with Dr. S. E. Duncan, former supervisor of high schools in the state and currently president of Livingstone College. Both men have made valuable contributions to the Association.

Perrous close to the situation gives Duncan an edge over Byers, but Cassius Clay embarrassed the dopesters and Ambassador Lodge, without lending a hand, snowed under Goldwater and Rockefeller. Byers is the current vice-president.

M. M. Daniels, Wilson, and E. M. Holley have made their intentions known for the office of vice-president. Mr. Daniels heads Elvie High School, in Wilson, and Holley is the chief at Florence School, Guilford County. Mrs. G. J. Bowe, supervisor of Hertford County schools, wants more votes for secretary than Mrs.

Executive Secretaries Play Major Roles In Steering Teachers Assoc.

Even though the growth and development of the North Carolina Teachers Association has been due to the cooperation of all its members, the direction has been steered by the executive secretaries who have served the organization. The passing of the late Dr. William L. Greene, whose name was synonymous with the body, caused many to fear for the future. There were others who felt that perhaps the authority should be vested in a commission. They decided on Dr. Charles A. Lyons, Jr., to shape the policy.

Dr. Lyons left his post as dean of Elizabeth City Teachers College, and assumed his duties as executive secretary here. He soon exhibited the ability, tact and experience that it took to make the huge organization click. He has surrounded himself with an adequate staff and the work has moved with a minimum of difficulty.

Even though the job requires extensive planning and direction, he has found time to dig into the civic and political life of the community.

When the remodeling of Raleigh's Municipal Auditorium made it necessary that new quarters be found to hold the annual convention and it was thought that the meeting would have to be moved to another city, it was his ingenuity that led to the facilities of N. C. State College. It was his planning of the particulars that enabled the meeting to be held without a hitch, on this vast campus.

The matter of merging with the white teachers association has been going the rounds and Dr. Lyons has had to represent the Association in trying to bring about a satisfactory solution. He was quoted as being for progress, in a recent statement, but made it plain that his organization had much to offer and he did not favor being swallowed up. He is reported as being favorable to negotiations that would save the identity of the NCTA. At a recent meeting of the Building Committee, he made the observation that the matter of integration had to be dealt with and that the NCTA should plan to meet the issue four-square.

Edythe Tweedy of Rocky Mount. They both vow to keep the records straight.

Dr. Nelson Harris, perennial keeper of the finance, finds himself confronted with Harry K. Griggs of Reidsville. They have one thing in common, they are both members of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

There are to be newcomers on the Board this year. The ballot carries the names of Mrs. Lucile Burton, R. S. Cooper, Dr. S. O. Jones, J. W. Broadhurst, Mrs. L. B. Daniels and G. A. Page.
