

Dr. Render Awards Day Speaker At Fayetteville State

FAYETTEVILLE STUDENTS PLAY CHESS—Fayetteville State students have found a new pastime. The pastime is an old game that dates back to 3000 B. C. Under the tutelage of Harvey Jenkins, Art instructor here at the college, the students are engaging in Chess matches. Officials hope that Chess will be beneficial to the students academically, since it is a game that requires deep concentration, and will be a means of exercising the brain. In addition, the students will obtain social benefits from the game.

All-College Assembly For Honors Held

FAYETTEVILLE — Dr. Sylvia L. Render, Professor of English at North Carolina College at Durham was the Honors Day speaker at Fayetteville State College on May 13 at the all-College assembly for Honors and Awards Day.

Dr. Render received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Tennessee A&M University, the Master of Arts degree from the University of Wisconsin; and the Ph. D. degree from George Peabody College for Teachers. She was the first Negro to receive the Doctor of Philosophy degree from Peabody.

Dr. Render was Professor of English at Florida A&M University prior to accepting her present position at North Carolina College at Durham and she was affiliated with several civic volunteer activities and extra-curricular campus activities.

For the coming summer, Dr. Render will collect literary material on Charles Daddell Chesnut for incorporation in a bio-critical volume of the United States Authors Series, now being distributed internationally by the Twayne Publishing Company. This project will be financed by the American Philosophical Society. Charles Wadell Chesnut was a former president of Fayetteville State College.

YES, WE ALL TALK

Introducing a Speaker
QUESTION: How should the presiding officer introduce a speaker?
—G. E.

ANSWER: In short you might say that a good chairman or toastmaster is a man of four "Be's":
1. Be brief.
2. Be sincere.
3. Be enthusiastic.
4. Be seated.

Just before you introduce the speaker tell him how long he is to talk, if he does not know this before hand.

Next, tell the listeners what the subject is and why the speaker is qualified to talk about it. Don't give his complete biography, but hit the high spots.

Pronounce the speaker's name only once and then as the final word of your introduction.

Lead the applause and remain standing and looking at the speaker until he has taken his place on the platform and is ready to begin.

Then sit down and congratulate yourself on a job well and correctly done.

Omegas Plan 49th Conclave At Denver, Colo.

DENVER, Colorado — Chi Phi, the host chapter for the 49th Grand Conclave of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity is enthusiastically arranging final details for their guests. The Cosmopolitan Hotel, a meeting place of true Western hospitality, will be the Conclave headquarters this August 16-20 in Denver, Colorado.

Members of the chapter have pooled their ingenuity to provide the congenial atmosphere necessary for the delegation to gain the inspiration to meet the challenge of promoting Omega's goals, thus making membership more meaningful. Each delegate and visitor will leave the Mile High City with additional worthwhile knowledge for himself and his chapter.

Through the cooperative efforts of the Quettes and the Pahlhellenic Council, this week will also prove to be a fine vacation excursion for the family. There is to be pleasure and relaxation as well as stimulation for all.

Highlights of the Conclave will include a Talent Hunt, Smoker, Fashion Show, Card Party, Luncheon, Banquet, All Greek Dance and Tours.

Reports from all parts of the country indicate that a large delegation plans to attend this Grand Affair. For advanced housing information, contact Harvey McDaniel, 2870 Glencoe, Denver 80207, Colorado.

BOTTOM: Social Education at Fayetteville State

Through a well-planned program of liberal and professional education, Fayetteville State College develops its students toward a broad understanding of the basic principles and values in the social sciences, natural sciences, and the humanities. The ultimate aim of the institution is to equip each student to the upper limit of his potentialities for the roles of good citizenship and a position of respect and leadership in vocational pursuits. In order to achieve its ultimate aim, the college seeks to discover the potentialities of the student and helps him to become aware of them; it guides the student in the selection of curriculum experiences which will enhance his development in preparation for his abilities and offer basic and thorough instruction for creative thinking and resourcefulness.

Fayetteville State College is constantly building the academic and social climate due to the fact that students learn from the totality of their experience; therefore, college experiences are planned to contribute to the wholesome development of all.

The College is equipped to develop the maximum potential of each student through its seventy excellent interracial faculty members, well-equipped science laboratories, and expanding library services. The College also provides a modern Communications Center. The Communication Center houses the Speech Laboratory, Reading Center and Language Laboratory. The Communication Center is designed for the development and improvement of abilities in each of the areas of the Communication represent the best in the nation.

Another significant feature about the College is the fact that it admits all qualified students, irrespective of national origin, creed, or color.
