

Many Sepia Players On NL, AL All-Star Baseball Teams

Majors' '93 Tan Stars To Earn Over $2 Million In '64

New York's Shea Stadium Scene Of July 7 Contest

CHICAGO (ANP)—The annual all-star game is coming up July 7. The pattern of past seasons is not likely to be changed when representatives of the National and American Leagues clash at Shea Stadium in New York City, within a stone's throw from the World's Fair. This is to say that the NL will have more tan players in its lineup than the AL.

It's almost a cliché that the NL's outfielders will be three tan players—Billy Williams, of the Chicago Cubs, in left; Willie Mays, of the San Francisco Giants, in center, and Roberto Clemente, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, in right. Probably Hank Aaron, of the Milwaukee Braves; Frank Robinson, of the Cincinnati Reds; and Joe Christopher, of the New York Mets, might be chosen by the manager of the NL squad, Walt Aisken.

Other tan players who stand a good chance of winning a berth on the NL team are righthander Juan Marichal, of the San Francisco Giants; catcher John Roseboro, of the Los Angeles Dodgers, and shortstop Maury Wills, of the Dodgers, and Leo Cardenas, of the Reds. Traditionally, tan players are fewer on the AL team. This year it would seem that Charlie Hinton, of the Washington Senators, or Leon Wagner, of the Cleveland Indians, would be left field, and Elston Howard has been selected to catch. Tony Oliva, the rookie outfielder of the Minnesota Twins, has gotten the nod for the rightfield position. Other probable AL righthanders are Earl Wilson, of the Boston Red Sox, and catcher Earl Battey, of the Twins.

There should be no question but that Williams, Mays and Clemente should form the starting outfield for NL. In fact, tan players probably constitute the top 10 outfielders in that league. Aaron has been an all-star fix-ture for several seasons, but his hitting has fallen off this season. Robinson isn't having one of his best years, but he's a .300 hitter.

Christopher is finally living up to his expectations.

Then there are other front-liners: Curt Flood, of the St. Louis Cardinals; Vada Pinson, of the Reds; Tom Davis, of the Dodgers, and Willie Stargel, of the Pirates. Richie Allen, of the Philadelphia Phillies, is having a fine year at third base.

There has been really no standout shortstop in the NL this season, the way Wills performed two years ago when he was on his way to stealing 104 bases for an all-time high. But the Dodger shortstop still is a topnotch player. Cardenas also has been a stealing performer and a consistent hitter this season.

Roseboro, who was the all-star catcher in 1961, is enjoying one of his finest seasons with the Dodgers. However, the NL has a ready supply of fine catchers and no really established star.

Marichal is one of the top pitchers in the game and should vie with Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers and Dick Farrell of the Houston Colts as the starting moundman.

Competition should be keen between Wagner, a star of the AL's win in Chicago two years ago, and Hinton, a really fine all-around player. The balloting between them will be close.

Battey's hitting is lower than at any time since he became a regular in the majors, and he has been bested out by Howard for catching honors.

It would be rank injustice if the other AL players fail to recognize the hitting ability of Oliva, a truly remarkable batsman and a threat to win the AL batting championship.

Floyd Robinson, of the White Sox, is another AL possibility in rightfield.

Wilt Chamberlain May Switch To Football; Works Out With Kansas City Chiefs' Football Team

MONTECELLO, N. Y. (ANP)—Seven-foot, 290-pound Wilt Chamberlain, super star of basketball, last week gave indication that he might switch from that sport to football, at least during the off season, when he worked out with the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League.

In the workout at a children's summer camp at Kutsch's Country Club here, Chamberlain, moving his massive, elongated frame rapidly up and down the gridiron, caught passes as though he was snaring a basketball, and impressed Chief's coach Hank Stram. Stram said: "I was impressed that he (Chamberlain) was interested enough to come out and catch passes for me. He caught everything I threw him. I'm certain from what I saw that he would be the greatest flanker in football."

Stram said Chamberlain "would be murder in a one-on-one situation."

and that the Chiefs would like to field a combination of quarterback Len Dawson and Wilt.

Concerning the possibility of snaring Chamberlain, Stram said

Women Bowlers Win $1,500 At International

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (ANP)—Five Memphis women bowlers won top prizes here in the recent month-long Women's International Bowling Congress tournament.

Mrs. Emma Randolph won the $300 division, two all-events titles, posting a 1,772 total to beat out El Ferguson of Lansing, Mich., who totaled 1,711.

Mrs. Randolph also teamed up with four other Memphians—Mesdames Juanita Rayner, Maxine Falls, Flora Boyd and Eloise Flowers—to win $1,500 for a fourth place finish in Division Two team competition.

The Memphis women bowled under the name of "The Jets."

The team posted a total of 2,522, with Mrs. Rayner getting 490; Mrs. Falls, 500; Mrs. Boyd, 439; Mrs. Flowers, 509, and Mrs. Randolph 564.

that money would be a big factor, but that the Chiefs would not try to raid basketball.

"We'll discuss it with the San Francisco Warriors to see if something can be arranged," Stram said.

The Chiefs might have to pay highly to land Chamberlain, who is currently earning over $60,000 a year with the Warriors.

Trueman Stars In 2-Country Cricket Contests; Makes Good

LONDON, England (ANP)—England's fast bowler Freddie Trueman of Yorkshire last week returned to top form after his disappointment performance earlier this season, to "wreck" the stumps of the visiting Australian Cricket Team as the second England-Australia test match got under way.

Trueman took five wickets for 48 runs to help England dismiss Australia for 178 runs.

At the close of play, England had lost a precious wicket—that of captain Tex Dexter—and had replied with 26 runs. A test match runs for two full innings.

and at the end the team scoring the highest aggregate number of runs wins the match.

Trueman's dazzling bowling against the Aussies marked the 17th time in his impressive test career that he had taken five wickets in an inning. The world's leading test wicket-taker, Trueman has claimed 292 test wickets. (Taking a wicket is the equivalent to bowling out or retiring a batsman).

However, Trueman is not the fastest bowler in the world. That honor belongs to West Indian-born Wesley Hall, who blazes the ball down the "pitch" at the rate of more than 90 miles an hour.

Willie Mays, Hank Aaron Earn Top Pay This Year

The 93 Negro baseball players in the Major Leagues this year will earn in excess of $2 million.

The monthly magazine notes that Willie Mays' $165,000 tops all players and estimates that Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves is second among Negroes with a salary of $150,000 annually, followed by Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Redlegs with $70,000.

Specifically, Ebony estimates the combined salary of the 93 Negro players at $2,114,000. Average salary will be slightly in excess of $22,800, the magazine reports. The breakdown also notes that there are 50 Negro outfielders; 23 infielders; 18 pitchers and five catchers.

Their years of service range from Minnie Mino's 14 years down to a whole crop of rookies serving their first year in the Majors. The average length of service for the Negro players breaks down to 4.3 years, Ebony notes.

The San Francisco Giants, led by Willie Mays, have the most Negro players with eight, Ebony reports. The Pittsburgh Pirates are next with seven.
