BY MRS. LOUISE COLVIN
APEX—On Sunday, April 5, the senior choir of First Baptist was in charge of the 11 o'clock worship service. The pastor, the Rev. W. T. Bigelow, delivered a very interesting message. His text was taken from the Book of St. Matthew, 8:10-12. We were happy to have worshiping with us members of New Hope Baptist Church.

We also had a visiting group from Siler City. To our surprise, Mrs. Queen Moffitt represented the 6th Avenue Baptist Church's Pastor's Aid Club, and brought a group from the Holiness Church of that city, which sang wonderfully. We heard very interesting remarks from Mrs. Docia Evans and Mr. George Whitford, speaking on behalf of the First Baptist Pastor's Aid Club.

On Sunday at 8:00 p.m., the Pastor's Aid Club sponsored a "King and Queen Rally". Contestants were Miss Queen Hunter, as queen and was crowned by Mr. Lovelace Jones, who was king. The program was a collection of groups out of the church family. Our Male MRS. COLVIN Our president of the PTA, Mrs. Thelma Sharpless, was in favor of the 1960 movie and the Jim Crow law, let the white man haul the food to the Negro.

The superintendent asked that parents encourage the children to eat. Oberlin School is the only school that has this law so far. It seems that we are going backward as far as integration is concerned, and some of the Negro parents are in favor of it. Chorus, Gospel Chorus, and Junior choirs rendered the music. Special features on the program were, a solo by Mrs. Docia Evans; and the Bigelow Trio, Ronnie, Patricia, and Stephen, accompanied at the piano by their dad, Rev. W. T. Bigelow. They sang beautifully, "How Great Thou Art".

APEX—The Apex Consolidated Choral Society, under the direction of Mrs. L. T. McKellan, has made rapid progress in school year. The 48-voice group, since its organization last September, has been featured attraction on many programs, both community and school wide.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AND OPEN HOUSE
The Thompson School PTA will meet at 8 p. m., Thursday, April 9, in the school auditorium. A musical program will be presented under the direction of Mesdames Mary Pulley and L. G. Flegg, after which a solo will be rendered by Mrs. Letellie Vaughan.

Among the programs sponsored by the group was a special Christmas Pageant which was presented to the PTA at its December meeting. The birth of Jesus was most beautifully depicted through song and pantomime. As a conclusion to this magnificent performance, the audience joined in a "song-fest", with Jacqueline Williams took the lead in some of our most beloved Christmas carols.

A musical program will be presented under the direction of Mesdames Mary Pulley and L. G. Flegg, after which a solo will be rendered by Mrs. Letellie Vaughan. Open House and a social hour will be held for all PTA members. The grade mothers will meet in room 3 at 7:30 p. m.

At the end of the presentation on last Wednesday, the students toured the campuses of both St. Augustine and Shaw University where they were privileged to meet with and observe members of the collegiate choral groups of these institutions.

On Tuesday, March 24, Mrs. Charlotte S. Royster's second graders presented a short play entitled, "Adventures of Little Rabbit". The characters were: Little Rabbit, Elaine Bridges; Bluebird, Valerie Winston; Mr. Goat, Michele Boddie; White Cat, Glinda Peppers; Pig, Cecil Tate; Duck, Charles Mitchell; Little Bee, Deborah Davis; Hog, Brenda Chapman; Albert, Owl, John Burden; Dog, Albert McDougald; Rooster, Cassandra Wimbish; Frog, Steven Washington; Caterpillar, Ross Sanders.

Future plans for this cultural group include a musical extravaganza to be given in addition to their annual spring concert. Mrs. E. H. Long and Mrs. E. M. Alston are the accompanist for the Apex Choral Society.

The players were dressed in costumes according to the characters in which they represented. Songs were sung with various animal children acting out the parts. Visitors present were: Mrs. L. M. Wright, Mrs. Mabel Evans, Mrs. Mary Evans, Mrs. Eva Mae Coddie, Mrs. K. N. Cumbo, Mrs. Annie Thomas, Mrs. Marjorie Sanders and Marilyn, Mrs. Shirley H. Washington, Mrs. Willie J. Wimbish, Mrs. J. E. Strickland, Cheryl Royster, Mrs. Marjorie Davis, Mrs. Dorothy Chavis, Mrs. Gertrude Smith and Mrs. Sallie B. Winstone.

SHOT TEARS MAN'S ARM FROM BODY

The shots, according to Detective J. D. Snipes, were fired at close range. The first lead slammed its full impact into McNeil's chest, tearing off an arm, and the second ripped into the left shoulder of his back. The first shot killed McNeil, Snipes stated.

Anderson said, after dinner Monday, he went to the Sugar Shack where he met McNeil, a friend, and the two bought a half-pint of whiskey from Ledger Strange, owner of the place.

After drinking about half of the "booze", the two went outside and started "shooting crap."

When the first half-pint was gone, they bought another half-pint. However, an argument ensued over this one as to whether it was the same brand. He said he called McNeil a liar and the victim ran to his car to get his shotgun, but drove away instead.

