St. Augustine Incident Ruins Country's Image Here, Abroad

Warren Boycott Still On

WARRENTON — Although the board of education of Warren County has threatened to take legal action against parents of school-age children if they are not sent back to school this week, a mass meeting of Negroes Sunday decided to continue the boycott of the county's schools until the "board of education will sit down and talk."

The school boycott, which has been ninety percent effective, was called to protest the low standard of the county's schools, the work of some school personnel, and segregation.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (ANP)—Once again another Southern town has given Uncle Sam a black eye throughout the world.

This tourist town, America's oldest city and a one-time citadel of slavery, last week joined Birmingham, Ala., Albany, Ga., Jackson, Miss., and Jacksonville, Fla., in providing fodder for the propaganda cannon of America's foreign foes, particularly the Communists.

St. Augustine did it by arresting a brave and just woman, the mother of one of the nation's leading public officials, simply for joining a group of Negro Americans in requesting service in the restaurant of a motel.

Banker Seeks Seat In House

J. J. SANSOM, JR. ... seeks House seat

J. J. Sansom, Jr., announced his candidacy for one of the three seats in the State House of Representatives last Thursday night during the regular meeting of the Raleigh Citizens Association, held at the Chavis Heights Recreation Center.

Promising to campaign vigorously for the office, the vice-president and manager of the Mechanics and Farmers Bank here, said:

"In offering for office, I am convinced that unless someone seeks and is elected to office to speak for our race we will not be represented by the majority group, which is too busy with its own problems. "The first principle of democracy, its very root and foundation, is representation in proportion to numbers. It is an essential part of democracy that minorities should be adequately represented. No red democracy, nothing but a false show of democracy, is possible without it.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each incident described below was obtained from the records and files of the Raleigh Police Department through a day-to-day check and each case is authentic. No personal opinions are ever expressed in this column. Because of the vast number of names obtained each week, it is impossible to interview every person mentioned.

CURSED, BEATEN AT TRAFFIC LIGHT

Lewis Kelly, of Route 1, Garner, came to the station at 12:21 a. m. Saturday and reported that he had stopped for a traffic light at the corner of Davis and Person Streets when three men cursed him. Kelly said he then got out of the automobile and the men proceeded to beat him up.

Kelly, who had his wife with him at the time, said the men were about 25 years of age, but could give no further information regarding his assailants.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE VICTIM BEATEN

Miss Carolyn Elaine Jeffries, 17, of 105 Seaway Avenue, came to headquarters at 4:46 p.m. Monday and told the desk Sgt. that David Lee Taylor, of 117 E. Martin St. hit her with his fist at the corner of Fayetteville and Holman Streets. She signed a warrant against him for assault and battery.

Miss Jeffries is to be remembered as the same person who attempted suicide on Easter Monday and was rushed to the hospital by her mother.

In her farewell note, she stated, "Mother I'm so unhappy with David and I can't get rid of him. I can't go on living in this shell. Please forgive me. I love you."
