

DEAR SALLY

BY SALLY SHAW
DEAR SALLY: Would you consider it in good taste for a young couple to have a house-warming in their new rented, furnished home? We've been invited to such an affair, and I question the propriety of this. I've always been under the impression that a house-warming is for a permanent type of home, and not for a temporary sojourn such as this one no doubt is. What do you think about this?
 F. I. A.

DEAR F. I. A.: I'm inclined to agree with you, but certainly if this young couple is happy enough to want to give a housewarming, even in a temporary dwelling, there is no rule against it.
DEAR SALLY: I'm a girl of high principles, and I thought everyone knew this. I'm 16, and very particular about the boys I date. However, I had five dates with this one boy, a very attractive and personable fellow, and on the last date when he brought me home—since well enough, I permitted him to kiss me goodnight. Now it's all over town that I kissed this boy, and everyone thinks I'm a "fast number". I feel humiliated and embarrassed. What can I do about this? BESMIRCHED.

DEAR BESMIRCHED: Evidently your "attractive and personable" young man turned out to be a loose-lipped cad. Check him off so far as any future dates are concerned. Pay no attention to the malicious gossip, and continue to be very selective about your dates. Let them all find out for themselves that you're still a girl of high principles, and not the "fast number" some gossip mongers would have you.

DEAR SALLY: I'm 17, and the son of a minister. Although I'm a good dancer and dance at private parties I attend, my father vetoes my going to public dances. There's a certain girl I like very much who has invited me to go with her to a big school dance, and I want very much to go with this lovely girl. So what to do? SHACKLED.

DEAR SHACKLED: You might try first to reason with your father and see if he won't change his mind about this particular dance. If he still frowns on the idea, honor his decision and simply tell the girl what the situation is. If she likes you well enough and is the right kind of girl, she'll understand—and if she doesn't understand, then certainly she isn't worth your hurting your father for, is she?

DEAR SALLY: What social activities may properly be attended by a bereaved person? I'd appreciate very much your views on this.
 W. D. G.

DEAR W. D. G.: This is really up to the individual. Shutting oneself away from the world for months is a practice that has been sensibly out-moded for a good number of years. Usually, however, for a period of six months or so one does not attend conspicuously gay parties. Quiet evenings with friends, small informal parties, movies, the theater—certainly such things as these are not to be frowned upon in general today.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a fellow of 20 whose girl friend is always harping at me about my dirty fingernails. I'll admit my nails sometimes do show a lack of attention, but that's usually because I've been doing some manual work at home or working on my car, and haven't had time to attend to them before my date with her. She makes a big thing out of this little detail, and sometimes it makes me almost feel like a bum. Do you think this is all that important? K. T. V.

DEAR K. T. V.: Sorry, but one of the things that CAN make a man look like a bum is dirty, uncare-for fingernails! A young man who has any regard at all for his personal appearance can ALWAYS find the time to clean his fingernails. Evidently your girl wants very much to be proud of you, and those dirty nails of yours have been preventing this.

RALEIGHITE IS "WAC OF THE MONTH"—Private First Class Dorothy L. Robinson, 21, right, has been named WAC of the Month at Fort Lawton, Washington, 1st Lt. Carol P. Waters, left, commanding officer of the local Women's Army Corps, announced last week. Pfc. Robinson is employed as a clerk-typist in the military pay division. She entered the Army last August and completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Alabama. Pfc. Robinson, who attended J. W. Ligon Junior-Senior High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall L. Robinson, of 303 South State Street, in Raleigh.

I have on my desk processed samples of shrimp, dark meat of chicken, white meat of chicken and apple rings. Peaches, strawberries and other fruits and vegetables will soon follow.

All of these products have been prepared by a new process known as "freeze drying." The product is first frozen and then the moisture is removed from the product under vacuum. Just enough heat is added to allow the removal of moisture from the product in vapor form. In other words, the liquid state is bypassed.

Special equipment is necessary, which at the present time is expensive. However, I look for the cost of processing to be reduced and the method of preservation to gain extensive use. The freeze dried products become light, very porous and are easily re-constituted and made ready for table serving.

There seems to be a bright future for apple juice concentrate. This would be similar to orange and grape concentrate and would give the apple industry a boost.

Apple concentrate is already available on the West Coast and has been well accepted by food stores. It is anticipated that the processor will use about 2,500,000 bushels of apples per year for this purpose. A supermarket in Hackensack, N. J., is using a machine to create the odor of fresh, ripe strawberries near the frozen food counter. It is reported that frozen strawberry sales have soared. A gimmick that works.

In one of Italy's pear growing areas growers are hanging bottles in the trees and placing the small pears inside, the idea being that the fruit is protected and will ripen faster and more perfectly. When the fruit has matured, the bottle will be detached with the pear inside, filled with pear juice, sealed and sold as a pear in a bottle. "An-Nah-Pah-Lah-Dey" — pronounced "An Apple A Day." This is the name of a new song recorded by George Gobel on Columbia records.

This bit of promotion for the apple industry should be good news to growers and the consuming public. At least, it will be free of Beatles.

Miss Lucas Accepted As Technologist

GREENSBORO—Miss Lois Lucas, of Greensboro, a member of this year's graduating class at Bennett College, has been notified of her acceptance for a course in medical technology at the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital, Staten Island, New York.

Under the program, sponsored by the Department of Health Education and Welfare, the charge of $850 for room, board and uniforms is waived and, in addition, the students receive a stipend of $50 a month, or $600 for the year.

GIVE WAY TO BABY
DETROIT (ANP)—Robert L. Rubin, 23, who was granted a new trial recently following conviction in federal court for smuggling gold coins into the U. S. from Canada, got a break here May 19, when he appeared in court for retrial. Judge Wade H. McCree Jr., granted a motion to delay the trial indefinitely, because Rubin's attorney is pregnant. He must have planned it that way, since his attorney is also his wife, Vivian.

CARNATION COOKING HINTS

by Mary Blake

HOME SERVICE DIRECTOR AND HER STAFF

Quick, easy, and oh-so-chocolatey-good! That's new Chocolate Peppermint Picnic Drops. They're made with Carnation Evaporated Milk, the milk that has cream in every drop, but is lower in both cost and calories. Team them up with a cool beverage—just add an equal amount of cold water to chilled Carnation for an extra-special treat. Always keep several of the bright red and white cans on your kitchen shelf. You'll find you use them often!

CHOCOLATE PEPPERMINT PICNIC DROPS
 (Makes 3 dozen cookies)

- Cookies:
- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 cup shortening
 - 1 egg
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 2 squares melted unsweetened chocolate
 - 1/2 cup undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK
 - 1/2 cup diced pecans

Sift flour, soda and salt together. Blend sugar, shortening, egg and vanilla until light and fluffy. Add chocolate and mix well. Add dry ingredients alternately with Carnation. Mix until well blended. Stir in pecans. Drop onto ungreased cookie sheet about 2 inches apart. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 8 to 10 minutes. Cool on cake racks. When cool, frost with Peppermint Icing.

- Peppermint Icing:
- 2 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
 - 2 tablespoons soft butter
 - 1/4 cup undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK
 - 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1/4 cup crushed peppermint candy

Combine all ingredients except crushed peppermint in small mixing bowl. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Stir in crushed candy. Spread on cooled cookies.