Later, Anderson went to McNeil's car and took the shotgun out and hid it behind the Sugar Shack, according to his testimony. He later brought McNeil's gun back to the front porch, and after the victim returned to the scene, Anderson called him up on the porch. When he reached the porch, Anderson said "I didn't know if he was going to reach for something or not. When he turned around, that's when I let him have the first barrel."

CHARGE TRIO IN 2 KILLINGS

ell had been charged with the fatal shooting of Miss Lillie Mae McLaurin, 18, recently, as she was sitting in a car at a Goldsboro street intersection.

The defendant claimed the shooting was accidental.

This was the case of Charles Lester Pruitt, 43, of Route 1, Lillington, who was found dead in his car with a shotgun blast through his throat and jaw.

SBI agents, police and sheriff's officers arrested Al Smith McMillan, 36, of Route 5, Lumberton, as the man who fired the fatal blast.

Also arrested in this case was Miss Julia Ann Hegler, a Fayetteville waitress. Both were charged with murder and are being held without bond.

According to Robeson County Sheriff M. G. McLeod, there may be additional charges filed and more arrests made in this case.

RACIST PHONES CHARLES EVERS

Charles Evers, Memphis's wife, Myrtle, and Ethel Madison, 15, who survived the Birmingham church bombing which killed four innocent Negro girls last year, were special honored guests on the program. Miss Madison, a participant in many recent civil rights demonstrations, was given a $500 scholarship for her college education.

Evers' brother, the caller told him in Jackson: "We're going to let California kill you, too." He explained, however, that he is not concerned about the threat and branded it the work of a crank. "Medgar and I always agreed we could never worry about death threats. We both felt we'd rather die for a cause than for nothing and if it's going to happen to you, it's going to happen to me."

Evers' brother, Medgar, was ambushed and fatally shot as he was entering his home after attending an NAACP rally in Jackson last June 12. Byron de la Beckwith, 43, his accused assassin, is scheduled to stand a second trial beginning April 6. The first trial ended in a deadlock when the all-white jury failed to agree on his verdict.

BOYCOTT IN WARREN WILL CONTINUE

The administration of James Byers, principal of Hawkins High School for Negroes here, has been under fire by the NAACP and others here for at least ten of his twenty years as principal.

The criticism was termed "unfounded" by Principal Byers, who called it a personal attack.

The chairman of Governor Terry Sanford's Good Neighbor Committee, David Coltrane, said he plans to meet with the governor and discuss the Warren problem.

"Continue your fight and struggle for freedom. It is the price you have to pay," urged Willie B. Ladd, of Amon, Ga., southern regional field secretary of the NAACP, who spoke at the Sunday mass meeting.

The group shouted it was willing to do just that, Mr. Turner said.

ST. AUGUSTINE INCIDENT RUINS COLORED YOUTH'S IMAGE

For 72-year-old Mrs. Malcolm (Elizabeth) Peabody, Endicott Peabody was arrested on a trespassing charge for insisting upon service, or, as her distinguished son remarked, "for attempting to obtain service for all Americans." America was ridiculed anew before the world to which she lives to preach freedom.

Mrs. Peabody posted bond last weekend and returned home to a hero's welcome.

The black nations were also given the opportunity to hold Uncle Sam in suspicion, because St. Augustine had arrested the wife of the first Negro to be made an Episcopal Bishop in America, the Rt. Rev. John Burgess of Boston. Insult was added to injury also when a U. S. District judge refused to permit the Federal Government to take over the trials of some 350 civil rights demonstrators arrested here, dismissing their contention that they have not in the past and could not now get a fair trial in Florida courts for protesting segregation because of their race and color, and inserting in his ruling what appears to be a statement of ridicule.

Judge Byron Simpson, told attorneys for defendants during a hearing in Jacksonville that he disagreed that they could not get a fair trial in state courts and said the cases should not be judged before all the facts are in. But then in the next breath, the judge pre-judged the case himself, saying: "I hear opinions expressed here that nobody can be acquitted. I suggest that 'if anybody sticks his neck in a noose and then complains that the rope burns, there isn't much to complain about.' The judge added.

Meanwhile, the Rev. Joshua Williams, a lieutenant of integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King, came here from Atlanta and after huddling with local leaders, announced that demonstrations would continue and be accelerated. There is strong belief, however, that while embarrassing the nation, St. Augustine has aided the civil rights bill now before the Congress by demonstrating how far the South will go in denying the Negro his rights.

LOCAL BANKER ENTERS RACE FOR HOUSE SEAT

"My candidacy is based wholly upon representing over a million Negroes in North Carolina, who, at present, have no voice in the laws of North Carolina that affect them and their posterity," Sansom concluded.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Sansom became one of three Negroes in this city to offer for the House in recent N. C. history. The other two were Dr. Grady Dennis Davis, now living in Durham; and Dr. Nelson Herbert Harris, of Shaw University.

The Raleigh Citizens Association unanimously endorsed Mr. Sansom as its candidate and he received a round of applause as he was introduced to the large audience.

James Joseph Sansom, Jr., is a native of Atlanta, Ga., where he attended elementary and high school. He holds the A.B. degree from Morehouse College, in his native city, attended graduate school at Atlanta University, and received the LL. B. degree from the North Carolina College Law School at Durham.

