Court Allows CR Action At NY Fair

NEW YORK CITY—Civil rights groups, represented by the NAACP Legal Defense Fund and other attorneys, this week won the right to pass out handbills protesting southern discrimination at certain World's Fair pavilions.

Federal District Court Judge avoid R. Tyler also found the Fair's regulation prohibiting picketing to be vague, arbitrary and an unconstitutional burden on the enjoyment of free speech.

He suggested that the anti-picketing regulation be rewritten so as to allow reasonable picketing demonstrations.

Jack Greenberg, the Fund's director-counsel, stated that "we are pleased that the Court upheld our contention that state action as permeates the Fair's operation that it must not obey the free speech requirements of the fourteenth amendment."

This means that the civil rights organizations with whom we brought this suit may peacefully protest the racial discriminatory practices of southern states which have pavilions at the Fair.

Shaw Is Not Moving: Prexy Officers Charged

IN VANCE RIOT

300 Persons Involved In Race Riot

ENDERSON — Police who took part in the melee at the Motor right Restaurant early Sunday morning find themselves not only a bad spot due to the postponement of the cases of 10 persons, charged with refusing to obey police orders and with aiding and abetting to incite a riot, but two of them are faced with assault charges, growing out of what is said to be malicious use of a gun and simple assault.

Sgt. H. E. Tyndall of the local police department was charged with using the barrel of a gun upon the person of George Davis, while Deputy Sheriff F. T. McGhee is facing a simple assault charge against one Otis Lewis. The two officers are white while the complaining witnesses are Negroes.

The complaining witnesses obtained warrants for the two officers Tuesday morning and they were turned over to Sheriff L. B. Faulkner. The two men charge that they were at the trouble spot, but took no part in a general mixup, said to have involved more than 300 persons of both races.

Woman, With $8, Starved

OCALA, Fla. (ANP)—An elderly Ocala woman was near starvation Monday, June 29, with more than $6,123 in assets only a few inches from her bed, where she was found by two grandnieces from Lake City.

The woman, Mrs. Suna Henrietta Howell Cannon, 77, was taken against her will to Munroe Memorial hospital for treatment. Doctors said she will be in the hospital for several weeks regaining her strength.

Her grandnieces, Vonelle Dawkins, 27, and Mary Lee McNeil, 30, Lake City, found their aunt in the bed with only a few crackers for food in the house at 612 W. Havana street. They called a doctor and an ambulance, but Mrs. Cannon refused to be taken to the hospital. The Ocala sheriff's office stepped in and ordered her taken for treatment.

PEEVES GOLDWATER — Veteran Republican, Attorney George A. Parker, is shown standing as he needles Senator Goldwater about his position on the newly-enacted Civil Rights Bill. Attorney Parker is a prominent lawyer in Washington, D. C. and was founder and dean of Terrell Law School. He shares offices with his son, Barrington Parker, in the 1100 bloc of 6th St., N. W.

Nix Goldwater And Dan Moore

BY ALEXANDER BARNES
When James Farmer told interviewees outside San Francisco's Cow Palace that Negroes would choose men and measures, while CORE was picketing the Republican National Convention, and when delegate Jackie Robinson told ABC commentators that no self-respecting Negro could support Goldwater, they were both echoing the sentiment of the Negro political leaders in North Carolina, according to a cross-section interview.

The story of George Lee, veteran Tennessee Republican was written all over in Greensboro when the State Republican Convention was held there in February. A veteran Republican and the only Negro on the ticket for state office, of any party, was dropped by the Goldwater-rigged convention when it was learned that he would not support the candidacy of Senator Goldwater. This seems to have been the pattern. There were few, if any, from any delegation supporting Goldwater.

Would-Be Arsonists Nabbed

ELM CITY—Despite a warning by Ku Klux Klan Grand Dragon, James Robert Jones, to the Rev. James Hutton Costen, last week, that "A brush will not be laid on your church," the controversial painting began at 9:15 Tuesday morning.

Jones backed down after Governor Terry Sanford took a firm stand against the unconstitutional terms. Both him and others of the Klan, that this State needs no help in enforcing the law. Sanford also warned the Dragon that local and State law enforcement officers would be on hand to quell any disturbance. Sixteen adult Negroes and white persons are doing the work.

Two white youths were arrested early Tuesday, allegedly attempting to set fire to the wooden First Presbyterian Church with only eight Negro members. They were identified as Kenneth Wayne Owens, 21, and Ronnie W. Howell, 19, both of Rocky Mount. They were placed in the Wilson County Jail and charged with conspiracy to commit a felony, burn a church. Police officers said the two had driven by the church several times as the cops were hidden at the site.
