VICTORIAN CLUB MEETING
Mrs. Bessie W. Blue was hostess when the Victorian Club met. It means that there was a matter of a debt. So her guests numbered a quintet.

At 505 Coleman Street the lights were ablaze and the hospitality was that of high praise. For we were in the home of the Waldo E. Gays. And the evening was spent in a fulfilled haze.

There was business of some degree. We decided to contribute to Shaw University. On this matter all did agree. It wouldn't keep the doors open but it would buy a key.

Then there was the matter of the food. And this included members and guests—the brood. So that there was nobody to exclude. But some thought that the party might conclude.

But it was playing Pinochle time. And Mrs. Lula Myers was in her prime. But she did have to take heed. 'Cause next to her was Mrs. Sarah Speed.

Present also were Mesdames Catherine P. Jones and Mary Curtis. With their playing there was nothing amiss. And with the scores there was no doubt. For Mrs. Clinton Ligon was the very able scout.

Mrs. Mary Carter, as usual, was late. And, again, the booby prize was her fate. Mrs. Bertha Pulley had a high score. But Phyllis Haywood had a few points more.

There was still another prize just for luck. Mrs. Sarah Thompson that one did pluck. And still another gift for Mrs. Ragerline Gay. Aren't you glad it was the hostess who had to pay?

Mesdames Ludelle Delany, Dorothy Housen and Lillie Hodge played with grace. But until the next meeting they are out of the prize winning race. For everyone there was a sharpener and a mending kit. The whole affair was quite a hit.

Then for the hostess was a gift of pink. And other colors of the rainbow, I think. Anyway there were seven in all to undo. And there'll be one more when Mrs. Blanche Rivers gets through.

The club meeting was quite a delight. As members and guests said goodnight. Thanks to the Gays and to Mrs. Blue. It couldn't have happened without you. MORE TO COME — CLUB NEWS in charge of music, under the direction of Mr. Gaston Pulley, assisted by Miss Francine Blount. Morning lesson and prayer were given by the guest minister, the Rev. Page of Durham, who also delivered a warm message. Everyone seemed well pleased. The Rev. J. P. Dempsey is pastor.

Ray, pastor made the call to worship with the junior choir in charge of the music, under the direction of Mesdames Mints and Holder. Scripture lesson was taken from St. John, 12:1-14. Morning prayer was led by Deacon Baker. Rev. Ray brought a wonderful message from St. Matthew, 21:10. His subject was, "Who Is This That Was Sent From Jerusalem?" The League met at 6:00 p.m., with the president, Mr. Osborne, in charge.

There will be a special Easter service Friday night. The public is invited to attend.

MORNING STAR BAPTIST — Sunday School opened at 11 o'clock with the supt., in charge. The subject of the lesson was, "The Two Thieves." Morning service began by singing, "At the Cross." Next the 105th Psalm was repeated by everyone. Scripture was read from the 11th chapter of St. Mark. Announcements were made and the Missionary offering was taken. Our pastor, the Rev. S. R. Spencer, brought a wonderful message from St. Mark, 11:3. His subject was, "He." BTU opened at 6:30 p.m. with the vice president in charge. The lesson was read and discussed.