He was admitted to law practice in the courts of North Carolina in 1947. Sansom is married to the former Miss Vivian M. Merrick and they have four children.

At one point during the meeting, John W. Winters, a member of the RCA made it known that "a newspaperman is present." This caused some factions of the organization were disarranged over the nomination of a person not present to either confirm or deny his possible candidacy for the post of Wake County Commissioner. He later turned down the nomination, however.

Some members of Raleigh's Sanitation Department were present at the session and brought before the Association several complaints regarding the low salaries paid to Negro workers doing jobs comparative to white employees.

One man, who drives a garbage truck and the newly-installed "Wagon Train," reported the only persons at whom profanity is directed is the Negro worker.

City Councilman John W. Winters, chairman of the Council's Public Works Committee, said he would confer with Charles Sammons, RCA labor committee member, and the entire committee as to the disposition of this case.

A special staff is working in the area of general integration, and a student group has been "set up to understand some of the problems encountered when trying to get people to register, she said.

"This student group is thoroughly trained and oriented in voter registration as it is a problem in both the North and South with minority groups."

Miss Schreiber said Raleigh was chosen because the Raleigh Citizens Association had a voter registration project already underway and had informed the national YWCA Board that it would be happy to provide work assignments for the students here.

Other student groups are working in Greensboro, St. Louis, Mo., Richmond, Va., Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala.

When asked how this area's Negroes reacted to the student volunteers, Miss Schreiber said: "The students have been excited by many positive reactions. Of course, there have been some discouraging incidents because the people don't trust the students, finding it hard to believe that anyone cares that much whether they register or not."

The colleges and universities represented were: Oberlin, State University of New York, Albany; Beaver College, Glenside, Pa.; Union College, New York; Renwick Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.; and Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

Working closely with the students was John Love, an official of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, with offices in Atlanta, Ga.

This program of study and public speaking on World Peace was offered to the high schools of our State and Nation, under the direction of The University Extension Division of The University of North Carolina.

The purpose of the program was to stimulate interest and furnish information on the problems of World Peace. The aim was to reach not only high school students, but through them the mass of people upon whose collective conviction eventual World Peace must hinge. High schools are in position to lead speaking in their own communities.

RARE HEART AILMENT HITS FOUR CHILDREN

In layman terms, the blood-vessel connecting the aorta with the pulmonary artery failed to close within a few weeks after birth. As a result, blood, destined to pass through the aorta and on to other parts of the body, meanders instead between the heart and the lungs. This causes the heart to work overtime trying to circulate blood through the body. If the opening is very large, it can slow a child's growth.

The existence of this condition was discovered last August by the Lewis' family physician. Subsequent checking of Joyce and Donna and in October, Karen, revealed that all of the children had the same defect.

Recently, the four children were taken to Harper Hospital for a two-hour operation to correct the defect by tying off the connecting valve and cutting it. For the four, it was a full day of heart surgery.

Then the children were to undergo a 10 day period of recuperation, to see if no complications arise. Doctors estimate that complete recovery would be possible within two weeks, and that the quartet of youngsters will be able to return to school, secure in the knowledge

United Church Members, Friends To Write Senators

Editor's Note: Although both of North Carolina's senators, Sam J. Ervin, Jr. and B. Everett Jordan, have gone on record every time as being against anything which would be beneficial to the Negro race, the church listed below plans to write letters of concern to them, as indicated in following story:

Members and friends of The United Church, Hillsboro Street, of the city will devote a part of Sunday, April 12, to writing North Carolina's two senators, urging the passage of the Civil Rights Bill, during their regular morning worship services. This idea came from the Peace and Service Committee.

Following the offering Sunday, the congregation will be seated and each person who is willing to cooperate will proceed to write each senator urging the passage of the bill. It is desirable that persons bring their own stationery, pen, and stamps. For those who do not, however, members of the committee, will distribute paper, envelopes, and pens.

After a few minutes have been allowed for writing the letters, the congregation will rise and sing the closing hymn. On the last verse of the hymn, worshippers will leave the sanctuary and go in informal days, Dr. Crook had a student from Ghana as a guest in his home. Some of the church's members allegedly approached some of the deacons and criticized the minister for having the student in his home.

The deacons informed Dr. Crook of these criticisms and he called for a meeting of the deacon board. The board met Saturday and took no action on the matter whatever, the pastor stated.

At the Sunday discussion, which lasted almost two hours, the congregation voted to continue its stand of barring Negroes from attendance. Dr. Crook resigned and was followed immediately by Price.

BUGGED BUNNY TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AN-

"Bugs Bunny" is not only a cartoon character, he is also a real life rabbit. Lawrence Espey, San Benito (Tex.) graduate student at Florida State University, "bugged" his own bunny in an experiment to chart the rabbit's body temperature during ovulation. Espey put a tiny radio inside the abdomen of a rabbit four weeks ago. The radio apparently isn't causing "bunny" any discomfort because she behaves like any other normal rabbit. However, Espey reports that he picks up "beeps" from the miniature transmitter of an ordinary table model radio at a distance of 30 feet.
