

Miss Edinger Challenges Bennett Body

GREENSBORO—We cannot afford to let any members of our society be designated by numbers," Miss Lois Edinger, president-elect of the National Education Association, told Bennett College students Wednesday.

Miss Edinger, a member of the education faculty at UNC-G here, spoke on "Emphasis Upon Excellence" during a program highlighting Teaching Career Month, now being observed.

"Excellence," she declared, "means using fully whatever aptitude you have. Thus, everyone, in his own way, may achieve excellence. We must have excellence in plumbing as well as in philosophy."

Citing the need for excellence in human relations, Miss Edinger stressed the need for keeping the dignity of the individual uppermost in any considerations of excellence.

"We must not make the mistake of adopting a narrow or constricting view of excellence," she said, "nor must we assume that native capacity is the sole ingredient of excellence. Aptitude without application will not produce the desired result."

JURIST IS SPEAKER — Judge Juanita Kidd Stout, left, Judge, County Court of Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, who last week delivered a main address at the A&T College observance of Women's Weekend, is greeted by Miss Catherine Ramsey, center, Jackson, N. C., president of the Women's Council, and Mrs. E. Bernice Johnson, right, dean of women.

Butler, Secretary, education committee (presenting the check), Dr. James E. Cheek, president, Shaw University and Dr. J. W. White, chairman of the Shaw trustees board. The presentation was made Wednesday, April 15.

Boy Lives 6 Hours In Icebox

BY DORCY DEMILLE
FLINT, Mich. — (ANP) — Roy Bailey, the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey was found alive, and suffering only from shock, apparently, after being locked in a refrigerator approximately six hours.

Police, friends and relatives joined in the search for Roy after the youngster disappeared last Wednesday. Mrs. Pauline Bailey, 27, the mother of the boy, inaugurated the search when she couldn't find him and he did not answer her calls.

A house-to-house search proved futile, and it wasn't until Roy's grandfather, John Renmore, 53, went looking for the boy with an older sister, that the boy was found.

"We found him in the second place that we checked where we knew he sometimes played," Renmore excitedly told police. The refrigerator was located in a small garage near his home.

Roy had apparently been sitting on a ledge in the icebox, about seven feet high.

The happy grandfather said he "didn't hear a sound" but opened the refrigerator door in a routine check.

Doctors at St. Joseph hospital where the child was taken for observation, said they didn't know how he got enough oxygen to survive the ordeal. Police Sgt. Richard Veight observed that there was a slight depression at the bottom of the refrigerator that might have allowed air inside.

The police removed the latch from the refrigerator. The Baileys have three other children.

Home Demonstration & 4-H Dress Revue Ends In City

"Rainbow of Fashions" was the theme of the Home Demonstration and 4-H Dress Revue held Saturday, April 18, on the campus of Saint Augustine's College with 80 garments being modeled.

The purpose of this annual affair is one means of developing desirable sewing skills and techniques among home demonstration and 4-H Club members.

Again this year the Wake Home Demonstration Club Council awarded scholarships to three 4-H members who modeled the best constructed garments during the revue. The scholarships went to Misses Mary Lou McDougal of Headmore 4-H Club; Linda Karen Jones of Springfield 4-H Club; Brenda Lou Hill of Rhamkatie 4-H Club. Church, school and sport outfits were modeled, respectively, by these 4-Hers.

Mrs. Eloise Branch, home economics extension agent of Franklin County, served as judge for this occasion. Mrs. Mary E. Graham is Associate Home Economics Extension Agent in Wake County.

SOME SORRY OCCASIONS should be forgotten and, like old songs, should be discarded.
