Peace Corps Placement Tests To Be Given At Shaw April 11

Saturday, April 11 is the date of the next nation-wide Peace Corps Placement Test, the Peace Corps has announced. It will be administered by the U. S. Civil Service Commission in Raleigh at the main Post Office at 8:30 a.m. local time.

It is not too late for people to apply for the Peace Corps and still get into one of the summer training programs, officials report. This summer the Peace Corps hopes to train as many as 6,000 men and women at approximately 55 colleges and universities throughout the country. The intensive three-month training is required before trainees are finally chosen as Volunteers for overseas assignments.

The most needed skills are in the fields of agriculture, health, engineering, construction and education — particularly math and science teaching. Hundreds of additional skills have been requested, such as architecture, geology, economics and social work.

The required non-competitive Placement Test—which includes a general aptitude test and a modern language aptitude test—takes about one and a half hours to complete. Applicants with a knowledge of Spanish or French should take the additional one-hour language achievement test. However, knowledge of a foreign language is not a requirement for taking the Placement Test.

The test scores are used, along with the Questionnaire and the character references to determine overall qualifications for Peace Corps service and to help determine the most appropriate overseas assignment.

If applicants have not already turned in a Peace Corps Questionnaire, they should bring it, completed, with them when they take the Placement Test.

All applicants must be American citizens at least 18 years old. Married couples may apply if they have no dependents under 18. A college degree is not required.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE SUNDAY

NCC, DUKE STUDENTS IN SERVICE PROJECT — North Carolina College and Duke University students are shown helping a needy Durham mother and her five children move to better quarters. Undertaken jointly by the NCC United Campus Christian Ministry and the Duke Wesley Foundation, the project involved the students' furnishing a truck and performing all of the labor needed in the moving. Top left: Students from both institutions load refrigerator on truck. Top right: Duke student

New Homemakers Club Organized By Apex Group

APEX — The Apex Chapter of the New Homemakers of America is an organization of young ladies currently or previously enrolled in home economics classes. The Club's main objective is to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living.

Since this is a new organization on campus, much of the first semester was devoted to its organization and the discussion of its constitution. As a Christmas project, however, the NHA's distributed Christmas questions to all high school students so that they might obtain a broader knowledge of the meaning of Christmas. The Club also gave food to the needy families.

Plans for the second semester include traveling to Greensboro to attend the State NHA Convention at War Memorial Auditorium, and presenting the NHA Ball on April 17, 1964. Members of the sewing class will model garments they made during the year.

In addition to the above activities, the organization is working on a community project of helping the aged at Atwater Nursing Home here in Apex. One afternoon each week will be devoted to the project.

At the next assembly of high school students, the NHA's will conduct one of their regular meetings in order to show the students things that actually go on in the meetings as well as get more students interested in the NHA.

The forty members are now working out detailed plans for the many future activities. Mrs. F. E. Hiley, Home Economics instructor, is advisor of the group.

E. E. Smith High Host For N. C. Library Clubs Meet

BY MRS. W. B. HILA

FAYETTEVILLE — E. E. Smith High School at Fayetteville will serve as host for the Association of North Carolina High School Library Clubs on Saturday, April 18, when some 250 library club members and their advisers are expected to attend the 12th Annual Conference of the Association.

The conference, which will culminate National Library Week, is scheduled to be presided over by Miss Dlan White, president of ANCHSLC, who is a member of the J. W. Ligon Junior-Senior High School at Raleigh.

Registration for the conference is slated for 9:00-10:00 a.m., followed by a general assembly.

The main feature of the morning assembly will be a panel discussion on the conference theme, "The Role of Library Clubs in a Changing Society."

Marvin Rusey of Stephens-Lee High School at Asheville, vice president of the Association, is scheduled to serve as moderator for the panel. Other panelists scheduled to take part include: Parthenia F. Loftin, Central High School, Hillsboro; Edna R. Jordan, Lockhart High School of Knightdale; Barbara Cunningham, Person County High School, Roxboro; and a representative from Paisley Senior High School, Winston-Salem.

A social, talent program and business session are scheduled for the afternoon.

The Association's annual projects consist of awarding a $100 scholarship to a qualified senior who plans to become a librarian, and a contribution to CARE so that books can be purchased for foreign countries to help interpret the American way of life.

During the past year, four CARE packages in the form of Village Libraries have been sent to Colombia, Honduras, Ecuador and the Dominican Republic. Also, during the current school year the first edition of a newspaper, The ANCHSLC News was published.

Miss Judy Thompson of Merrick-Moore School at Durham, served as editor of the publication, and present plans call for semi-annual publication.

THE VETERANS CORNER

Here are authoritative answers by the Veterans Administration to questions from former servicemen and their families:

Q—Is a veteran given preference in obtaining private employment?

A—A veteran is aided in obtaining private employment by the Veterans Employment Service of the U. S. Department of Labor. This work is carried on through the local state employment offices in each of the 50 states. A veteran also has some re-employment rights for the job he held prior to going into the service. Full details may be obtained at the nearest state employment office.

Q—Can I select my own lot for future burial in Arlington National Cemetery?

A—No. Gravesites are not assigned in advance of immediate requirement. Application may only be made at time of death of the veteran or that of an eligible dependent.
