Seeks Local, Federal Aid In Halifax

ENFIELD—A North Carolina civil rights official, charging that a July 30 attempt to burn down an Enfield Negro grocery store is "but the latest incident in mounting Ku Klux Klan terrorism in Halifax County," has asked for Federal and State protection for Negroes in this northeastern black-belt county. He reported Monday afternoon, however, in an exclusive CAROLINIAN interview that there were no answers to his pleas.

John R. Satter, Jr., Raleigh, field secretary for the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF), said that shortly before midnight on July 30, a large amount of kerosene was thrown on the side of the grocery store and ignited. The fire was extinguished before extensive damage had been done to the store which belongs to Curtis Pittman of Enfield. Satter said that Negro residents in the area reported that they had seen a carload of white men driving around the general neighborhood shortly before the fire broke out.

He also stated that "several large Texaco fuel storage tanks sit about 25 yards from the store and, had the fire gone on much longer, it

Lab Tests Awaited In Identities

JACKSON, Miss. — Three bodies, believed to be those of the civil rights workers missing since June 21, were discovered Tuesday night at a dam site near Philadelphia, Miss., where the trio was last seen alive.

The chief of the FBI in this Mississippi capital, Roy Moore, declared his agency "is fairly certain" these bodies are those of the missing aides, but added, positive identification cannot be made until laboratory tests are made.

The men, who disappeared six weeks ago, are: James Earl Ray, 21, a Negro, of nearby Meridian, Miss.; Andrew Goodman, 20, and Henry Schwerner, 24, both white New Yorkers. Their burned out station wagon was found on a lonely road the day following their disappearance.

When informed of the discoveries, Mississippi Governor Paul B. Johnson stated, "If these are the bodies of the 3 civil rights workers, missing for several weeks, the investigative forces of the state of Mississippi will exert every effort to apprehend those who may have been responsible for their deaths."

The FBI told Governor Johnson the bodies were found on a farm, southwest of Philadelphia, near the Neshoba Fairgrounds.

All three workers were in Philadelphia, Miss., where the trio was last seen alive.

Pedestrian Warned, But Hit By Car

Wake County Coroner Marshall W. Bennett informed The CAROLINIAN Wednesday of this week that an inquest into the death of an 80-year-old man, killed when struck by an automobile early Sunday, will be held Friday at 3 p.m. in the Commissioners' Room of the Wake County Courthouse.

Oscar Evans, of 624 W. South Street, who had been to Wake Memorial Hospital for treatment of a head wound, and was walking back when struck, was dead on arrival when his body arrived back there.

Mr. Evans was struck by a car driven by George Rufus Hinton, 21, of 816 S. Broadway Street. Hinton told police officers that he pulled out to pass another car and did not see Evans until it was too late to avoid hitting him.

Patrolmen D. C. Brinson and J. A. Perry stated they saw Mr. Evans at New Best Avenue, near King Charles Road about ten minutes before the fatal accident, which occurred at 12:30 a.m.

He was reportedly warned by the cops then that it was dangerous to walk in the street.

Two witnesses told police Mr. Evans was walking near the center of the street when hit.

CORE Head Inks Pact, Then Balks

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Following a top civil rights leadership conference here on July 26th, CORE National Director James Farmer joined with four other leaders in signing a statement "strongly opposing looting, vandalism or any type of criminal activities" but declined to join them in signing a statement urging "a broad curtailment, if not total moratorium of mass demonstrations until after Election Day."

The four other signers were the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., of SCLC, Roy Wilkins of NAACP, Whitney Young of Urban League and A. Philip Randolph of NALC. John Lewis of SNCC declined to sign either
